ю. 32,808

Zaccaro's Compile

Prompts Policy &

= 200}

No. of

المنافعة المناد

TODAYS

INTERNATION

MESSAGE (EVIII)

BUNINESS

723-

- 10 M

CN INTE

FOR MOS

CLASSE

Many of the Constitute to bear with

Section 1

A THE LANGE THE

PARIS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 18, 1988

ESTABLISHED 1887

Bush Sees A Fierce Campaign

Declares Quayle Will Help Ticket Across the Nation

NEW ORLEANS - Vice President George Bush, preparing to re-ceive the Republican Party's nomination for president on Wednesday, declared Senator Dan Quayle well qualified to be vice president and vowed that the party's ticket would wage a fierce battle for votes.

"I've listened to his peers," Mr. Bush said, "who speak eloquently of Dan Quayle's standing to be one heartbeat away from the presiden-

Mr. Bush, joining Mr. Quayle at a news conference the day after naming the conservative 41-yearcold senator from Indiana as his mining mate, said Mr. Quayle would help the GOP ticket in every region of the nation.

Mr. Bush said he and Mr. Quayle would be a formidable challenge to the Democratic team of Michael S.

Dukakis and Lloyd M. Bentsen.
Describing Mr. Quayle as "one of the rising stars in the Republican Party," Mr. Bush said he picked the Indiana senator for several reasons. 'Most importantly, he's qualified," Mr. Bush said.

Mr. busn said.

Moreover, he said, "We agree on the fundamental challenges that face this country: how to keep America strong and secure, how to create opportunities for American families. While a Midwestener, I believe he will help our cause in every part of the country."

"We're going to tell the truth and it's going to seem like they've engaged a couple of pit bulls." Mr. Bush said, referring to the Demo-

Describing his qualifications,

Mr. Quayle said: T have spent 12 years in the Congress. I know perhaps as much about national security as anybody with few exceptions. The Senate Armed Services Committee and my national security background gives me a very imagerant background."

Mr. Quayle, a relative inknown on the national political horizon, faced a barrage of questions as he began the process of introducing himself to American voters. Responding to a question, he executive office at the age of 41. said he considered it to be "a cheap The only thing he can recall los-

See BUSH, Page 6

Kiosk

Soviets Witness U.S. Atom Test

PAHUTE MESA, Nevada (AP) - The United States exploded a nuclear device Wednesday under the desert here, with 45 Soviet nuclear scientists, engineers and diplomats witnessing a U.S. test for the first time under an agreement between the two coun-

The blast, 130 miles (210 kilometers) northwest of Las Vegas, was about 12 times more powerful that the bomb that destroyed Hiroshima. Next month, a group of U.S. scientists are to monitor a nuclear test in the Soviet Union.

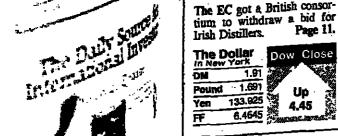

Ambassador Nicholas Platt, who heads the U.S. team in talks on bases in Manila, is departing Friday for Washington. The negotiations now appear stalled until next month. Page 5.

General News

A bureaucratic maze is slowing the movement of U.S. aid to the Nicaraguan rebels. Page 3. Soviet officials denied a report that libraries had been ordered to remove all political books written before 1985. Page 2. Business/Finance

The EC got a British consortium to withdraw a bid for Irish Distillers. Page 11.

George Bush and his vice-presidential running mate, Senator Dan Quayle of Indiana, winning the applause of flag-waving Republicans in New Orleans shortly after Mr. Bush announced his choice.

Quayle: In the Bush Image

By Susan F. Rasky New York Times Service WASHINGTON - In choosing

Senator Dan Quayle as his running mate, Vice President George Bush has selected a man in his own image: pleasant, affable, conservative as well as rich and good-looking.

Still, the campaign seems to be counting on some help from their differences: Mr. Quayle is a generation younger than the vice president and has the conservative credentials that some Republicans have found lacking in Mr. Bush.
A descendant of the family that owns the biggest newspaper chain in Indiana, Mr. Quayle has led the proverbial charmed life. Elected to the Senate in 1980, after only two Lugar. terms in the House, he now is in line to win the second-highest U.S.

was a fratemity election. In the House, some pundits disboy, a blond, blue-eyed child of ture was a vague resemblance to Robert Redford. But in the Senate, he has established himself as a diligent legislator, willing to tackle complex military issues and faithfully pulling his weight for conservative causes dear to the heart of the Reagan administration.

New York Times-CBS News

Poli of 1,004 registered voters taken Aug. 5-7. Margin of error: plus, minus 2 percent.

NBC News-Wall Street Journal

Poli of 1,730 registered voters taken Aug.5-8. Margin of error: plus, minus 2 percent.

Poli of 941 registered voters taken July 31-Aug. 3. Margin of error: plus, minus 3 percent.

Dukakis

Gallup

except the strategists. Official events reflect America's diversity.

Applause from everyone

 Speakers lambaste the Democrats' policies.

On Page 6

peal to the younger generation of voters who identify with a Republican emphasis on personal freedom the baby-boomers and the swing plan for a space-based defense voters," said Mark Helmke, a for against missiles. Senator Quayle mer aide to Senator Richard G. previewed in his floor arguments would help overcome the "gender The only thing he can recall los-ing, he once told an interviewer, ceived deficiency in attracting stous, Mr. Quayle told his col-votes of women. Tom Bell, chief executive of the missed him as a blow-dried pretty Ball Corp. in Muncie, Indiana, said of Senator Quayle: "He has treprivilege whose most notable lea- mendous voter appeal, getting traditional Republican voters, and then cuts in among young voters and among women. He appeals to women because he comes across as a sincere, caring person, not a hard person, because he is attractive."

Mr. Quayle's expertise in defense he Reagan administration.

Aides to Mr. Bush said the selector higher military spending fit well tion of the Indiana senator had two with Mr. Bush's emphasis in a cam-key advantages for the 1988 ticket. First, they said, his age would ap-ry focus for Republican attacks on the Democratic ticket.

As a member of the Senate and economic opportunity. Armed Services Committee and a "He's the perfect candidate for staunch advocate of the president's against the military bill the same Second, aides said, Mr. Quayle complaints that Mr. Reagan made

> The bill's arms control provi-Congress of executive power."

> Its cuts in spending for space defense and restrictions on research for the system, he said, were one more example of Congress trying to "micro-manage" military policy. Although best known in the Senate for his work on military issnes, he comes to the Republican ticket with domestic policy credentials that should make him a more than acceptable choice to the restive right wing of the party.

While many on the right favored Representative Jack F. Kemp, the See CHOICE, Page 7

Who Has the Edge? Seven Polls, Seven Answers Poll of 384 registered voters likely to vote taken Aug 10-11.Margin of error: plus, mirus 5 percent. Poll of 382 registered voters likely to vote taken Aug 14 Margin of error: plus, minus 5 percent.

KRC Research Poli of 508 registered voters taken Aug. 12-13. Margin of error: plus, minus 4 percent.

Poli of 502 registered voters taken Aug. 15. Margin of error: plus, minus 4 percent.

Trying to Decipher the Polls

Vanishing Leads, Tracking and Other Fuzziness

By E.J. Dionne Jr.

New York Times Servee
NEW ORLEANS — Vice President George
Bush is counting on the Republican National Convention, especially his acceptance speech and his choice of a running mate, to give him a lift in the polls and in his campaign's spirits.

But as Fred V. Malek, his convention manager, sees it, no matter how well the convention goes, the campaign has a problem: Given all the contradic-tory polling numbers that have been released in the last 10 days, how is Mr. Bush to know how much he has gained, or whether he gained anything at Jumpy polls are not all that unusual, but the latest series are downright confusing. If you believe some sets of numbers, Michael S. Dukakis, the Democratic presidential nominee, has a solid, even substantial lead, over his Republican rival, Mr. Bush. If you believe some other versions, the race is at a dead heat - and Mr. Bush may even be inching into the lead. Who, if anyone, is right? Does the problem lie in faulty methods or in the public's own uncertainty about the two men who will lead their parties in the fall? Many analysts think it is a little bit of both. On the face of it, none of this should matter, since polls conducted in August are less meaningful that the third-inning score of a baseball game. But the polls can have a vast impact on the way politicians perceive themselves, are seen by the voters and are covered by the press and television.

Well, there is the ABC News Poll of 384 registered voters likely to vote that was conducted on Aug. 10-11, which showed Mr. Bush ahead of Mr. Dukakis by 49 percent to 46 percent. That was an astonishing result, coming after a series of polls taken just a few days earlier that put Mr. Dukakis

But which numbers?

So, for better or worse, the poll numbers count.

ahead by anywhere from 7 to 14 percentage points. The result was so astonishing that many in the polling business discounted the poll immediately. And, lo, three days later, on Aug. 14, ABC polled 382 registered voters and came up with a complete-

See SURVEY, Page 7

Zia and U.S. Envoy Die In Aircraft Explosion

Suddenly, A Vacuum In Key Area

By Richard M. Weintraub

Washington Past Service
KABUL, Afghanistan — The death of President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq of Pakistan throws into turmoil not only the politics of his strategically placed South Asian nation but also abruptly removes one of the most important regional threats of wars.

For more than a decade, the Pakistani general-turned-politician has been the undisputed leader of his country and for much of that time he has been a close ally of the United States as the two countries cooperated in supporting the Afghan guerrillas in their war against Soviet forces in their bomeland.

NEWS ANALYSIS

With no clear successor, or even an accepted system of succession, not only the political future of Pakistan remains uncertain but also the policies that President Zia had so successfully crafted.

In each case, his death could not have come at a more critical time. At home, the country is operating in a constitutional and political vacuum following President Zia's dismissal of parliament and state governments on May 29.

His call for non-party elections had left his political foes stumbling and uncertain what to do. While the president of the Senate remains as a constitutionally designated successor, there is little doubt that the country's powerful military establishment will move to try to fill the leadership vacuum.

Abroad, beyond Pakistan's borders, it is the war in neighboring Afghanistan and the future of the estimated three million Afghans who have taken refuge in Pakistan that are most affected by President Zia's death.

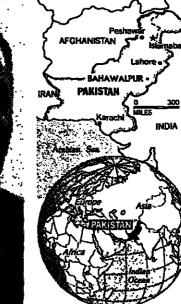

forces at its halfway point, the Af-ghan conflict, which General Zia had followed with almost religious zeal, is entering the critical stages of what the diplomats call the "end game" - the time when a longrunning advent reaches a point of rapid climax.

President Zia's advocacy of a "forward policy" in Afghanistan
had committed his country to support the most militant among the Afghan guerrilla groups as they moved to carry the conflict in Afghanistan to new levels of intensity. "No one is thinking about a pohitical solution," an observer of Af-ghan affairs said earlier this week.

Whether President Zia's successor will have the same commitments remains uncertain, but one thing that is clear is that the hundreds of thousands of refugees clustered in camps along the Pakistan-Afghan border now will find themselves in even more of a quancome to look upon the Pakistani

Pakistani politicians mostly had

Map locates crash site.

Zia's Years at a Glance

Principal events in the 11-year rule of President Mohammed Zia ul-

Haq include the following:

• July 5, 1977 — Following civil strife caused by allegations that Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto rigged votes, General Zia, the army chief of staff, led a bloodless coup and imposed martial law.

• March 18, 1978 — Mr. Bhutto condemned to death on charge of conspiring to murder a political opponent in 1974.

• Sept. 16, 1978 — General Zia sworn in as president. • Feb. 11, 1979 — General Zia proclaimed supremacy of Koranic law, including stoning for adulterers, amputation for thieves and flogging for other offenses. April 4, 1979 — Mr. Bhutto hanged. Dec. 27, 1979 — Soviet Union invaded Afghanistan, followed by major exodus of refugees to Pakistan.

O December 19, 1984 — Nearly 98 percent of those who voted endorsed five-year extension of General Zia's presidency and his Islamization policies; 38 percent of eligible voters abstained. • Dec. 31, 1985 - Martial law lifted and political parties that had been banned are permitted to resume activities. Dec. 14-15, 1986 — Karachi swept by worst rioting in Pakistan's history as tensions exploded between rival Pashtuns and Muhajirs.

At least 150 were reported killed. April 10, 1988 — Explosion destroyed a dump containing ammunition intended for Afghan rebels, killing at least 93 people and injuring more than 1,100 others between the neighboring cities of Islamahad and Pawaleindi society as the proliferation of guns easy task. Even if the military is and the overcrowding caused by able to come up with its own candithe refugees led to ever-increasing date, or a civilian it could find frictions between Pakistan's own acceptable, the consolidation of ethnic groups.

• May 29, 1988 — General Zia dissolved the national assembly and dismissed Mr. Junejo, saying that law and order had broken down following renewed ethnic rioting. He also alleged widespread corruption in the government.

Whether the military as a whole supported the actions in Afghanistan remains unclear, although key was that of a self-effacing man more interested in religious values and his country's stability than in the rough and numble of politics.

Behind this cartarant descriptions was that of a self-effacing man more interested in religious values and his country's stability than in the rough and numble of politics.

Behind this cartarant descriptions are the rough and numble of politics. depth" on their western front.

Key figures in the foreign policy establishment were known to be actively opposed to this policy and how the competing interests will position of army chief. come to bear in the selection on a The People's Party less successor remains a critical quesdary about their futures as they had ton that will determine much of cent weeks of reasserting her claim come to look upon the Pakistani the future of the Afghan conflict to a major political role, despite president as a strong supporter of and of the three million refugees being in the advanced stage of still in Pakistan come to view the Afghan conflict as man rule, however, the selection of molding a national consensus of a liability and a cancer within their a successor will unlikely prove an even part of the political spectrum.

power by a new leader will prove difficult.

President Zia's public posture was that of a self-effacing man and tireless political manipulator who understood the value of a welltimed phone call as well as he understood the power inherent in the The People's Party leader, Bena-zir Bhutto, had shown signs in restill in Pakistan.

After a decade of virtual oneleaders had shown any capacity of

Cause of Accident A Mystery

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan -President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq of Pakistan and the U.S. ambassador, Arnold L. Raphel, were killed Wednesday when their military plane exploded in the eastern part of the country.

The official radio said that a Pakistan Air Force C-130 transport with 37 people aboard had just tak-en off at 4:30 P.M. from Bahawal-pur, 530 kilometers (330 miles) south of Islamabad when it explod-

A government statement read over the radio said there were no

Unofficial reports said the aircraft might have been struck by an anti-aircraft missile. Another re-port said the C-130 had collided vith a helicopter. Neither Pakistani officials nor U.S. diplomats could confirm what had happened.

"Sabotage cannot be ruled out." the acting president, Ghulam Ishaq-Khan said in a television an-

Mr. Ishaq Khan, chairman of the Senate, declared a state of emergency but gave no details of any restrictions. He said that general elections scheduled for Nov. 16. would proceed and the Constitution would remain in force. Police sources said that troops were on alert in Karachi, the biggest city of this Moslem nation of 103 million people, and a heavy police presence was seen in Rawalpindi and Lahore. There were no reports of disturbances.

Western diplomats in Islamabad speculated that the C-130 transport might have been destroyed by a bomb or even an anti-aircraft mis-

"C-130s just don't blow up." one commented. "Zia had so many enemies it could be any one of dozens of possibilities. Besides President Zia, 64, who was also the chief of staff, and Mr. Raphel, the passengers included several Pakistani Army generals, the broadcast said.

In Washington, Pentagon officials said a U.S. general was also killed. The officials, who insisted on anonymity, said the victim was Brigadier General Herbert M. Wassom, General Wassom, 49, was the chief U.S. military representative to Pakistan and traveled routinely with the ambassador. Mr. Khan, as chairman of the Senate, immediately took over as caretaker president, as specified by the Constitution. In Washington, the State Department spokeswoman. Phyllis Oakley, said President Zia and Mr. Raphel went to the remote area in southwestern Pakistan to view a field demonstration of the U.S.made M-1 tank that Pakistan has been thinking of buying. The Pakistan government an-nounced 10 days of mourning.

General Zia took power in a 1977 coup and ruled with an iron hand under martial law until December 1985. He began sharing power with a civilian government

See ZIA, Page 2

West German Banks: An Accounting

By Ferdinand Protzman

International Herald Tribune
FRANKFURT — The Daimler museum was an appropriate setting for the announcement, in 1987, of Edzard Reuter's elevation to the chairmanship of Daimler-Benz AG.

It marked another milestone in the history of a giant company best known for its Mercedes cars: the appointment of a chief executive whose background was in finance rather than in engineering.

As finance chief, Mr. Reuter guided the spate of major acquisitions that transformed Daimler from a legendary automaker into a high-technology conglomerate that is West Germany's largest industrial concern. But the focus of attention in that shrine to automotive history, at Daimler headquarters in the Stuttgart suburb of Unterturkheim, was not on Mr. Reuter or the vehicles from Daimler's past. Seated in the center of the dais was a banker, Alfred Herrhausen, chairman of Daimler's supervisory board and the managing board spokesman of Deutsche Bank AG, West Germany's largest commercial bank.

Mr. Herrhausen spoke first, explaining why Mr. Reuter had been chosen by the supervisory board to guide Daimler-Benz into the high-tech future, and playing down his role in ousting Werner Breitschwerdt, an automotive engineer, from Daimler's top slot. After more than 20 minutes, Mr. Reuter was given the floor.

The presence and prominence of Mr. Herrhausen, who was recently named Europe's manager of the year by an international panel of financial-magazine editors, was a striking example of the power and influence West Germany's bankers wield in the nation's corporate sector via a dense web of memberships on company boards. Conversely, corporate executives sit on the supervisory boards of the banks. "As sole spokesman, he stands at the pinnacle of the hierarchy of Deutsche Bank - and the German economy," the weekly business magazine Wirtschafts Woche wrote in a recent article on Mr. Herrhausen. Doing business in Germany, whether financial or commercial, means doing business with the banks. But as the European Community moves toward establishing a single, frontierless market in 1992, the unique role of West German banks in Europe's largest economy is coming under mounting scrutiny.

As 1992 nears, the role of banks in Europe's largest economy is being scrutinized.

Increasingly questioned are the advantages and disadvantages of "universal banking," a phrase coined by the banks in the 1970s to describe their activities, which include commercial and investment banking and virtually all other financial services.

While Japanese and British banks also have vast power in their respective economies. West German banks enjoy what one economist referred to as "a stranglehold on corporate financing." The banks view this as vital to maintaining the nation's industrial and that this could eventually threaten its dominant economic position in Europe. How the banks fare in defending their domestic stronghold in light of new EC regulations, while trying at the same time to expand their operations abroad, will be an important factor in determining whether West Germany can maintain its economic leadership role after 1992. "West German banks have hegemony over the nation's financial markets, corporate financing and savings," said J. Paul Horne, an economist with the investment banking firm Smith Barney International in Paris. They have substantial power over the economy, they are very competitive and they like the Power is concentrated at the top of a hierarchical pyramid of commercial banks. Managing board members of West German banks particularly from the Big Three: Deutsche Bank, Dresdner Bank AG and Commerzbank AG -sit on the supervisory boards of virtually every major West German corporation, fre-quently as chairmen or vice chairmen. Mr. Herrhausen, who declined to be interviewed for this article, counts among his posts that of supervisory board chairman of Continental AG, West Germany's largest tiremaker, and Philipp Holzmann AG, a large construction concern. He also was supervisory board chairman of Deutsche Texaco AG, the subsidiary of Texaco, until it was sold to Rheinisch-Westfälisches Elektrizitätswerk AG, the largest West German utility company, earlier this year. Banking sources said that Mr. Herrhausen played a key role in keeping the oil concern in West German hands.

Critics claim that the banking system is croding West Germany's status as a financial center by hindering growth and investment.

Such multiple board memberships are the See GERMAN, Page 15

New York Times Service

WARSAW - A strike in Poland's coal fields widened Wednesday as several hundred miners occupied a second mine and refused

[About 600 workers occupied the docks at Szczecin on Wednesday after a failed round of talks with management. The Associated Press reported. The news agency quoted Solidarity officials as saying that a prosecutor immediately declared the strike illegal, and that a strike committee was formed.

[Officials at the port in Szczecin, which employs 7,000 people and is

Gdansk confirmed only that strike watching the labor action with The Associated Press added.]

Workers at the Morcinek mine, in southern Poland near the Czechoslovak border, evidently struck in answer to calls for support by strikers at one of the country's largest mines, the July Manil'esto mine near Jastrzebie.

The July Manifesto mine is the one at Morcinek. Workers there have been on occupation strike since Tuesday, demanding more pay and the return of the outlawed Solidarity trade union.

Soviet Officials Deny Book-Censorship Plot

By Bill Keller

New York Times Service MOSCOW - The Soviet Ministry of Culture angrily denied Wednesday a report published in the government newspaper Izvestia that public libraries have been ordered to rid their collections of nolitical books published before Mikhail S. Gorbachev came to power.

Natalia V. Gavrilenko, head of the ministry's department responsible for public libraries, said that librarians have been urged to remove duplicate copies of works written in the era when Leonid I. Brezhnev was leader. She said this was designed to free shelf space for newer or formerly restricted publi-

But a Soviet reader who wants to explore Mr. Brezhnev's 10-volume work, "By Lenin's Course," or writings by others who have fallen out of favor, would still be able to do so, she said.

Mrs. Gavrilenko said that Izvestia had made an "incomprehensible mistake" and that the ministry had demanded the newspaper publish a

Izvestia said Wednesday that it had known of the ministry's version of events and had planned to rum an official response alongside the letter in its Wednesday edition. but had dropped it for lack of

A reporter in Izvestia's letters section also said that, contrary to usual practice, the paper had failed to contact the letter-writer, who identified herself as I. Zavgorodnyaya of the Crimean region.

The Culture Ministry said it had investigated and found that no person of that name was employed in the Crimean library system.

The newspaper said it was considering how to respond, but Mrs. Gavrilenko said she had been assured that that it would publish a per. statement from the ministry on Thursday.

Izvestia has a staff of 75 persons readers.

Under Mr. Gorbachev's policy of tolerating a wider range of expression. Izvestia now publishes letters expressing opinions that un-til recently would have been too sensitive to publish. But the paper prides itself on disguised the checking factual content, and the this stuff."

letter has caused a major embar-

The episode is troubling for Izvestia because, under a government decree issued earlier this year, newspapers were forbidden to pubhish letters without properly identifying the writers. The letter the newspaper published said that librarians had been summoned to special seminars and told to purge their shelves of all political and economic writings published before March 1985. when Mr. Gorbachev came to pow-

The letter said the order included the works of Mr. Brezhnev and another former leader, Konstantin U. Chernenko. It also said that all records of the Communist Party congresses presided over by Mr.

Brezhnev were ordered removed. The writer objected to the order, saying it seemed to contradict Mr. Gorbachev's policy of opening long forbidden materials to public in-

Mrs. Gavrilenko confirmed that special seminars had been held at which librarians were told that surplus copies should be shipped to storerooms at regional libraries.

Mrs. Gavrilenko said a typical Soviet library keeps 40 percent of its material in storerooms because the public shelves are filled with multiple copies of speeches, proclamations and official memoirs.

"We made no recommendation to get rid of these works completely," she added. "The libraries themselves must decide how many copies to keep, but they are sup-posed to have all of these works available for readers."

The news agency Tass published on Wednesday the ministry's denial of the Izvestia letter, without identifying the offending newspa-

At Izvestia, Lyudmila K. Savelyeva, who was in charge of the letters section for the Wednesday in early 1986 but dismissed the gov-edition, said she still believed the ernment again on May 29, saying it shocked and distressed" to hear Culture Ministry had intended to send a message that Brezhnev-era works should be scrapped, in the Soviet tradition of censoring what does not fit the current party line.

"No matter what they say," she said, "these instructions are just a disguised way of getting rid of all efforts were under way at the port, growing concern, coming as it does only months after more than two weeks of strikes that crippled major industries in April and May. Poland is the world's fourth-largest coal producer, and relies heavily on coal exports to earn hard currency needed to service a $37 billion foreign debt.

The government press agency, in about 20 kilometers (12 miles) from a terse dispatch, recalled that the strikes were "of a political character" and had been declared illegal by a public prosecutor.

"A constant radicalization of the demands is being noted," the press agency said, without elaborating.

At Jastrzebie, the government appeared to be employing tactics similar to those it used in April and May to defuse major strikes at large steel and shipbuilding enterprises.

Mine managers were said to be negotiating Wednesday with members of a strike committee representing the workers

However, witnesses said police took up positions around the Jastrzebie mine. Workers sympathizing with the strikers who sought to enter the mines at the morning shift Wednesday were prevented from doing so by several hundred police trucks that barricaded the main

But miners were quoted as saying that others were joining their number by climbing fences out of sight of the police.

The government was apparently seeking to force the workers to surrender by hunger, as it did at a particularly stubborn strike at the Gdansk shipyard in May. Supplies of food to the mine were cut, and family members of the miners who heeded appeals for food were prevented by the police from delivering it. Sources close to strike organizers said that about 400 of the 2,300 miners employed at Morcinek sup-ported the strike. They quoted the leader of a strike committee. Andrzej Andrzejczak, a miner, as saying, "We support all of the demands of the July Manifesto workers." There were no reports of police being deployed at Morcinek. At Jastrzebie on Tuesday, the July Manifesto workers issued 22 demands. Chief among them were drastic pay increases to offset government increases in retail prices, and the legalization of Solidarity, which was outlawed by the Polish leader, General Wojciech Jaruzelski, after he declared martial law in December 1981. Though coal miners are among the best-paid Polish workers, living standards have been steadily depressed by price increases ranging from 40 to 200 percent this year.

(Continued from Page 1)

had failed to maintain law and or-

The career military officer and U.S. ally strongly supported Afghan guerrillas fighting the Soviet-backed Marxist government of Afghanistan and kept up his nation's military strength to guard borders

Recently, the Soviet Union warned Pakistan to stop allowing arms intended for the Afghan guerrillas to pass through Pakistani ter-

President Zia took power from

Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto

in 1977, arrested the Cabinet and nmclaimed martial law. Two years later, he ordered Mr. Bhutto executed on charges of conspiracy to

Under General Zia's authoritarian rule, mass arrests and floogings were frequent. His rule was helped by geopolitics and luck: the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan in 1979 led to more Western aid, and good harvests brought more food

In recent months, however, he increasingly unified political opposition, led by Benazir Bhutto, daughter of the late prime minister.

sition Pakistan People's Party, said from her Karachi home that she was satisfied that constitutional

"Whatever should have been done has been done," she said. "We are sure the changeover will be as smooth as possible. Life and death is in the hand of God. We will not

Elsewhere in Karachi, Pakistan's largest city with a population of powers were being followed.

say anything."

Miss Bhutto, leader of the oppo-in the early 1980s.

murder.

der and to enact Islamic law.

ZIA: President Killed in Explosion

in early 1986 but dismissed the gov- Rajiv Gandhi said he was "deeply

In Poland, Some Building Projects Are Serving as Monuments to Delay

police chief, stares day after day at building is no exception. a tarnished 29-story building in central Warsaw. Dzerzhinsky, who as a son of Poland went into history for helping Lenin's Bolsheviks, thrived on stubborn cases. But few of his cases which refuses to be finished.

Such projects abound in Poland. A drive through any city reveals forced concrete, but they discov-ghosts of unfinished factories and ered the soil has different characsuperhighways. They reflect the onagain-off-again economy, its shortages and breakdowns.

But money spills into politics, and many of these projects reflect the search for prestige by political leaders. Some Poles say they can

In New Delhi, Prime Minister

Pakistan became independent became the nation of Bangladesh

India and Pakistan each station tens of thousands of troops alongside their border, the site of three wars in the past 41 years. A UN observer force has manned the border in the disputed Jammu and

"I send my heartfelt condolences to Begum Zia ul-Hao and to the family and to the government and people of Pakistan," Mr. Ghandi said in a statement. "I hope and trust that the people of Pakistan will face the crisis with fortitude

The Indian federal president,

Ramaswamy Venkataraman, said in a message to the acting Pakistani president: "All of us in India share your sense of grief and sorrow at

Meanwhile, in Srinagar, the capi-

Witnesses said the crowds shouted "Long live Zia!" and forced shopkeepers to close shutters. Several parked vehicles were stoned said the witnesses, contacted by telephone from New Delhi.

this most unfortunate happening.

tal of the state of Jammu and Kashstreets shouting pro-Zia slogans.

Kashmir region since 1949.

the death of President Zia.

after a civil war.

and calm."

faced a challenge by the country's mir, hundreds of people took to the read the political tea leaves of their banks in Yugoslavia, a country WARSAW — A statue of Felix leaders by watching construction struggling under a $21 billion for-Dzerzhinsky, Lenin's first secret starts and stops, and the Warsaw eign debt, owe large sums to Po-

> The history of that building is troubled and long," said Wlodzimierz Deren, now responsible for the structure, gazing at a model of what it may look like one day. "The idea originated in 1961, were likely to have matched the and physical work commenced in intractability of this building, 1965 when the foundations were laid," he said. "The foundations Brzostek, the engineer directing were designed for a frame of rein-work on Warsaw's "subway." teristics than they thought, so they redesigned it for steel. Already in 1967 work had to be interrupted."

years later the aluminum shell of the building became part of the Warsaw skyline.

"Then again Poland went into a slump and by 1980 work had stopped, and such is the condition call early May Day parades with that prevails until today," he Warsaw's subway workers march-from Britain and separate from In-dia in 1947. In 1971, East Pakistan Some said the site was haunted. Everyone knew that Warsaw's principal synagogue once stood there, until the Nazis destroyed it after crushing the 1943 Warsaw ghetto uprising.

Since then, the skyscraper has stood looking like a modern office postwar design differed in that it been part of an elegant foyer now look like heavy iron cobwebs.

In 1980, the city fathers, desperate for a solution, offered it to Solidarity as a headquarters during the trade union's brief legal existence. Though the building was unfinished, the politicians believed Solidarity, with its millions of members, might be able to complete it. The union said no.

But now Mr. Deren says completion may be in sight. The skyscraper was originally designed as a trade center. Later, planners thought about making it a hotel.

The idea now is for a bank. Mr. Deren's company, which serves as a consultant on huge construction projects in oil-producing Arab countries like Libya and Iraq, has devised a complex financing plan to complete the building.

If the building's stuttering growth reflects the perennial shortages suffered by Poland's economy, the financing plan illustrates the kind of contortions businessmen resort to in capital-scarce economies where financing problems are multiplied by the absence of mutially convertible currencies. Mr. Deren said that several land's central bank, which adminis-ters the Polish $38 billion debt. Quite simply, Mr. Deren and his associates talked the Yugoslavs into completing the skyscraper, in lieu of repaying their debt. If Mr. Deren sees the light at the end of the tunnel, someone who may have to wait longer is Jerzy

The idea of building the subway began in 1921, with plans for a single north-south line. World War II and the near total destruction of Warsaw by the Germans interrupt-By 1971 work resumed, and five ed those plans. But they were revived in the late 1940s by the postwar Stalinist leaders, presumably to testify to Warsaw's vibrant rebirth under Communist guidance.

Poles of an older generation reing under bright red banners.

saw a tunnel 40 to 50 meters ked steel girders that would have (43 to 54 yards) below ground. Evidentiy, the planners misjudged the quality of the subsoil, and work ended in disaster.

There were bad geological movements, water came in under pressure with sand and dirt," Mr. Brzostek said. "All the drilling equipment sank, and with the level of technology of the time, we would have had to sink billions into the project to complete it."

By 1953, it was abandoned. In the 1960s, with Poland politically and economically on an even keel, the project was revived, employing this time a design closer to the surface. In 1975, as large loans from the West set the economy abuzz, digging resumed. By the end of the decade, however er, with political and economic tensions rising in the crisis that ultimately spawned the Solidarity movement, work stopped again.

Thus, few Poles were startled when the Polish leader. General Wojciech Jaruzelski, less than one month after he crushed Solidarity with martial law in December 1981. announced that work on the subway would begin again. This would be possible, he said, thanks to Soviet assistance in the form of consultants and delivery of drilling equipment and other machines. Plans are for the first segment of the system, with six stations, to be

-JOHN TAGLIABUE

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. Dies at 74

POUGHKEEPSIE, New York - Franklin Delano Roosevelt Jr., a former congressman and the third son of Frankin and Eleanor Roosevelt, died of cancer Wednesday, crat who came of age while his father was in the White House, began his own political career in 1949 when he defeated the Tammany Hall-backed Democratic candidate for the 20th Congressional District. He served three terms in Congress, retiring in 1955.

striking resemblance to his father and even shared the habit of throwing his head back when he laughed, he said in 1954 that his father did not "train him in politics." He recalled that his father "al-

Leading subsidy book publisher seeks monu-stripts of all types, fiction, non-fiction, poetry, systemic, scholarly and refigious works, etc. New authors welcomed Send for free booklef H-3 custors welcomed Send for free booklet H-3 vontage fress, 516 W. 34th St., New York, N.Y. 10001 U.S.A.

ways did the best he could, and slept soundly at night. He never worried. Neither do I." He lost the Democratic no tion for governor of New York in Wheeler, 89, who over the past half century was deeply involved in the publication and exhibition programs of the Museum of Modern Art, died Sunday in New York.

Mr. Wheeler joined the stall in 1935, six years after the museum opened, and became a key figure in the institution's work. In 1941, he was named bead of the department of exhibitions and publications, a post he kept until 1967, when he

Before joining the museum, Mr. Wheeler had been a publisher for six years in Europe, where he befriended many leading modern artists - among them Picasso, Renoir and Chagall — and commissioned deluxe illustrated books and limit-for books continued at the museum, and it was as head of publications that he made his greatest mark. He supervised the publica-tion of more than 350 books on the visual arts, including Edward Steichen's book of photographs "The Family of Man" and scholarly publications including John Rewald's "History of Impressionism."

Other deaths: Joe (Tiger Joe) Walcott, 85, who trained three world heavyweight boxing champions, including Joe Frazier, on Sunday in Philadelphia. He also trained Jersey Joe Walcott. whose real name was Arnold Fairfax, Virginia on Sunday.

WORLD BRIEFS

California

By RUPEL DE HALL

100 4. 10 the second of the se

Market Prince Control of the Control

The south of the local state of

on the way

red to hund the house and the first and the

Campana and Campan

instance research to the second secon

The insurance of the control of the Established and the same of th on less de lesses de les de les is from 20 of the control of the con

Openie dell'in anche

OPPOSITE STORY

Elizabeth State of the State of gorar elabor and an arrival and

FORTS TAIL TO THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF

processor of the

IN THE CASE OF THE PARTY OF THE

IN PRODUCTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY

"Cultural is a feel to entire to substitute

British and and

IN BUT THE STATE OF THE STATE O

Find between the same of the s

R MAN

the state of the thirty.

Welman Comment

COMMERCIAL STATE OF STATE OF STATE

The extra design of the residual work in the contract of the contract of a par for the common and

Marie Contract Contract Contract

fering decrees and the contract of the Acceptant market in the above sections and the are-minutes a second than

ORGANICA THE STATE OF THE STATE

in icidia

Israel Will Deport 29 Palestinians; Troops Kill West Bank 9-Year-Old

Expensive Over Car I JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel expelled four Palestinians accused of anti-Israel activities Wednesday and ordered 25 others deported. Troops shot and killed a 9-year-old girl in the West Bank city of Jenin, and it other Arabs were wounded in the Israeli-occupied territories.

The four Palestinians, all from the Gaza Strip, were expelled to Lebanon because of their alleged involvement in planning and leading the eight-month-old Palestinian uprising in the occupied tetritories, the Deportation orders also were issued for 10 residents of the Gaza Strip and 15 residents of the West Bank who allegedly were active in what are. known as the popular committees, which attempt to reduce Palestinian dependence on the Israeli administration.

More than 100 bearings were reported in the Gaza Strip as residents defied the third straight day of a military curfew clamped on the estimated 600,000 residents of the territory, Palestinian sources and UN relief officials said.

22 Die and 100 Hurt on Soviet Train

MOSCOW (AP) — A high-speed passenger train carrying more than 700 people from Leningrad to Moscow derailed and caught fire, killing least 22 people and injuring more than 100, the Soviet press reported.

Insurance of the state of the s Soviet officials blamed the Tuesday evening crash of the express, called Aurora, on dispatchers in the town of Bologoye, 300 kilometers (180 miles) northwest of Moscow, near the midpoint of the route. The officials said the dispatchers failed to alert the engineers that a speed limit of 60 kph (40 mph) had been imposed a day earlier on a section of bad track, the news agency Tass said. The train was traveling 150 kph (90 mph) when it slid off the rails and crashed, Tass said.

Botha Wishes Mandela Fast Recovery

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — President Pieter W. Botha said Wednesday that the jailed black leader Nelson Mandela, who, his attorney says, it hospitalized with tuberculosis, is receiving the best possible care in wished him a speedy recovery. Mr. Mandela, who has been in prison since 1962, is serving a life sentence for sabotage and conspiracy to overthrow the white-led govern-

Mr. Botha, in his first public comment on Mr. Mandela's illness, said the 70-year-old African National Congress leader was "in a special category of his own" and was receiving individualized attention exceeding "the normal high standards of medical care provided by the prisons and health authorities."

5 Bombs Rock Beirut Ahead of Vote

BEIRUT (AP) — Five bombs exploded in West Beirut, causing damage but no casualties, as the parliament's scheduled vote for a president approached, and Druze and Christian militiamen battled southeast of the capital, the police said Wednesday. They said one person was killed and four wounded in the overnight exchange of mortars and rockets between the two militias. The violence erupted a few hours after former President Suleiman Franjieh, a Christian leader backed by Syria, announced he would seek the presidency. Parliament is preparing to meet in Beirut Thursday to elect a successor to President Amin Gennyel, whose 6-year term expires

Singapore to Hold Elections Sept. 3

SINGAPORE (UPI) - The government dissolved the 81-seat Paris. ment Wednesday and scheduled elections Sept. 3, as the opposition vowed to challenge the governing party's 29-year-old grip on the legisla-

Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew's People's Action Party, or PAP, which has dominated Singapore politics since 1959, is confident of returning to Chiam See Tong, Singapore's only opposition member of Parliament, said his Singapore Democratic Party would field about 20 candidates. Also proposing opposition candidates are the Workers Party, the Barisan Sosialis or Socialist Party, and the United People's Front.

TRAVEL UPDATE

United May Lose Seattle-Tokyo Link

CHICAGO (NYT) — An official at the Department of Transportation has recommended that the agency revoke United Air Lines Inc.'s right to operate flights between Seattle and Tokyo and that it award the route to

The official, Richard F. Walsh, director of the office of economics, submitted a preliminary opinion on Tuesday saying that the department should reverse a ruling by an administrative law judge in June that United. should retain the route.

Mr. Walsh said that American and Continental Airlines Inc., which are also bidding for the route, would have greater incentives to attract passenger traffic through low fares than would United. He added that American "would offer mcomparably greater benefits in the realm of intergateway competition" than would United.

The number of U.S. tourists in Greece has dropped 2 percent since a terrorist attack on a Greek cruise ship in July left nine persons dead and injured scores of others, a government minister said Tuesday. There has been no decrease in European tourists, he said. U.S. airlines are jeopardizing safety by putting more high-technology planes into service without properly training pilots to use them, the president of the Air Line Pilots Association, Henry A. Duffy, said. He told a forum on safety Tuesday in Washington that an overloaded air control system and a shortage of experienced pilots made the need for better pilot training even more crucial. A senior Spanish tourist official offered Wednesday to mediate between the government and Barcelona air controllers to head off strikes planned for the end of the month that would cause chaos for vacationers. Luis Alegre, minister of tourism in Catalonia, said he had called on the government to make all-out efforts at negotiations.

Rangoon Rally Honors Victims of Shootings

By Seth Mydans
New York Times Service BANGKOK - As many as peaceful rally in the Burmese capi- ple." tal of Rangoon on Wednesday, in the largest demonstration since rioting last week, when soldiers shot and killed hundreds of protesters. Another nonviolent demonstration was reportedly held in Mandalay, Burma's second-largest city. Diplomats who witnessed the Rangoon rally said it was held to commemorate those shot and killed, including doctors and nurses, at Rangoon General Hospital on Aug. 10, allegedly by security

The diplomats said that the rally and proceeded without incident. Meanwhile, they said, officials at the hospital said that more than 1,000 people were killed in five days of demonstrations last week during which security forces fired into crowds. But the diplomats said that stu-demonstrations, had estimated the number of dead at 3,000,

Wednesday's demonstrations were held in advance of a top-level ment and ruling party. The meeting was expected to name a new leader for the release of about 2,000 proto replace U Sein Lwin, who re- testers. signed on Friday as state president and party chairman.

chairman and a new president," a Western diplomat said. "The question is, will they go beyond that and 5,000 people reportedly held a make some concessions to the peo-

In the area of economics, he said, government leaders appeared to agree that reforms were needed. For example, the government announced Wednesday that Burmese would be allowed to hold foreign currency bank accounts. It also said that new hotels would be built in joint ventures with Austraha, Japan and South Korea.

But the diplomats said that only political concessions — such as a referendum on one-party rule would satisfy the majority of Burmese. Such a proposal was rejected In an indication that the middle rotesters, diplomats said.

The note called for the establishdent activists, who spearheaded the ment of a multiparty system for which "students and the people

tions, braving death and arrests." The Bar Council, a professional meeting on Friday of the govern- government institution, called for an accounting of those killed and

Some people were shot in a hospifor 17 days after replacing U Ne shop. Shooting demonstrators win, who ended a decade of Burfrom behind in some areas was a cheer violation of the control was a diplomats. Mr. Raphel, 45, who was on his second tour of diplomatic duty to Pakistan, had been ambassador there for little more than a year. He was the U.S. Embassy's political officer from 1975 to 1978. Admired by many of his State Department colleagues, Mr. Raphel was at the center of Reagan administration efforts to secure the

In Bangkok your preferred choice is the release of the 52 American hostages held by Iranian militants from 1979

Dusit Thani

Located right in the heart of Bangkok overlooking Lampini Park and minutes from the financial, business, shopping and ententainment districts. The Dusit Thani meaning 'A Town in Heaven' offers a superb range of facilities and architecture. Representations

United States, Canada, embodying the best of traditional Thai hospitality

Caribbean, Europe and Far East. For reservations. or to receive a free Preferred Hotels Directory, have your travel agent call

(^{UI}) Utell International

WASHINGTON — Despite his special assistant to then-Secretary relative youth, Arnold L. Raphel of State Cyrus R. Vance and to Mr. was one of the State Department's Vance's successor, Edmund S. most experienced Southwest Asian Muskie. He was one of a handful of State Department aides fully apprised of the Carter administration's abor-

U.S. Envoy Who Perished

Was an Admired Diplomat

tive efforts to obtain freedom for Before his appointment by President Ronald Reagan as ambassador to Pakistan in 1987, Mr. Raphel held senior positions in the political-military affairs bureau and the Middle East bureau of the

At the time, he was the senior

State Department. Mr. Raphel was involved in the Southwest Asian affairs for more than 20 years, beginning with his assignment to Islahan, Iran, as a 24-year-old State Department re-Two years later he was assigned to Tehran. A native of Troy, New York, Mr. Rapbel was born on March 16, 1943, and received his bachelor of arts degree from Hamilton College in 1964.

Before joining the Foreign Ser-vice, he received a master's degree from Syracuse University.

nine million, life appeared normal but people were shaken and in earnest conversation about the death of their president. Mr. Raphel was recently married to a Foreign Service officer. He had stan after the death was ana daughter by a previous marriage. nounced.

Now Printed in New-York For Same Day Service in

To subscribe call us toll-free in the U.S.: 1-800-882 2884. (In New York, call: 212-752 3890.) Or write: International Herald Tribune, 850 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022. Or Telex: 427175. Or Fax: 212-755 8785.

Key American Cities.

his 74th birthday. There were no immediate reports Mr. Roosevelt, a Liberal-Demoof unusual military activity in Paki-Although Mr. Roosevelt bore a Monroe Wheeler, 89, 1954 to Averell Harriman.

A close friend and earnest campaigner for John Kennedy, Mr. Roosevelt served as his undersecretary of commerce and was the first chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission under President Johnson. James and Elliott, the other Roosevelt sons, are still living, ed edition prints from them.

N.Y. Museum Official NEW YORK (NYT) -- Monroe

His knowledge of and passion

Cream, and Earnie Terrell. Roy Buchanan, 47, regarded as one of the world's finest rock gui-tarists, hanged himself with his shirt in a cell shortly after being jailed for public drunkenness in mese democracy with a military sheer violation of the United Nacompin 1962 and ruled for 26 years. tions Declaration of Human

by the legislature last month class has joined the political pro-tests, the Rangoon Bar Council delivered on Tuesday a protest to the government over the killings of have striven through demonstra-

The lawyers' declaration said: U Sein Lwin led the government tal, inside their houses, and at a tea ed 100 Hurt on Soviet line M 100 and the same of the same

ishr- Mandela Fast Recog

Rock Beirut Aheadoff CARL TO SEE THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF THE The state of the s re to Hold Elections Sent

----And the second s the course selected at a standard

TRAVEL UPDATE

Mar Law Teattle Tokrolid ent a de l'engrapio l'ago र ११ क्या क्या करा हैत Contract to the same A COLUMN THE TAX SE

m- of shooting

E. ERITE

California Wages Expensive Battle Over Car Insurance

By Robert Reinhold New York Times Service

shaping up as the costliest election race in American history except for one is even running for office.

The issue is automobile insurance. Voters will face five referendums on the November ballot. Depending on the outcome, premiums could be rolled back by 7 to 50 percent and claims limited, along with other revisions.

Insurance is an emotional issue a state where driving is nearly as much of a necessity as food and shelter. Faced with crushing premi-ums, Californians have started an insurance revolution with the same fervor that they started the taxpayer rebellion 10 years ago.

The insurance industry fears that this revolt, like that one, will spread -consumer anger is already building in New Jersey, where rates are even higher than in California and about 250 insurance companies from all over the United States have built a $43 million fund to fight it and offer their own "nofault" plan to lower rates,

Opposing them are trial lawyers, consumer groups and others. The battle is expected to cost about $60 million, making it by far the most apensive election race ever held in y state.

Voters may vote for any or all of the proposals, meaning that more than one could pass. Under California law, the one garnering the most votes prevails - but if other propositions that get more than 50 percent of the vote contain provisions not in the leader, then those provisions also go into effect.

measures contradict each other, that the courts may have to sort out the results.

got, was $1,200 a year.

"I don't know how the people in "California is a bellwether state — what happens here can spread," said Donald H. McComber, executive vice president of Fireman's Fund Insurance Co., who is leading drive." the industry effort. "Everybody We have to spend a lot of money to thinks we make too much money. communicate what no-fault is and overcome the fact we sponsor it." The insurers' no-fault proposal would have a motorist's own insurer pay for medical expenses and lost wages, and limit pain-and-sufnages and lawyers' con-

A competing plan backed by tri-al lawyers would preserve the con-

party at fault in an accident and his LOS ANGELES — What is controls on the insurers.

A plan mounted by a consumer group would tightly regulate rates, the one for the presidency is gathering force in California — and no one is even running for office.

and yet another plan would limit pain-and-suffering claims to 25 percent of a victim's economic

> The stakes are huge. With 13.6 million insured cars and $8.6 billion in annual premiums, California represents 15 percent of the national car insurance market.

According to the A.M. Best Co., the insurance raters, average pre-minus in the state rose by 59 percent between 1982 and 1986, making California the costliest state after New Jersey and Alaska.

The average annual premium for hability and physical damage was $568 per car, or $46 more than the average premium in New York state at the time. In the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas, however, families with two or three cars pay a total as high as $3,500 to $4,000. So far this year, rates are up 15 to 20 percent from the 1987 rates.

The result has been mounting public fury, frustration and widespread misrepresentation by consumers to gain lower rates. A state study estimates that more than three million vehicles, about one in five, is driven illegally, with no insurance at all. A consumer group has estimated that the figure is as high as 86 percent in some parts of Los Angeles.

"We have not been able to afford driving legally for two years," says Therese M. Gorman, a family and child therapist in Irvine, south of Los Angeles. She said she and her husband, Sean L. Steward, a medical student, have clean driving re-The results could be so confus- cords but that the lowest rate they ing, particularly if some winning can get for their two cars, a 1972 Volkswagen van and a 1979 Pen-the ghetto are expected to pay," Ms. Gorman said. "What burns me up is the lack of mass transit. There's no alternative. You have to Industry critics say California's rates are so high because, unlike all other major states, the state has practically no insurance regulation. Rates are not approved by the state government, and inspress need not even file their rates with the insurance department.

While California remains a tort state, 26 other states, including New York, Massachusetts and Florida, have adopted some form

U.S.-backed contra rebels carrying out training exercises at a base camp in Honduras near the border with Nicaragua,

Bureaucratic Maze Slows Aid to Contras

Washington Past Service
TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras --istration of U.S. aid to the Nicaraages and deepening resentment in their base camps.

U.S. officials, those who handle the signed earlier in March. food and medical aid program say it is handicapped by often hudicrous accounting restraints, apparently the result of the ambivalence of Congress.

"In 25 years of government experience this is the worst thing I've again. ever seen for implementing a program," said an official of the U.S. Agency for International Development, or AID, which is in charge of administering the aid.

The agency is providing food and medicine for nearly 30,000 people camped on the Honduran side of the border with Nicaragua. They include about 11,000 contra fighters, at least 5,000 of their dependents and some Honduran peasants who live in the area. Of the $48 million humanitarian aid package approved by Congress term shortages of food and vital on March 30, about $17.7 million supplies for the contras. was earmarked for the contras, as the rebels are called. for medical care for children who al lawyers would preserve the con- of no-fault, and insurers argue that are victims of the war, the expenses purchased one month might be ventional tort system, in which the this has helped control premiums. of a commission set up to verify the scarce or unavailable the next.

provisions of a cease-fire accord between the contras and the Sandinist government of Nicaragua, A bureaucratic maze in the admin- and various administrative costs.

The bill represented a comproguan rebels is causing food short- mise worked out by legislators who were sharply divided on the issue of aid to the contras, especially fol-From contra commanders to lowing the cease-fire, which was

A small portion of a $27 million humanitarian aid package approved in 1985 was used by contras for military materiel, and distrustful U.S. lawmakers wanted to make sure that did not happen

Now seven congressional committees have almost daily oversight of the program. There are three levels of accountants: from AJD, the General Accounting Office and Price Waterhouse, a private firm. There are two auditors for every hands-on administrator. "I work with an inspector literally peering over the corner of my desk," said one U.S. official.

An AID official said administrative bottlenecks in the program have occasionally resulted in short-

The accountants are required to close the books at the end of every The remaining funds were to pay month, and one effect of this system is that staples, such as beans, first confused by this method, lost cause the hospital's generator ran $1.6 million in April by not spend-out of fuel during her operation. ing it fast enough. But some of those funds have been recovered.

The program does not provide fuel for generators.

The military communication of the military co contras' camps. As a result, AID must rely on irregular local transport, further contributing to short-Some vital goods are barred by law and others take time to deliver. gees." A contra spokesman, Bosco Matamoros, recounted how one truckload of bananas for the camps was held up as they were counted one by one and searched with metal detectors for bullets. AID also is responsible for delivof thousands of dollars worth of and large those deliveries -- carried tra fighters or hauled by mule train the United States. -have been successful, with some hitches.

One mule train went into Nicaragua in June with two dozen mules, but returned with only six. U.S.

officials said hungry contras ate the other mules. Earlier this summer, a Nicaraguan youth died on the operating

U.S. officials in Honduras, at familiar with the incident said, be-The U.S. aid package covers medical care, but does not provide

> The military commander of the contras, Enrique Bermudez, said that the humanitarian aid program was demeaning to his forces.

"We're combatants," he said. They're trying to treat us like refu-

He said that Washington was trying to prevent him from keeping Mexico combined. Antarctica is his forces in fighting condition by reducing them to rations more appropriate for emergency disaster and refugee relief.

Differences have arisen between ering food supplies and hundreds AID and contra leaders over the type of beans supplied to the Nicaraguan currency to contras camps. A drought last year resulted who are still inside Nicaragua. By in a bean shortage in Honduras this summer, and AID had to bring into Nicaragua by individual con- black beans for the contras from

But though red beans are Nicarathem as an insult. Nicaraguans feed black beaus to their pigs.

(120 miles) east of Tegucigalpa. table at the contras' main hospital they had had nothing to eat for in Aguaçate. Honduras, a source three days but coru tortillas.

Mr. Talmadge was responding to assertions made Tuesday by the Environmental Defense Fund, to protect wildlife in the Antarctic and to respond to the pollution Bruce S. Manheim Jr., a lawyer and scientist with the environmental group, said that the United States is a major offender when it comes to polluting Antarctica and that the National Science Foundation has been slow to carry out sound environmental policies in the region.

America operates four of the 57 bases used by 18 nations for scientific research on the continent, which is roughly the size of the continental United States and administered under the Antarctic Treaty, an international agreement signed in 1959 that established the continent as a demilitarized scien-

At the largest American base, on McMurdo Sound, Mr. Manheim said that untreated sanitation waste is discharged into Antarctic waters, combustible waste is burned in open pits with no emission controls, nonburnable waste is dumped at sea or bulldozed into

In addition, he said, the United States has not moved quickly to At one camp near the Honduran establish plans for protecting the town of Yamales, 195 kilometers indigenous animal life and to develop administrative policies for recontra fighters said Sunday that stricting access to special environmentally sensitive areas.

"The things I've cited are con-

U.S. Promises Cleanup Of Antarctic Pollution

By Warren E. Leary

New York Times Service
WASHINGTON --- A U.S. official has acknowledged that activities at American research bases in Antarctica have polluted their surroundings but says that cleanup efforts are under way.

"We believe, like our critics do, that as the last pristine environ-ment on Earth, Antarctica should be protected," said John B. Tal-madge of the Polar Programs Divi-sion of the National Science Foundation, the agency that administers all American activities on the frozen continent. "But there may be disagreement on how fast we are

In an interview, Mr. Talmadge said: "We've made many efforts in the last few years to clean up the results of earlier scientific expeditions and activities. Environmental standards have changed in the last 30 years, and we are responding. Earlier, we were an expeditionary force worried more about surviving in a harsh environment than anything else. This has changed in the last 10 years."

which said in a report that the U.S. government has not done enough tific preserve.

gua's most basic food, the contras open pits, and power generators balked at the black beans, and saw operate without pollution controls. operate without pollution controls.

tinuing abuses," Mr. Manheim said. "The only things the NSF has done, and only after pressure from Greenpeace and other environmental groups, is to return some scrap metal and some 55-gallon (209-li-ter) drums of waste that have been there for years.

"Although the foundation says it is cleaning up the environment and it has made many promises in the past — there is still open burning, they still do not treat raw sewage, and they are not restricting the discharge of toxic chemicals from scientific research into the water."

Mr. Talmadge noted that last year the foundation approved a new environmental plan for its activities in Antarctica and intends to install a water-treatment plant at the McMurdo site. It may also put in an incinerator for controlled waste burning. There is as yet no timetable for these improvements, he said.

Last year, the foundation shipped 160 tons of scrap metal, 500 barrels of waste oil and 60 big containers of general waste from Antarctica, and will continue this practice in the future, he added

Mr. Manheim said American environmental policies are better than those of some nations in Antarctica, but worse than others. Australia and New Zealand, for example, treat their waste water and ship most waste back to their countries rather than leave it in Antarctica.

When in Paris... visit our Museum and sales floor Open Monday - Friday 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday 10-12 a.m., 2-5 p.m.

Missing someone back in the States?

Family, friends and business associates in the US are so easy to reach with the AT&T Card.

No coins are needed, since all your calls are automatically billed to your VISA® or MasterCard® account. And you'll get an itemized monthly statement.

To apply, all you need is a valid US Passport, and a valid VISA® or Master Card.

· Just call one of the 24-hour toll-free numbers below for your application, and ask for extension 174:

Belgium 11 7658 Denmark 0434 0268 France 1905 90 21 27 Italy 1678 74 090 Netherlands 06022 0062 Sweden 020 795 616 Switzerland 046 05 3060 United Kingdom 0800 89 1132 West Germany 01 30 98 69

From other countries, write to: AT&T International Information Center PO. Box 619475 DEW Airport, Texas 75261-9990 USA

Must be issued by a U.S. benk.
Some countries may charge a not of toll-free service. vait second dial tone

Bush's Perplexing Choice

Just at the moment that Air Force One took off from New Orleans on Tuesday, carrying President and Mrs. Reagan to California, the Republican convention became George Bush's convention, the Republican Party became George Bush's party and its direction became his direction. Almost immediately, he turned to a surprising running mate and in a surprising direction.

Conventions are commonly the time for parties to conciliate their rivalries and turn to the center. By choosing Dan Quayle, an amiable, little-known Indiana ideologue, Mr. Bush has turned to youth, energy—and the right. The choice is as perplexing as it is surprising.

There was much for the Republican right to theer Monday night in Ronald Reagan's last convention speech as president. He recalled all his presidential exploits and then did something adroit. In their convention, the Democrats repeatedly, mockingly referred to Mr. Bush by his first name. The president picked up the device, turning it into a mark of closeness and trust and an introduction to a rousing rhetorical bequest: "George, just one personal request: Go out there and win one for the Gipper."

Within hours, the new team had rushed onto the field. Mr. Bush's choice of Senator Quayle was a stunner, not least because wellplaced Republicans had been saying that Mr. Bush would choose someone who could broaden the appeal of the ticket, narrow the gender gap and demonstrate the stature and experience to take over as president.

Compared with the other names on Mr. Bush's list, including Bob Dole of Kansas, the Senate minority leader, Mr. Quayle is a virtual unknown. He is conservative, young —41 —and wealthy. He is said to be a lively campaigner and forceful speaker. He has not made a major mark in the Senate but his views would appear to be consistent with the rigorously conservative new party platform.

What did George Bush have in mind? Several other possible choices, including Mr. Dole, are also conservative. Also, it was never really in the cards that Mr. Bush would choose an Eastern or Northeastern Republican with progressive credentials, like Governor Tom Kean of New Jersey, Tuesday night's keynote speaker.

But by choosing Mr. Quayle, the vice president makes it plain that he intends to run on the conservative foundation bequeathed to him by Mr. Reagan and to draw a sharp ideological distinction between himself and Governor Dukakis.

Mr. Quayle also offers a youthful contrast to the Democratic vice presidential candi-date, 67-year-old Lloyd Bentsen, and it may turn out that his aggressive patriotism and Indiana background will attract the so-called Reagan Democrats in the Rust Belt. But there are also obvious negatives. Senator Ouayle, like Mr. Bush, is a child of privilege. And while younger voters may like him, it seems improbable that he will appeal to many women, as Republicans contend. More likely, women voters will look to policy.

Speaking at the National Women's Political Cancus in New Orleans, Tanya Melich of New York called the platform's absolute commitment to fetal rights "unacceptable" but said Republican women could go sell any ticket that didn't have Dan Quayle or Jack Kemp on it. Within two hours, Mr. Bush had surprised not only her but a lot of other Republicans with a choice that, on first impression, looks distressingly narrow.

-THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Stubborn Trade Deficit

President Reagan sized up the U.S. economy the other night with a recitation of rosy but incomplete facts. "Facts are stubborn things," he said at the Republican convention. Indeed: Barely 10 hours later, the government reported that the trade deficit had worsened in June. This is one stubborn fact that Mr. Reagan did not even mention. Ignoring it won't make it go away.

The June deficit, after seasonal adjustment, was $12.5 billion, a stunning 28.5 percent increase from May. A single month's numbers are often distorted by large shipments of big-ticket items like aircraft, computers and industrial machinery. But even if June turns out to have been only a blip, it should serve as a warning.

The deficit peaked at $160 billion last year, and had finally begun to shrink convincingly. Booming exports this year have been a major strength, as Mr. Reagan pointed out — but he told only part of the story. In June they declined, while imports set a new record. Looking ahead, the recently rising value of the dollar is yet another warning. To the extent that this slows exports and further boosts imports, the gap will become even tougher to close.

Ignoring the trade deficit is just how it got to be such a big problem. Huge borrowing to finance the large Reagan budget deficits kept interest rates high in the early 1980s, attracting a flood of foreign investment in U.S. securities. Foreigners' purchases of the dollars they needed for these investments sent the dollar's value sky high.

Misguided administration officials, and Mr. Reagan himself, were then fairly bursting with pride over the "strong" dollar, but they ignored what it was doing to the economy. The dollar's high value made imports cheap, and they soared. Exports became more expensive, and stagnated. The trade deficit swelled and the United States, once the world's largest supplier of credit, became its largest debtor. Servicing the debt will diminish U.S. internal growth for years.

Mr. Reagan missed these facts as they unfolded, and stubbornly omits them still. — THE NEW YORK TIMES.

It's All Against the Grain

U.S. grain and soybean reserves will fail the lessons of that unhappy experience. to perilously low levels over the coming year. That is the meaning of the crop estimates just published by the Agriculture Department. Grain production will be down nearly a third from last year. Unfortunately, the United States is not the only country with a poor harvest. Production apparently will be low in China as well.

The world is now moving into the most serious grain shortages since the early 1970s. The trouble back then started with the Soviet crop failure in 1972. It was a U.S. presidential election year, and to please the farmers. President Nixon was pressing the Agriculture Department to step up grain exports. In response, the Soviets, in one of the greatest coups in the long history of the grain markets, bought enormous volumes out of the American reserves before the United States government was fully aware of what was happening. That, aggravated by low U.S.

production, sent grain prices soaring.

The inflation rate accelerated. Some farmers expanded their operations, buying land at wildly inflated prices. Then, with production rising around the world, prices fell again. The costs of those misjudgments, public and private, have been enormous. It is worth reciting some of

One, surely, is for the Agriculture Department not to ignore the inflationary pressures ahead. No administration likes to talk about such a prospect, least of all three months before an election. But people need to be aware of what is coming. The department and Congress should also reconsider those expensive export promotion programs. Is it really smart to keep subsidizing grain exports while the reserves keep falling? At the other extreme, few farmers need to be reminded not to overextend themselves as prices rise. The memories of the last cycle are too recent and too painful. The Agriculture Department presumably has learned, while seeking to expand production, not to press farmers to plant on marginal land.

One enduring lesson for everybody is to keep a careful eye on food production abroad. When the crop estimates came out last week, an Agriculture Department offi-cial conceded that another drought next summer would have a "catastrophic" effect. But it is not only the weather in the United States that counts. In the present circumstances, a bad harvest in any of the leading grain-producing countries would turn a right market into a worldwide emergency. - THE WASHINGTON POST.

The College Aid Shortfall

Tuition at private American colleges this September will be about 9 percent higher on the average than a year ago. The average student at a public college will pay about 5 percent more. The College Board's annual survey shows a familiar pattern with trou-bling implications. The costs of going to college are outrunning the aid available. The reasons for these rapid and continuous price increases are no mystery. Colleges are competing for students in an unusual market. Prospective students and their families are highly responsive to indications of good quality --- the stature of the faculty, the size of the libraries and laboratories, even the living accommodations of the students while they are less responsive to tuition costs. Good colleges have found that, for the sake of providing these things, they can keep raising their prices without any effect on the campaign so far, but it is going to be a numbers of students who seek admission. growing concern to the next administration. So why not just let tuitions keep going up as long as people are willing to keep paying? There are two reasons. As college costs rise faster than the available aid, colleges will become increasingly segregated by economic class. Beyond that, there is a limit to the debts students can carry. Student aid is now mainly loans, and loading debt onto young people, particularly undergraduates, is not a solution that can be pursued indefinitely. Federal outlays for student aid, corrected for inflation, are now about where they were when President Reagan took office. Over the same period the volume of student loans has risen, but the amount of subsidy for each dollar loaned has fallen. If the private col-leges' tuitions keep rising at twice the rate of inflation, this system of student aid will not take the country very far into the 1990s. College aid is not an issue in the presidential

-THE WASHINGTON POST.

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE JOHN HAY WHITNEY, Chairman 1958-1982

KATHARINE GRAHAM, WILLIAM S. PALEY, ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER

LEE W. HUEBNER, Published

JOHN VINOCUR, Exerutive Editor • WALTER WELLS, News Editor • SAMUEL ABT, KATHERINE KNORR and CHARLES MITCHELMORE, Deputy Editors • CARL GEWIRTZ, Associate Editor • ROBERT J, DONAHUE, Editor of the Editorial Pages • JAMES R, CRATE, Business/Financial Editor RENÉ BONDY. Deput: Publisher • ALAIN LECOUR and RICHARD H. MORGAN, Associate Publishers • FRANÇOIS DESMAISONS. Circulation Director • ROLF D. KRANEPUHL, Advertising Soles Director • KOURDT HOWELL, Director, Information Systems

International Herald Tribune, 181 Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92200 Neuilly-sur-Seine, France Tel.: (1) 46.37.93.00. Telex: Advertising, 613595; Circulation, 612832; Editorial, 612718; Production, 630698.

Directeur de la publication: Walter N. Thayer.

Editor for Asia: Michael Richardson. 5 Caruerhary Rd., Singapare 0511, Tel.472-7768. Th: RSS6928
Managing Dir. Asia: Makobin Glena. 50 Gloucester Road, Hang Kong. Tel. 5-8610616. Telex: 61170
Managing Dir. U.K.: Robin MacKichan, 63 Lang Acre. Landon W.C.2. Tel. 836-4802. Telex: 362009
Gen. Mgr. W. Germany: W. Lauterbach, Friedrichstr. 15, 6000 Frankfurt/M. Tel. (009) 726755. Th: 416721
Pres. U.S.: Michael Conroy, 850 Third Ave., New York, N.Y. 1002. Tel. (212) 752-3800. Telex: 427175
S.A. au caputal de 1.200.000 F. RCS Nanterre B 732021126. Commission Particule No. 61337 6 1988, International Herald Tribune. All rights reserved. ISSN: 0294-8052.

OPINION

Genscher, Master Contortionist

By Jim Hoagland

BONN — Despite the hopes of NATO strategists, the wave of popularity that Mikhail Gorbackev has been riding in West Germany has still not crested. How do I know? By reading opinion polls and listening to the constantly warming enthusiasm for Mr. Gorbachev voiced by Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher.

Mr. Genscher is one of those politicians who can keep his ear to the ground, his nose to the wind and his eye on the ball — all at the same time. He is a master contortionist who has fit himself into West Germany's cabinet since 1969 and has been foreign minister since 1974. Whether he drives or craftily tracks public-opinion trends is a German political riddle of the first order.

He is Bonn's wiliest survivor. NATO's biggest 'Gorbaphile.'

Gorbomania has made transparent Mr. Genscher's willingness to mix domestic politics and East-West policies when it helps his favorite cause - which is himself and not detente.

Mr. Genscher is the center of one of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's most private but intense debates, which will grow even more heated as Mr. Gorbachev steps up his current charm offensive toward Bonn. With the U.S. presidential election putting Washington on the diplomatic sidelines for the next six months, Mr. Gorbachev is concentrating on West Germany. He has just given Mr. Genscher a triumphant welcome in Moscow and will host Chancellor Helmut Kohl in October.

Mr. Genscher is a round, perpetually rumpled man who whirls through the world's capitals like a diplomatic dervish. He clearly feels that events have moved in his direction since he dismayed many of his NATO colleagues by praising the new Soviet leader from the outset and urging the West to show him trust. Today, Mr. Genscher still sets the NATO pace, calling Mr. Gorbachev's reforms

"irreversible," a term that implies the Soviets may no longer represent a long-term threat to the West. Mr. Genscher returned from his three-day trip to Moscow earlier this mouth with tangible signs of Soviet appreciation for his diplomatic trailblazing. Mr. Gorbachev released the daredevil German aviator, Mathias Rust, less than three days after meeting with Mr. Genscher. Mr. Gorbachev also told his negotiators in the Vienna talks on a new conventional arms-control mandate to ease the Soviet stance slightly on the major remaining block—the question of weapons that deliver both conventional and nuclear warheads.

For hawks in Washington, London and Paris, this will reaffirm the view that the most pressing question NATO faces is not whether to trust Mr. Gorbachev, but whether to trust the politically ambidextrous Mr. Genscher. These critics have even coined the term "Genscherism" to describe a certain craven enthusiasm for Mikhail Gorbachev and for his arms control proposal.

The debate stirred by Mr. Genscher in alliance councils too rarely breaks into public view. It is conducted in muttered asides and insinuations by his West German rivals and his foreign opponents. When Mr. Genscher's aides feel compelled to respond, they employ sneaky tactics as well. They play up the muddy nuances that Mr. Genscher carefully inserts into his statements on the Soviets and then try to deny or explain away his bolder endorsement of Mr. Gorbachev.

This makes for a dishonest debate on both sides. To elevate Mr. Genscher's slipperiness to the plateau of a political "ism" (putting him in the company of McCarthy, Stalin and de Gaulle) is to exaggerate Mr. Genscher's importance and the specied denote he represent He is not the supposed danger he represents. He is not committed enough to any policy or outlook to be a mole for the Soviets, or for anyone else.

His more fair-minded American critics point out that Mr. Genscher's rhetoric is just that. While the left wing of the opposition Social Democratic Party would demonstrate trust for Mr. Gorbachev by cutting the size of the West German army by 20, percent, Mr. Genscher confines himself to saying nice things about the Soviets and putting his weight behind more East-West trade. Mr. Genscher's critics have fastened upon him as the personification of their concerns about Germans in general. The latest fear of a deal that would result in the reuniting of Germany as Europe's new great power, whatever the nature of its relationship to the Soviet Union, is at the core of much of the commentary in Paris, London and Washington about "Genscher's unreliability."

But many of Mr. Genscher's wounds are selfinflicted. His constant efforts to be all things to all people when controversy crupts around his policies inspires doubts even among those favorably disposed to according Mr. Gorbachev more credit. The justified doubts that Mr. Genscher inspires are not about loyalty, but about integrity. Both are qualities needed in an ally.

The Washington Post.

No. 1? No, the Japanese Should Try Harder to Be No. 2

T OKYO — A new awareness of Japan as a world economic superpower is emerging. To some ex-tent, the nation's enhanced economic influence translates into political power because of the relative erosion. of the leadership of the two other economic poles: the United States and the European Community. But it would be misleading to assume that Japan will become the dominant economic power in the next 10 years. I believe the United States should and will continue to hold this position.

Japan's leadership position flows partly from protectionist trade bills in the United States; these are frustrating many countries, which have begun looking to Japan to play a leading role in the liberalization of world trade, in finance and in absorbing their exports. The thrust toward economic remonalism in the European Community has had a similar impact.

At the Toronto economic summit meeting in June, the so-called "summit of the rising sun," Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita offered an impressive relief plan for some of the most trou-bled debtor nations. Some critics saw this as a crude exercise in "money power"; in any case, it was embarrassing to the do-nothing Reagan administration. Signs of a Soviet warming toward Japan may also be related to the view of Japan's emerging power.

the mid-1980s as the time when Ja-

WASHINGTON — I am about to make a statement that I may some day regret. The productivity increases an economy's efficiency:

new technologies, more investment, practices. Rising productivity provides igher living standards, improved international competitiveness, more national wealth to pay for government.

In the 1970s, a gruesome thing hap-pened in the United States — productivity virtually stopped growing.

People began to sense that they were treading water. The idea that each generation would live better than its predecessors seemed imperiled. Some observers predicted the demise of the middle class. Can we close the

The end of the productivity slump

for the moment, a statistical event

But if the improvements are genuine and sustained, they would have broad ramifications for Americans'

Ponder first the statistics. Produc-

AT some stage in recent history, the word "liberal" acquired a pejorative connotation, meaning, I suppose, radical or pinko, and certainly big spender. But "conserva-tive" retains its old virtues, suggesting faith in God and country.

before an appreciative andience:
"The masquerade is over: The stealth candidacy has to come out from cover. It's time to talk issues, to use the dreaded 'L' word -- to say the politics of our opposition and the congressional leadership of his

Richard Nixon in turn charged that Mr. Dukakis is trying to conceal his "ultraliberalism" until November, after which he can "implement"

To Mr. Bush, Mr. Dukakis's libcralism is defined by the fact he is

"a card-carrying member of the American Civil Liberties Union."

He adds: "We cannot let him appear as what Jesse Jackson made him appear, a nice, middle-of-the-road centrist. He is not the terrible things he stands for.

party are liberal, liberal, liberal."

Thus, when President Reagan rolled into New Orleans, he lost no time in falling on Michael Dukakis of goods and services - everything ment cannot increase most workers'

'Liberal' Is Now a Dirty Word

tivity is usually measured as output book on this story? Maybe.

well-being and spirit.

good management and sound business

Productivity reflects everything that slump in America is over.

By Yoichi Funabashi

become the world's dominant economic power," Ezra Vogel, Harvard professor and author of "Japan as No. I," wrote a few years ago.

Given the surrealistic notion that a creditor Japan must continue financing the current account deficit of a debtor United States for the next several years for world financial markets to survive, Mr. Vogel's prophecy appears to have been fulfilled. But Japan lacks the political will to surpass the United States, and it views a basic shift in economic power as against the best interest of its economic security and welfare. Fundamentally, this lack of will stems from the nuclear devastation of Japan's homeland in World War II, and the psychology of defeat that the Japanese experienced afterward. Both factors continue to influence the Japanese; the determined advocacy of peace will remain a hereditary "political gene," a constant of Japanese political awareness — the spurious specter of neonationalism notwithstanding. As a result, the Japanese are determined not to al-requisite for economic hegemony. Instead, the Japanese aspire to be-come an economic giant embodying a "Future historians may well mark new model of militarily-restrained leadership in the world community. of pitfalls that can polarize the world from lawn mowers to haircuts - per hour worked. It is now growing at about twice the rate of the late 1970s.

Between 1973 and 1979, business productivity rose a mere 0.5 percent a year. Between 1979 and 1987, annual Productivity growth has not regained its earlier postwar levels: between 1947 and 1973 increases averaged nearly 2.5 percent. But consider this: Even with the 1980s modest growth rate (1.3 percent), an average worker's output increases about one-seventh over the period of a decade.

Most of that extra production nor-mally raises family incomes, though some could be absorbed by more exports or higher government spending. Productivity growth of 0.5 percent annually means that workers' output rises only about one-twentieth over a decade. If government spending or exports increase during that time, family incomes will remain stagnant.

"good jobs at good wages," he is really talking about productivity. Govern-

Now I'm a liberal who takes the label to mean a compassionate per-son who acknowledges that in a complicated society, government cannot leave all decisions to the whims of the marketplace. So I find these condemnations offensive. But this distasteful business won't stop;

Republican strategists believe the word "liberal" so taints Mr. Dukakis that it will help bring him down. How did liberalism first get a bad name? Part of the blame is Lyndon Johnson's: He believed America could have guns (the Vietnam War) and butter (the Great Society) at the same time. The resulting inflation soured the public on federal spending programs. Democrats were associated with "throwing money" at problems. And Mr. Dukakis now feels he must reject the liberal label.

spender of them all turns out to be

Ronald Reagan, who more than doubled the national debt. If that is the product of a "conservative" Republican, why fear a "liberal"

- Hobart Rowen

in The Washington Post.

Democrat in the White House?

The irony is that the biggest

When Michael Dukakis promises

increases averaged 1.3 percent.

Productivity: American Heads Are Back Above Water

By Robert J. Samuelson

low their country to become a military superpower, and that is a pre-pan surpassed the United States to Ironically, this aspiration can only be realized if the United States remains dominant, both militarily and eco-nomically. Only a global strategy that maintains the United States as No. 1, with Japan as an auxiliary economic power, will enable Japan to pursue the dream of economic power.

Japan has two alternatives. One is a Pacific strategy, in which neither Japan nor America dominates eco-nomically but both act as co-leaders of an integrated Pacific Basin economy responsible for maintaining peace and economic stability in the region.

The prospect of this happening will depend on future protectionism in the United States and the regionalism of the EC. Both can serve to make the newly industrialized countries of Asia feel isolated and thus sense the need for a regional safety net.

It is safe to assume the Pacific strategy will be on the agenda for the 21st century. But a variation of this would be a new type of Asian co-prosperity zone with Japan at its focus and the newly industrialized countries as a secondary focus, ahead of Southeast Asia and China's coastal area.

Given Japan's deep cultural affinity for neighboring Asia and its emotional rejection of Western power politics, the possibility of such an Asian strategy cannot be ruled out. It is a dangerous course, however, full real wages — their living standards — without improving productivity. The steady increases of the 1950s and 1960s undergirded the glory years of the U.S. economy. More families bought second cars and moved into bigger homes, equipped with more ap-pliances. Fringe benefits expanded. But you should take Mr. Dukakis's pledge (and anyone else's) with a huge grain of salt. Government cannot control productivity growth. The process is too complex to be manipulated. The newest economic slogan is that we must "invest in our future"

by spending more on education and promoting more saving and business investment. It sounds sensible, but hardly guarantees success. Spending on education rose sharply in the 1950s and 1960s. In the 1960s business investment boomed. And in the 1970s productivity growth collapsed.

Here's another example: computers. From 1980 to 1987 Americans spent about $160 billion buying nearly 14 million computers. This was more than 20 times the number of computers bought in all previous years combined, and because the new computers are far more powerful than their predecessors, even that comparison is understated. By all odds, the flood of computers into offices, stores and factories should computer spawned new services — automated bank teller machines, for computers hurt productivity by spur-gains are still to come. No one knows.

much we spend on investment or edu-cation but also how well. In my view, the problem of the 1970s was that we began to spend unwisely. Companies had grown bigger and more diversiwere increasingly offset by corpora-nons' bureaucratic waste. Spending on schools did not pay the expected divi-dends, because educational quality deteriorated. Inflation made matters worse. The 1970s' inflationary boom allowed companies to keep inefficient plants and practices. Speculation was

The recent productivity pickup mainly reflects the reversal of some of favored over productive activity.

So what matters is not only how tivity growth. It didn't.

economy and generate instability. The only productive alternative to the Japan-as-No. 1 argument would seem to be a global strategy in which Japan would use its new "money power" to sustain and support the dominant economy of the United States over the next several years. Within that time, America will be forced to put its house in order by industries more competitive. For centuries, Japan has benefited from the liberalism of the prevailing economic power, which provided Japan with opportunities to enrich its economy and raise its standard of living: Consider Japan's past rela-tionships with the Dutch, the English and the Americans.

reducing its deficits and making its

By embracing the principles of lib-eralism and globalism, Japan can strengthen global stability and the world's economic fabric. To do so, it must assume the role of No. 2, with a fuller commitment to burden-sharingthroughout the system. Japan can and should augment the leading role of the United States and pick up the slack. It is in the best interest of Japan and of the world.

The writer is deputy economics edi-tor for the Asahi Shimbun and the author most recently of "Managing the Dollar: From the Plaza to the Lowre," which has appeared in both Japanese and English. He contributed this to the International Herald Tribune.

missive business climate turned punitive. Companies could not be complacent. They were battered by the deep 1981-82 recession and tough foreign competition. Hostile takeovers threatened managements that invested poor-

Of course, there is no guarantee that productivity gains will continue. They may even be overstated. Edward Denison of the Brookings Institution, a productivity expert, thinks they are. His critique, which involves issues of statistical methods, is not accepted by all specialists. Regardless, his appraisal of the productivity pickup is sensibly cautious: "I'm not willing to say that whatever hit us over the head

Everyone wants higher productivity. But a competitive economy generates better productivity in some harsh ways — by forcing businesses into bankruptcy, pressuring them to close inefficient plants, allowing new technologies to triumph over old and threatening managers with job loss. No one favors the resulting hardships.

Government is urged to mute them through controls on imports or takeovers or plant closings. At the same time, government is urged to raise living standards. There are inconsistencies. If we strive for too much security,

The Washington Post.

we may get stagnation.

in 1973 has gone away."

ly or ran wasteful companies.

tion. And in terms of national reputati tion and credentials, Mr. Quayle is not even in the same ballpark as the two Republicans most pointicans thought Mr. Bush would use to bridge the generation gap—Representative Jack-Kemp of New York and former Godernor Lamar Alexander of Tennessee When you compare Mr. Kemp's leadership on the tax issue and Mr. Alexander's on education reform and economic development to Mr. Quayle's legislative record, the choice is hard to explain or defend.

It is equally difficult for hard-headed Republican politicians to see My Quayle as someone who will help Mi Bush win a close election. Indiana is a smaller prize in electoral terms than Texas, the home state of Mr. Dukakis's running-mate, Senator Lloyd Bentsen. It is one of the safest Republican states in the nation, while Texas is a vital battleground. Ed Rollins, the ing fortune, he is all too easy a target for Democratic populism. When the Texas agriculture commissioner, Jim Hightower, gibes that Mr. Bush is "a guy who was born on third base and thinks he hit a triple," he could be speaking of Mr. Quayle, whose family connections smoothed his early career. It is questionable how much Mr. Quayle shares with the members of his own generation. If the Vietnam War was the defining experience for their

was the defining experience for their political coming-of-age, Mr. Quayle missed it. He did nothing to protest the killing. And at the height of the draft, he came out of college as a single man, joined the Indiana National Guard and spent the war years in law school and holding down a series of political jobs in Indianapolis arranged by friends of his family and political jobs in Indianapolis arranged by friends of his family.

So why did Mr. Bush choose han? The shrewdest answer I heard here came from Tom Rath, a strategisl in

Bob Dole's ill-fated campaign. He said: "I think George Bush is saying he thinks he can win this campaign on his own. He's lived in the shadow of one guy for the last eight years. He sure didn't want to be overshadowed by someone else."

Mr. Quayle meets that standard, but voters may wonder if that is enough. The Washington Post.

have created an explosion of produc-100, 75 AND 50 YEARS AGO How come? One theory is that the

1888: Out of Zanzibar

instance — that didn't replace old ones. Convenience and choice increased, but the improvements were not captured by statistics. Or maybe states that the German Company has officially received charge of the administration of the coast line from the Sultan, hoisting its flag at fourteen ring an avalanche of memos and ports in conjunction with the Sultan's worthless reports. Or maybe large flag, under a Royal salute. The Italian Envoy still declines to renew amicable relations with the Sultan. The British Admiral and fleet and the Tamar, with the Rifle Brigade, will arrive tomorrow. The German fleet is here. Large numbers of slaves are now awaiting shipment on the coast. fied Gains from new technologies

1913: Auto Invasion

Mr. John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland Company, of Toledo, Ohio, made the foregoing statement [Ang. 15] upon his return to Carlsbad from London. "American-made, me-dium-priced automobiles are bound to have a ready sale the world over, he said. "If the manufacturers in Europe had a market for 40,000 to 50,000 automobiles a year they could introduce equally as effective methods and

1938: Soviet Clash

Dan Quayle: 1 Tell Him Go Right Idea, Loud Enou Wrong Guy

By David S. Broder N EW ORLEANS — In trying to a be cautious in his choice of a m running-mate, Vice President George Bush may have made the classic political error of leaning over so far. ! backward that he has fallen flat one. his prat. The selection of Senator Dan Quayle of Indiana represents at a least an opportunity lost; and the decision could backfire on Mr. Busing. and his bid for the White House.

Mr. Quayle is an attractive and conscientious senator, a strong cam-paigner, whose public policy record in very much in line with the conserva-tive platform of his party.

At 41, he is of the successor generaman for Mr. Bush to have chosen." When voters are understandably ready for change, it would have been a mistake for the incumbent party to present two men who are in the sev-" enth decades of their lives, as would have been the case had Mr. Bushin picked Senator Bob Dole of Kansaka

But it is a case of right generation, wrong guy. The news was barely only when Mr. Bush's media managers found themselves on the defensive. arguing against the obvious skepticism about Mr. Quayle's qualifications for the No. 2 job. What the Bush campaign chairman, James Baker, called a bold reach across the generations. looked more like an improvised lungest A day after the announcement, Miles Baker was saying that Mr. Quayle "has more experience in government" than the presidential candidate on the other side," Michael Dukäkis, who has been governor of Massachusetts for Toyears and was an influential state leg-islator for years before that:

islator for years before that:

The Baker whopper simply under!
lines the fact that Mr. Quayle, after 10 years in Congress, is just beginning to make his mark as a legislater.
His reputation among his colleagues rests on the craftsmanship and bipartionschip he displayed in redesigning tisanship he displayed in redesigning a discredited Carter-era jobs program into an effective, public-private jeb. training act, and on the toughness; and technical mastery he brought to his side of the debate on the recent.

U.S.-Soviet arms control treaty. But he is vastly overshadowed in the Senate by his colleague from Indiana, Richard Lugar, who is, like Mr. Dubishis, a member of the Fit Fifties genetic manager of Ronald Reagan's 1984 campaign, was scornful of the choice. "Now that we've nailed down Indiana," he observed, "I suppose we'll ny to lock up New Hampshire next."

As a symbol, Mr. Quayle also presents problems. An heir to a publishing fortune he is all too many a many and the choice."

PARIS -- A dispatch from Zanzibar

CARLSBAD - "The American automobile invasion of Europe cannot be checked. Fifty thousand machines will be shipped to Europe from our factonies during the next fiscal year. We shipped 33,016 in the last fiscal year. and even at that rate the supply was inadequate. We cannot send them rap-idly enough to satisfy the demand." these influences. In the 1980s, a per-compete with us. But there is no possi-bility of their having such a market."

MOSCOW — The Soviet-Japanese incident on the Siberian Corean Manchukuoan Ironner which led to fierce fighting in which several hundred Russians and Japanese were killed ap-peared definitely ended today [Ailg 17]. The Counselor to the Japanese Embassy in Moscow, Nichi, today informed the Soviet Foreign Office that the terms of the truce had been carried out and that the opposing troops had withdrawn a certain distance.

s develors in the second of th MARKET PARTIES

ON HE MENT manif. 2.3. Mary Williams

Well the Well the source lot the house there house the house there house ho the Republican

Rosed. Western MATERIAL TO SERVER. SOUR TELL IN ber to do a garage TOR OF THE A TO THE ALL

Out from the Shader George Back - Command of Section 1995 med police the Rear State and Police March 12 SER. PROJECT CONSIGNATION OF THE STATE OF S

one, on the state of the state

U.S.-Philip

By Keith B. Richburg المراجعة المراجعة MANILA - Negotiations over the day are American the less time appear to have Manager and and Valueday 1 suspensed to the के को ह्या इस्टाः With American Line Principles manual de la constante de la c the de contention one of be made the United States strough Marthe bases for the next times the talks have been the facts de ma tight occurred to the man of the Bridge America . 127 Lat. (1) making process and the bo

He too panete amount the to par on the back from Prime and that Mr. Harden will Stephen Clearing the

dians Capture Oli Apore France Presse

Special 30 suspected Target make separate being supported Target make separate being supported to the separate being supported to the med four in Sri Lanka's land to break rebel resistance start plan, efficials said indiging of the 49,000 strong in The 30, who are suspected of C

OPINION

David S. Broke

ORLEANS by being

Control of the being

Control of And to be to that way way and a fact that way are the fact that wa that record, and the country would

The second secon TO BE The state of the s No. 2 Control of the contro The state of the s

1 - 20 E 1. 12 E. Tana - Strike 1 ar war and a second THE WAR THE STATE OF of its -tildat∰ the said of the sa or of the second

المستعدد المستعدد المستعدد

्राज्य । व व्यवस्थान

.... ~: ## والتلك المناطقة المناطقة المناطقة . a. c. . 22 (2022) The Control 77.32 1711

The second second المحالة على المحالة

Right Idea Tell Him Goodbye, Mr. Dual Wrong Gill By David S. Bind EW ORLEANS—The parties are eazy and brassy. New Orleans food A cheap. New Orleans jazz avects and down to what a delegate who was or a key player in Republican W Houses said was essential and over The vice president has to stop actin a vice president, right away. The vice president, Mr. Bush from that are that are is excellent and free; the streets and hotel lobbies bounce with it.

The delegates are having a fine time and President Reagan made them hug themselves with delight by winging into town and giving the Democrats hell.

But they came for religious as a real as

But they came for politics as well as parties, and there is a sense of frustration because there is no sure answer to one very important political question.

Everybody says that if the Democrats had been in power since 1981 and wound up with the Reagan administration's accomplishments they would be campaigning hard and blissfully on wave them back into office. The delegates have a good case. More jobs, less inflation, and peace breaking out everywhere from the Kremlin to Angola to the Gulf to Namibia. That should be enough to over-ride the Iran-contra scandal and even the fears that the U.S. budget deficit creates. Who has ever lost campaigning on a record of peace and prosperity? Well, the country wants a change, sometimes that is put forward as an excuse for the bad-news polls. But it is hard for them to take solace from that because there is a conviction that if Mr. Reagan were running again he would win in a walk against Michael Dukakis. Mr. Reagan will campaign for repeal of the amendment banning a third term, which Republicans put through in the late 1940s in fear of another Franklin Roosevelt. Wonderful; it will not do this convention much good.

ON MY MIND

So it is back to that one question that all the jazz in New Orleans cannot drown out: What does George Bush have to do to get elected? Lots of answers, but they all boil

Out From the Shadow

. George Bush's dilemma is to reap as much political currency as he can from the Reagan-Bush team's achievements while trying to mold the party to his own concepts and convictions. Fitting the Reagan mantle to himself will not be easy. President Reagan's political success is rooted in his unique character, his consistency, his self-confidence and an unshakable belief in the goodness and rightness of his America — an America framed by his bucolic boyhood along the Rock River in Illinois, an uncompli-eated America of long ago.

Now the vice president stands on his own, out from under the long presidential shadow. And Republicans wait to hear of George Bush's vision of America.

- The Los Angeles Times.

The vice president has to stop acting like a vice president, right away.

As vice president, Mr. Bush feels an obligation to make sure that anything important he says is not only coordinated with the president but reflects what the U.S. government, particularly the Defense and State Department and intelligence agencies, are trying to do telligence agencies, are trying to do.

Mr. Bush has been doing that during the campaign, the delegate said, and it is a mistake, hems him in too much, makes him sound like a bureaucratic echo chamber. Now is the time to select one or two close friends to consult whenever a major issue suddenly arises during the campaign for advice on what is best for George Bush. Never mind the State Department or White House, forget their phone numbers.

Some delegates talk generally about how Mr. Bush has to get out there and lead. Some focus on one issue lead on foreign affairs and security; that is the most important thing and the Democrats' weakness.

Or, bang away on prosperity. Tell them we gave them real jobs and how you, yourself, will build on that and give them more, while all Mr. Dukakis can give them is a kiss and a promise.

Senator Alfonse D'Amato of New York says that if Mr. Bush just took the lead against drugs, made the fight a symbol and promise of a cleaner and healthier society as well as a prosperous one, that would win for him, no question. Mr. Bush knows how the delegates feel; one thing he has plenty of is advice. On his campaign plane last week, he said he would deal with what he called the distancing issue" — showing himself as loyal but separate from Mr. Reagan inning with this convention. So there you have the question and the paradox. This convention adores Mr. Reagan and would love nothing better than to be able to nominate him again. It sees Mr. Reagan as a great asset to Mr. Bush, particularly when it comes to rocking and socking Democrats.

But, almost desperately, many delegates believe the time has come for Mr. Bush somehow to embrace Mr. Reagan while whispering farewell loud enough for the country to hear.

He will try in his acceptance speech. If he succeeds, the Dukakis lead will shrink in the polls and the country will begin to concentrate fully on the campaign.

Mr. Dukakis quickly managed to give the country a feeling that, like him or not, he is his own man. Mr. Bush has failed. Now he has 10 weeks to do what he could not do in all his years in national office. It will be difficult. But then the presidency is a lot more difficult than the job to which the convention wants Mr. Bush to say goodbye, right now.

The New York Times.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Decline and Fall: The Model, in Any Case, Is Not Spain

advanced by Paul Kennedy in "The Rise and Fall of the Great Powers," and the various comments on your page regarding America's decline as a world power, I would like to point out some significant differences between the United States of the 20th century and the Span-ish Empire of the 16th and 17th centuries. Unlike the United States, which has had the advantage of learning from the mistakes of Spain, France and Britain, Spain set out to become the first worldvide empire, an enterprise that was new to the emerging states of Europe. (The Portuguese empire was more a network of commercial stations than an empire in the administrative sense in the 1400s and early 1500s.) The sheer immensity of the territorial expansion, coupled with the self-imposed missions to colonize, civilize and convert, required the formulation of an administrative system that set a precedent for succeeding European empires. Unlike the resourcerich United States, which had well over a century to gear up to its position as a world power, Spain rose to that position in less than a generation after its nominal reunification in 1492. At that time, Spain was a poor, war-weary nation that had just completed almost eight centuries of warfare against the Moors. The duties of empire plunged Spain into another round of wars of hegemony, religion and commerce. Spain faced internal conflict between the former kingdoms that jealously guarded their medieval constitutions against expanding Castilian influence.

In reference to the recent theories can continent. American military history pales in comparison to the Spanish experience during the reigns of Charles V and Philip II, not to mention the conquest of the American continent.

The United States has had a history of racial problems. Spain had a different situation. Of all the nations of Christendom, it had the largest percentage of influential non-Christian minorities; namely Jews and Moslems. In nationalistic zeal, Spain expelled these groups. This act, along with the xenophobic in-quisition, sealed Spain's fate of decline not only economically, but in its ability to be flexible to change in the European political environment.

The United States may have had its Torquemada in McCarthy, and it may have been isolationist at times, but the McCarthy episode can be seen as an exception in the history of a government that has, at least officially, encouraged basic freedoms, including the free flow of information and ideas.

Last but not least, the governing systems of the U.S. and Spain could not have been more different. After the formidable reigns of Ferdinand and Isabella, Charles V and Philip II, Spain was cursed by a series of feeble-minded monarchs who were more adept at art collecting than governing.

A Kerouac Fan on the Road

It was a pleasure to see the attention given to one of America's greatest 20th-Since the 1860s the United States has not had to contend with secessionist threats nor with war in the North Ameriant a word about Kerouac's revolutionary, beat-generation writing style, but focused on the state of his home town, his quality of fatherhood, and other irrelevant facts. As with Fitzgerald, Hemingway and others, it seems Keronac's literary genius will always be overshadowed by the complexities of his private life. For this American on the road, however, Keronac will remain a literary damn well about what he experienced. KEVIN GILROY.

Colombo.

The Camps Were No Secret

Regarding the Washington Past editori-al "The Apology Was Overdue" (Aug. 8): The bill that seeks to compensate Jap-camps. Many important people knew, notably President Roosevelt. He kept them going for six months after the War Department decided in the spring of as I strode out to face the spider — as 1944 that it could no longer justify the well there should have been. Bernice detention program — in order to avert a (that's the spider's technical Latin scandal that might have cost him rename) had erected a huse web right election. In 1946-47, Harvard freshmen were assigned not only Bruno Bettelheim's now-famous socioanalysis of the Nazi camps but also an authoritative study called "The Governing of Men," on America's camps in the wastelands. If the apology was overdue, what possible excuse can there be for delaying for as long as 10 years in some cases, payment of the reparations that Con-DAVID DORRANCE.

On Getting Bernice in the Jar And Bugging the Drug Dealer often this happens when he is lying on the couch reading about Norway in the Travel section — and this voice says: Happy Birthday. Do you think you could do something about the spider?" And a man knows, just as surely as he knows the importance of batting left-handed against a right-handed pitcher, MEANWHILE that he must heed this voice, because it belongs to his wife, who, although she is a liberated and independent and tough Woman of the '80s, is deeply respectful of the natural division of responsibilities that has guided the human race for nearly 4 million years, under which it is always the woman who notices when you are running low on toilet paper, and it is always the man who faces the spider. And so I called softly for my son Robert. "Robert," I called, and within a matter of seconds he did not appear at my side, because he was in the family room watching TV commercials for breakfast cereals that are the same color and texture as candy, but have less nutri-tional content. So I called louder. "Robert." I said. "Fetch me the wooden stick that your pirate flag used to be hero "who honored life," and who wrote attached to, and the peanut butter jar with the holes punched in the lid, for I am going to face the spider."

On bearing those words Robert came instantly, and he looked at me with a respect I have not seen in his eyes for some time now, not since we got the Nintendo. The Nintendo is an electronic video game that is mindless and stupid and hateful, and Robert is much better at ese-American survivors of World War it than I am. He is 7, and he can consis-II internment camps will also provide tently rescue the princess, whereas I, a 41-funds "for an education and research year-old college graduate, cannot even get program to compile and publicize the past the turtles. The worst part is the way complete history of the episode.

So be it — but let us not pretend that we knew nothing then about life in those voice I used to use on him back when I could beat him at everything, I don't know where kids pick up such behavior.

But there was respect in Robert's eyes outside our front door, an ideal location because in July the South Florida atmosphere consists of one part oxygen and 247 parts mosquito, which meant Ber-

Letters intended for publication should be addressed "Letters to the Editor" and contain the writer's signaterritor and contain the water suggesture, name and full address. Letters should be brief and are subject to editing. We cannot be responsible for the return of unsolicited manuscripts.

MIAMI — On my 41st birthday, nice had plenty to eat. Also on hand in the web was her husband Bill, who, despite the fact that he was one-six-tenth her size, nevertheless played an important ecological role in the relationship, namely trying not to look like prey.
"I may be small," Bill would say, all day long, in spider langnage, "but I am certainly not prey! No sir! I am a spi-der! Yes! Just a regular, nonprey ..." "Shut up," Bernice would say.

"Yes!" Bill would point out. They really were a fun couple. Nevertheless, I approached them cautiously, hoping any noise I made would be drowned out by the roar of the lawn growing. July is what we South Florid-ians call the "Rainy Season" because it would depress us too much to come right out and call it the "Giant Armpit Season." When we read the stories about drought-stricken Midwestern farmers who can't grow crops in their fields, we are forced to laugh with bitter irony, because down here we can, without tryng, grow crops in our laundry.

And now I was up to the web. With my son's eyes glued on me, I drew back the pirate-flag stick, and I struck. "Hey" said Bernice, in spider. "Hey!!!"

"Don't hit me!" said Bill. "I'm prey!" But it was Bernice I had my eye on. If I could poke her into the peanut butter jar, all would be well. But if she turned and lunged for me, I would have no choice, as a man defending his family, but to drop everything and sprint off down the road, brushing wildly at myself and whimpering.

Fortunately, she went into the jar, and I got the lid on real quick, and for a while we watched her pace around in there and indicate via sweeping arm gestures what she was going to do to us when she got out.

"I'm gonna sting all of your eyeballs," she was saying. "I'm gonna lay 175 billion eggs in your ears. I'm gonna ...

This was fun, but eventually we decided it was time to get rid of Bernice, following the procedure recommended by leading ecologists for the disposal of revenge-crazed spiders, namely: Release them on a drug dealer's lawn. Like many South Floridians, we have a house in our neighborhood that we are pretty sure is occupied by drug dealers; there are subtle chies such as cars coming and going at all hours, bed sheets over the windows, a big sign stating "Drugs for Sale Here," etc.

We decided this would make a fine new home for Bernice, so we drove casually by, and I real quick opened the jar and ook Bernice onto the lawn. She scuttled off anguly straight toward the house. "I'm gonna fill your nasal passages with web," she was saying. "I'm gonna ...

But she was no longer our problem. We were already driving off, Robert and 1, going shopping for a present for my 41st birthday. We went to the toy store. Knight-Ridder Newspapers.

GENERAL NEWS

U.S.-Philippine Negotiations on Bases Appear to Be Stalled

By Keith B. Richburg

manington Past Service

MANILA — Negotiations over the future of two learnings military bases here appear to have stalled, as the two sides announced Wednesday a suspension in the talks until next month.

With American and Philippine negotiators apparently still far apart on a number of major issues, including the contentious one of how much the United States should pay for the bases for the next three years, the talks have become hostage to a tight political calendar submit their budget requests to the that includes America's annual fall Office of Management and Budget

the American team, is departing however, that a funding request for Friday for a preplanned trip to Washington.

mla in the middle of next month, just a few days before the chief Philippine negotiator, Foreign Minister Raul S. Manglapus, is scheduled to leave for New York to attend the opening of the UN General Assembly.

the bases still could be made anytime before President Ronald Rea-Ambassador Platt returns to Ma- gan submits his final budget proposal to Congress in January.

> Earlier this week, Mr. Manglacoming all that close to an agree-

Because of the apparent impasse,

Both sides have expressed frustration that the talks over the negotiations have not progressed faster. discussed during the sessions.

pus issued a pessimistic assessment of the talks, saying "wide gaps" still that an agreement can be reached existed between the Philippine and American positions. "We're not trast to the upbeat mood that prement," he said. "The U.S. position of State George P. Shultz early last budget-making process and the before October. A U.S. Embassy as well as our position still have to bridge the gap pine and U.S. government officials said that any funding proposals between the two of them."

temporary break because U.S. Ambassador Nicholas Platt, who heads ably "could be at risk." She said, an early conclusion to the talks.

Mr. Manglapus said he ruled out an agreement would be concluded by the end of the month.

speculation has increased that a final_agreement may have to wait until a new American president takes office in January. Spokesmen for both sides, however, said that U.S. presidential politics was never

The increasingly pessimistic tone that an agreement can be reached trast to the upbeat mood that prevailed during the visit of Secretary

Since then, the talks have soured. with the Philippine panel at one largest offshore military facilities. point walking out and announcing a unilateral suspension to protest what they called U.S. intransigence on the compensation issue. They also accused the United States of reneging on what they thought was

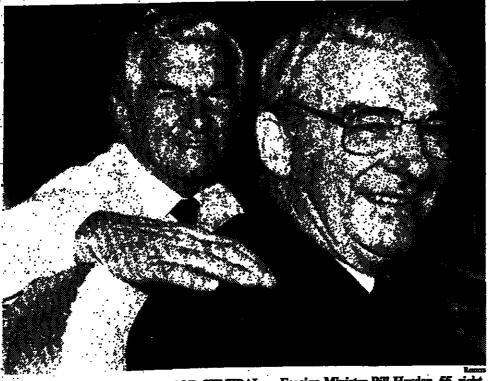

American ships operating in the Gulf. The two bases are America's

The Philippines is also asking the U.S. government to help relieve some of the country's crushing $28billion foreign debt.

The American panel, which has generally remained closemouthed a commitment made by Mr. Shultz about the ongoing talks, reportedly to pay a much higher price for the bases.

about the ongoing talks, reportedly offered to pay only $540 million each year for the bases.

The inconclusive negotiations ly asking the Americans to pay up- also seem to have prompted some ward of a billion dollars a year for officials in both governments to use of the two facilities, Clark Air begin for the first time to seriously Base, which is home of the U.S. explore alternatives to the U.S. 13th Air Wing, and Subic Bay Naexpressed outward confidence that val Station, the rest and repair sta-military withdrawal.

NEW AUSTRALIAN GOVERNOR-GENERAL — Foreign Minister Bill Hayden, 55, right, NEW AUSTRALIAN GOVERNOR-GENERAL — Foreign vinitister on mayuca, 33, ngm, gets a pat on the back from Prime Minister Bob Hawke after the announcement in Canberra on Wednesday that Mr. Hayden will become the next governor-general in February, replacing Sir Wednesday that Mr. Hayden will be be reconstructed to foreign with the last reconstruction of the content of the second of the content of the Ninian Stephen. Clearing the way for his appointment, he has resigned as foreign minister.

Indians Capture 300 in Sri Lanka Sweep

fants and killed four in Sri Lanka's northern jungles during a offensive itary spokesman said. intended to break rebel resistance to a peace plan, officials said Wednesday.

Troops of the 49,000-strong Indian peace-keeping force rounded up the 300, who are suspected of

Agence France-Presse being members of the dominant aimed at mopping up remaining rebel resistance to the July 1987 captured 300 suspected Tamil militarity and killed four in Sri Lanka's the Wanni forest, a Sri Lankan militarity and killed four in Sri Lanka's the Wanni forest, a Sri Lankan militarity and killed four in Sri Lanka's the Wanni forest, a Sri Lankan militarity and staged in the Northern

He said one Indian soldier died in a firefight with guerrillas. The Tigers lost four in the clash, he added

Officials said the operation was ber to disarm the group.

and Eastern provinces. The guerrillas initially accepted the peace plan aimed at ending the Tamil separatist campaign, but later rejected it, prompting the Indians to launch an offensive in Octo-

2 Koreas' Delegates to Meet Friday To Discuss Joint Parliament Session

SEOUL — Delegations from South Korea and North Korea are to meet Friday in the border truce village of Pannunjom to discuss a proposed meeting of parliaments, officials here and in Pyongyang said Wednesday.

should be co-hosting of the Olympic Games, along with discussion on a bilateral nonaggression pact. North Korea has threatened to ignore overtures from Pyongyang, with the games considered a possible target for terrorist attacks. At the height of the student violence on Monday. President Rob prosaid Wednesday.

in three years is seen as an attempt imum propaganda use of the forthcoming Seoul Olympics.

radical students and South Korean dissidents, while the second has march to Panmanion for talks with On Wednesday, Pyongyang accepted a Seoul proposal of a week ago for an exploratory meeting of five delegates from each side,

North Korea broke off direct talks in 1985 to protest joint U.S.-South Korean military exercises. Both sides say the Panmunjom meeting is intended to pave the way for a full session of the two parliaments before the end of the month, either in Seoul or in Pyongyang. "I don't know anyone who believes that the North or the South are in any way sincere about these talks," commented one observer

An overture on July 7 from the South Korean president, Roh Tae Woo, opened the way for the possible thaw in relations. He called for an end to "confrontational attitudes" and for direct trade and also student exchanges. · In a surprise response, North Korea proposed inter-parliamentary talks but also erected two seemingly impossible obstacles to games start, South Korean Olym-

Seoul's acceptance. The North said it wanted to widon the forum to include representa- any other country."

march to Panmunjom for talks with been rejected since 1985 as impos- North Korean students. sible under Olympic rules.

divided peninsula. unless its demands were met. It has since rejected a repeated Interna-tional Olympic Committee offer of a share of five sports.

Soviet Union, China and East Enropean countries agreed to join the Olympics. Lately, the president of the International Olympics Com-mittee, Juan Antonio Samaranch. and South Korean sports leaders have made it clear that the offer to North Korea to share sports is no longer valid.

pic officials say the North has no choice but to participate just like tives from "various sectors of society" and that the central topic staging a final bid for maximum

(AFP, AP)

But analysts say its agenda for on Monday, President Roh pro-But the agreement for the first the talks is unacceptable to Seoul. posed a summit meeting with the direct talks between the two sides. They added that the first demand. North Korean leader, Kim Il Sung. More than 2,000 students were was intended to lead to the incluby both governments to make max- sion of delegations representing detained by the police on Monday

> At the Panmunjom meeting on Observers said North Korea was Friday, Park Joon Kyu, a leading hoping to cast a cloud over the Olympics by a climate of uncertainty until the last minute in a new twist in the war of nerves on the clude representatives of all four major political parties.

> Pyongyang first raised the co-hosting issue in 1985 and threat-ened to lead a Communist boycott
>
> The Pyongyang delegation will be led by Chon Gum Chol, secre-tary-general of North Korea's mittee for the Peaceful Reunification of the Fatherland. In Seoul, the police charged 52 students on Wednesday as leaders The threat collapsed when the of the Monday violence. Officials said the students were accused of violating the national security law. About 8,260 people, mostly students, have been taken into custody since radicals began scattered protests literature on Aug. 7 to press for unification talks with North Korean students. The students called for the talks to mark the Ang. 15 anniversary of Korea's 1945 liberation from Japan. All but 252 of those detained were released after warnings, and

or more off your newsstand price

when you subscribe for 12 months to the International Herald Tribune. The longer you subscribe the more you save.

We'll give you 13 extra issues for each three months you subscribe. That's 26 extra issues for six months - or - 52 extra issues for a twelve-month subscription. Total savings: Up to 40% or more in most European countries.

Herald Tribune

To: Subscription Manager, International Herald Tribune, 181, Avenue Charles de Gaulle,	Special introductory rates for new subscribers, Please circle the reduced subscription price selected. Volid through December 31, 1988.
92521 Neutly Cedex, France. Please check the subscription	Country Currency	1 year +52 5505	6 mos. + 26 issues	3 mas. + 13 issues term you desire:	Austria A. Sch.	4,900	2700	1.500
☐ 52 extra issues	Belgium B.Fr.	11,500	6300	3,400
with a 12-month subscription	Denmark D.Kr.	2700	1,500	830
(364 issues in all)	Finland F.M.	1,830	1,000	550
26 extra issues	France F.F.	1,600	880	480
with a 6-month subscription	Germany* D.M.	600	330	182
with a 6-month subscription (182 issues in all)	Great Britain £	135	74	41
13 extra issues	Greece Dr.	25,000	14,000	7,700
with a 3-month subscription	beland Edd.	155	85	47
(91 issues in all)	Noty Lire	400,000	220,000	121,000
My check is enclosed	Lucembourg L.Fr.	11,500	6,300	3,400
	Netherlands FL	660	365	200
Please charge my:	Norway (sir) N.Kr.	2,000	1,100	600
∐ Access ☐ Amex	—  (tol. doi.)	2,500	1,400	700
☐ Diners Club ☐ Eurocard	Portugal Esc.	26,000	14,300	7,900
☐ Mastercard ☐ Visa	Spoin (pir) Plas.	31,000	17,000	9,400
-	- Modrid (hd.del.)	45,240	22,620	11,310
	Sweden (cir) S.Kr.	2,000	1,100	600
	— "fat dell-	2,500	1,400	700
Signature	Switzerland * S.Fr.	510	280	154
	Rest of Europe, No	orth Afric 470	o, forme 260	French 145
Cord expiry done	Africo, Mid. East $ Rest of Africo, Gulf
 	Rest of Alfico, Guil	6201	340	190
Cord occount number Nome
Address
Gry	Country
T-1	Talex		18-	8-88
" in Germany, hand delivery is proliable in a		ion date.	For date	is pieces in Germany, hand delivery is available in major affect on publication date. For details, please dreak here and fill in your address above.
 At these rates, you can get easly morning hand delivery in the following clies: Odlo, Stovanger, only 200 of those still held are un-

Conservatives and Midwesterners Applaud Selection of Indianan

By Lou Cannon Washington Post Service

NEW ORLEANS - Vice President George Bush's surprise choice of Senator Dan Quayle of Indiana as his vice-presidential running mate has won plaudits from conservatives, younger Republicans and Midwesterners. But it was greeted skeptically by party strategists who had hoped for a better-known candidate with more obvious appeal to the working-class ethnic Democrats who voted for President Ronald Reagan.

"All I know is he is 41, from Indiana and seems attractive," said the West Virginia Republican chairman, Edgar Heiskell. "He looks like one of George Bush's sons."

[In California, where he is vacationing, Mr. Reagan called Mr. Quayle a "proven vote-getter" and "an excellent choice," The Associated Press reported.]

Representative Dick Cheney, a Wyoming Republican and a member of the House Republican leadership, summed up the view of younger conservatives: "He's an excellent choice. There are a lot of us in our 40s who are conveniently in California, where Mr. Bush currently floor of the convention by an Oregon delegate, going through the roots of everyone," he said.

Mary Hickey Green, a retired schoolteacher. "Michael Dukakis is the issue." happy to see a colleague, a peer, become part of the leadership team.

Senator John S. McCain 3d, an Arizona Republican, another conservative and a Quayle colleague on the Senate Armed Services Committee, said: "He's youthful, he's very exuber-ant." Mr. McCain also said, "There will not be debates between Quayle and Bush on the issues, as there should be" between Mr. Bentsen and

Some Democrats expressed surprise. John Marttila, a Democratic pollster and consultant who has worked for Mr. Dukakis, said, "I don't understand the reasoning fully unless this is an approach to the conservatives. I think Bentsen has a stature advantage and a substance advantage. Given the choices he had, this is a surpris-

Most Republicans were reluctant to criticize the choice, but Californians who have been close to the Reagan White House were less than trails Mr. Dukakis, the former White House political director, Edward J. Rollins, said succinctly, "Nothing."

In Santa Barbara, the White House spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater, praised Mr. Quayle, whom he called "young, smart" and close to Mr. Reagan on defense issues. But when Mr. Fitzwater was asked if he thought the choice would hurt or help the ticket in California, he replied, "Oh, I think he'll help as much as anybody. The guy who's going to help in Cali-fornia is Ronald Reagan."

Indianapolis Mayor William Hudnut, a former House member and prominent figure among Midwestern Republicans, gave a glowing summary of Mr. Quayle's credentials. He called him "a wonderful man, good man for the country." And, he said, "He's a baby-boomer."

Mr. Barbour acknowledged that few voters outside of Indiana have ever heard of Mr. Quayle. This concern was expressed on the Mary Hickey Green, a retired schoolteacher, who said, "He's young, and he's a very good conservative. But what if something happens to Bush? Do you suppose he has the foreign policy hand? I don't know yet."

Other Republicans who had been prominently mentioned as prospective running mates — notably Senators Bob Dole of Kansas and Pete V. Domenici of New Mexico and Representa-tive Jack F. Kemp of New York — expressed varying degrees of disappointment.

Asked how he felt about Mr. Quayle, Mr. Dole said, "Tve talked with Quayle, I've known him for a long time and I've worked with him in the Senate." But the Senate minority whip, Alan K. Simpson of Wyoming, a Bush friend who until recently had been considered a possi-ble running mate, reacted enthusiastically and disputed the contention that Mr. Quayle's wealth would make the Republican ticket seem

The voters "are not going to spend their time

The preliminary view among Democratic consultants is that Mr. Quayle does not add much strength to the ticket. A Democratic poll taker, Harrison Hickman, said of Mr. Quayle, "If the object is to help with electoral votes, he doesn't help at all."

However, a Texas Democratic consultant, George Shipley, called Mr. Quayle "a genuine new face" and said his selection was "a very shrewd choice." Mr. Shipley credited the Bush pollster, Robert Teeter, with the selection and said that voters age 35 to 40 were the targets. "He's trying to win over the Vietnam generation," Mr. Shipley said.

Conservatives were the most enthusiastic about Mr. Quayle's selection. Senator Gordon Humphrey, a New Hampshire Republican, leader of a group pressing for the choice of a conservative running mate for Mr. Bush, said, "It is hard to imagine a more appropriate choice." Steve Wark, leader of the conservative Nevada delegation, called Mr. Quayle "a super-candidate" with "strong conservative values."

■ Dukakis Questions Choice

Mr. Dukakis touted the qualifications of his running mate, Senator Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, and implied that Mr. Quayle was not qualified to be president, The Associated Press reported from Minnesota.

Mr. Dukakis said, "Nobody ever asked any questions about whether Lloyd Bentsen was qualified to be president of the United States." Mr. Dukakis used praise of Mr. Bentsen to criticize Mr. Quayle. "I think Senator Bentsen is a tremendous asset to me and to the Democratic ticket," Mr. Dukakis said, "because he is so steady and so mature and has demonstrated. a capacity for leadership." When the Democratic nominee was asked if he thought Mr. Quayle was qualified to step in as president in the event of a tragedy, he responded, "That's a judgment the American people are going to have to make."

As George Bush and his wife, Barbara, lend an enthusiastic ear, trumpeter Derrick Shezbie, 13, of the Rebirth Jazz Band, cuts loose

Where the Parties Stand on Major Issues

NEW ORLEANS -- The Republican National Convention, acting without debate or dissent, has approved a detailed party platform of more than 30,000 words, in contrast to the 4,500-word statement of principles issued by the Democrats in July. Following are a few of the key issues each platform addresses, and excerpts from the differing responses of each party:

Republicans - The unborn child has a fundamental individual right to life which cannot be infringed. Democrats - The fundamental

Minimum Wage

Republicans - As an alternative to inflationary — and job-destroy-ing — increases in the minimum wage, we will work to boost the incomes of the working poor through the earned income tax

Democrats - The party supports an indexed minimum wage that can help lift and keep families out of poverty.

Child Care

Republicans - In returning to our traditional commitment to children, the Republican Party proand traditions. dard in recognizing that worker their families.

productivity is enhanced by major

Democrats child care more available and affordable to low- and middle-income families, helping states build a strong child care infrastructure, setting minimum standards for health, safety and quality.

Budget, Taxes

Republicans - We oppose any attempts to increase taxes. We will reduce to 15 percent the tax rates right of reproductive choice should for long-term capital gains. We call be guaranteed regardless of ability for a flexible freeze on current government spending. We call for a balanced budget amendment to the Constitution.

> people within a strong commitment to fiscal responsibility. Investing in America and reducing the deficit requires that the wealthy and corporations pay their fair share and that we restrain Pentagon spend-

Democrats -- We believe that it

South Africa

Republicans — Republicans deplore the apartheid system of South poses a radically different ap- Africa and consider it morally re-proach: establish a toddler tax pugnant. We believe firmly that credit for preschool children as one element in the evolution of proposed by Vice President Bush, black political progress must be increases in assistance making the time has come to end all vestiges of the failed policy of conimpose comprehensive sanctions upon its economy, to lead the international community in participa-tion in these actions, and to determine a date certain by which United States corporations must leave South Africa.

Soviet Union

Republicans — Republicans are proud that it was a Republican president who extended freedom's hand and message to the Soviet Union. It will be a new Republican time for America to meet the president who can best build on. challenge to change priorities after that progress, ever cautions of com-eight years of devastating Republi-can policies . . . to reinvest in its prepared to embrace real reform, but we will not leave America un-prepared should reform prove illu-best suited to their families' values have the effect of adversely affectnd traditions.

Democrats — We believe that achievements of black South Afrirent sufficient to counter any Sovigovernment should set the stan- can entrepreneurs and workers and et threat, standing up to any American adversaries whenever Democrats — We believe that necessary and sitting down with them whenever possible, testing the ges of the failed policy of contentions of the new Soviet leaders structive engagement, to declare about arms control, emigration, South Africa a terrorist state, to human rights and other issues.

Middle East

Republicans — The foundation of our policy in the Middle East has. been and must remain the promotion of a stable and lasting peace, recognizing our moral and strategic relationship with Israel. We oppose the creation of an independent Palestinian state; its establishment is inimical to the security interests of Israei, Jordan and the U.S.

Democrats — This country, maintaining the special relation-ship with Israel founded upon mutually shared values and strategic peace and security through negoti-ations that has been held out to Israel and its neighbors by the

Democrats' Policies Are Focus of Attacks

By Paul Taylor

NEW ORLEANS - Republiavailable to all families of modest black economic progress; actions can speakers have taken what they means, to help them support and designed to pressure the govern-called "an evening of comparison" during a rally demonstrating support for the Republican presidential candidate during the party's national convention in New Orleans, care for their children in a manner ment of South Africa must not to lambaste the Democrats as a party that would raise taxes, destroy individual initiative and > Governor Thomas H. Kean of New Jersey; former president Gerald R. Ford; Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, the former United Nations chief delegate, and Pat Robertson, the led the charge with a string of speeches Tuesday night that were often biting but, as promised, rarely personal in their attack.

Unlike the Democrats, who used their national convention last month to ridicule the privileged upbringing of Vice President George Bush and to question his achieve-ments, the Republicans steered clear of both the personality and record of the Democratic presidential nominee, Governor Michael S. Dukakis of Massachusetts. They focused instead on what they called his liberal philosophy.

Mr. Kean, who gave the keynote speech, opened his address on a combative note by recalling that the Democrats took the advice of their media consultants at their convention in Atlanta and softened the red, white and blue colors on their podium so the colors would come across better on television. "Well, I don't know about you," Mr. Kean said, "but I believe Americans, Democrats and Republicans alike, have no use for pastel patriotism. But the liberal Demo-crats are trying to hide more than the colors in the flag — they are at the environmental problems in trying to hide their true colors. Mr. Dukakis's backyard. They want higher taxes, but they won't say so. They want to weaken America, but they won't admit it.

And they want to play the politics of special interests." Ms. Kirkpatrick, who made one convention, he applanded the Revolt in most caustic attacks on the crend Jesse L. Jackson "for his personate at the Republican consonal talents and achievements, vention in Dallas four years ago, and for showing millions of black showed Tuesday night she has not Americans that the American lost her edge.

In 1984, she took out after what she called the "San Francisco Democrais." Tuesday night, her target was the "Dukakis Democrats." She said they "do not understand how the prudent use of American power has helped in Afghanistan, Grenada and in the Persian Gulf. in the fight against international terrorism, and in the struggle for democracy in Central America and Asia."

"That's the bad news," she continued. "The good news is — George Bush knows better."

Mr. Kean, 53, said the Republican Party must practice the poli-tics of inclusion and said that it would not "concede one single vot-" er anywhere."

He reached back to Abraham Lincoln to set forth his view of the Republican philosophy of govern-ment. "Its leading object," Mr., Kean said, quoting Lincoln, "is to elevate the condition of men - to lift artificial weights from all shoulders - to afford every person an unfettered start, and a fair chance, in the race of life."

Mr. Kean told the convention delegates - who on average are wealthier and better educated than the nation as a whole, and who as a group have a higher percentage of Caucasians than the country's population — that "many of us have been blessed with good jobs, good homes and good families, but we also care about those who are not

"We have to care," Mr. Kean said, "because their future is now our future. Their tomorrow is our tomorrow. The simple truth is: There are no spare Americans any

He called for urban enterprise zones, inner-city schools with tough academic standards, the death penalty for drug dealers and a strong commitment to cleaning up the nation's environment. "We

Mr. Ford began by saluting the tremendous strides the Dukakis family has taken to achieve the American dream." And he said that, as he watched the Democratic dream can be more than just a

But Mr. Ford then said that the Democratic ticket is "a tax increase on its way to happen." He asked: "Do you really want to go back to all the Democratic economic miscry from 1977 to 1981? Interest rates at 21 percent? Inflation at

He also answered the "Where Was George?" taunt that Senator Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts chanted at the Democratic convention. "I'll be damned if I will stand by and let anyone with a smirk and a sneer discredit the honor, service, accountability and comperence of George Bush," said Mr.

America's Diversity Shines Through in Official Proceedings

By Maureen Dowd

New York Times Service NEW ORLEANS - The scene might be, as one station in California. Republican consultant dryly put it, "a bunch of pasty-faced white guys in Brooks Brothers suits." But if you focus on official rather than unofficial proceedings, you might mistake the Republican convention for an ethnic festival or a forum on women's rights.

The daily calendar is crowded with salutes to black Americans, teas and panels for women, and Jewish coalition luncheons. An Asian-American group hands out fortune cookies with messages like "Asians Say,

NEW ORLEANS NOTEBOOK

To defuse persistent questions about Vice President George Bush's gender gap problem — dubbed "the chicks issue" by one irreverent female campaign offi-

(Continued from Page 1)

shot" to suggest that he ducked service in Vietnam by enlisting in

· "I have a deep affection for those men and women who sacrificed their lives in Vietnam and for anybody to imply anything differently is just simply wrong," he said.

Mr. Quayle, an heir to the Pultiam newspaper publishing group, was asked about reports that his

"That figure is not correct," Mr.

Quayle said. Believe me, you have caused me a lot of problems at home because my wife is asking about that." He promised a full

Mr. Bush was asked if the addition of Mr. Quayle underscored the image of Republicans as the party of the rich. "I picked the best man,"

he said. "It's not a question of per-

Mr. Bush was asked if it was smart politics to choose a running mate so much like himself. "He's different from me," Mr. Bush said.

Mr. Bush said that making his

. He said, "There were several men and women who fit the crite-choice." He added that "he helps thing bold or different," the vice

"I'm 64 and he is 41."

choice was "a tough call."

wealth exceeded $200 million.

the National Guard.

financial statement.

sonal wealth."

me nationally."

president added.

At a press briefing Tuesday, John H. Sununu, the governor of New Hampshire, brushed aside the ques-

BUSH: Fierce Vote Battle Vowed emphasized experience in remarks

Mr. Bush and Mr. Quayle enjoy a warm relationship and talk often by telephone or in Mr. Bush's office in the Old Executive Office

Building, Senator Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, who polled Senate Republicans at Mr. Bush's request two weeks ago, said Mr.

Quayle was not among those they recommended for the spot. But Bush the recommendations, Mr. Bush asked, "What about Dan

■ Bentsen Income

in excellent health."

men and women who fit the crite-ria. I felt Dan Quayle was the best $403,932 in 1983 and a low of

"I didn't think I had to do some- Hessin, an Alabama Democrat who

The vice president spoke repeat-edly of Mr. Quayle's youth in an-the Office of Government Ethics nouncing the choice Tuesday, and must review it to see whether the ful good looks. But top Bush aides date for vice president.

when Mr. McConnell gave Mr.

Mr. Bentsen's gross income aver-during that period, according to financial records released Wednesday by the senator, The Associated

Mr. Bentsen, 67, also made pub-

Press reported from Washington.

hic a blind trust and released a report from his doctor saying he was for the years 1983 through 1987

show he carned a high of $1,020,607 in 1983 and a low of

In a letter to Senator Howell is chairman of the Senate ethics committee, Mr. Bentsen said he $597,906 in 1984. He paid his high-

$155,329 the following year.

tions posed in English and took a query put to him by a correspondent for a Spanish-language television

It was a chance for Mr. Sunuou, who was born in Cuba and raised in New York, to use his Spanish and tweak Mr. Dukakis, who has been using his own fluency to great advantage on the campaign trail.

The Republicans have scheduled several speakers, including Mr. Bush's daughter-in-law, Columba, to give their addresses in both Spanish and English, and the party's television network is offering for the first time a Spanish translation of the convention.

Mr. Sununu has been the party's designated hitter for the loudest attacks on Mr. Dukakis. "I understand the governor is getting upset," the New Hampshire governor murmured about his Massachusetts counterpart with a smile.

The audio system inside the Louisiana Superdome, cial for Mr. Bush — women dominate the podium. denounced by delegates who are having a hard time And everywhere — are you listening, Michael Dukahearing the speakers, broke down. That left Representative Helen Delich Bentley of Maryland standing at a

A breakfast meeting Tuesday for Senator Dan Quayle of Indiana and a group of Newsweck writers and editors was breaking up when the senator got an urgent phone call — and left in a hurry. Only moments before, Mr. Quayle had remarked that his 9-year-old daughter's choice for vice president was Bob Dole.

The morning sessions at the Republican National Convention are a dead zone, when speakers seem to talk without forming words and when delegates stare blankly at the ceiling or read newspapers.

In the midst of the largely deserted convention hall,

Ed Wilson, a delegate from Ohio, sat with an array of his own cartoons spread in front of him. One showed Mr. Dukakis talking about his farm policy and sitting on a stool milking a bull. Another showed a Dukakis White House with a clapboard addition labeled "Jesse's Room." Mr. Wilson said he hopes to to have his

In the world of network television, where scoops come in increments of seconds, NBC News was thrilled to be the first network to broadcast the news that Mr. Quayle was definitely the vice president's phlegmatic Joseph Angotti, the network's vice president in charge of convention coverage. "I love it! I love television evangelist and former it!" Republican presidential candidate,

The Democrats sent no formal Truth Squad to the convention, but the Reverend Jesse L. Jackson stepped into the breach. He called The New York Times from the La Costa health spa in Southern California to complain about the "gross distortions and deletions" in President Ronald Reagan's speech.
"Facts are stubborn things." Mr. Jackson said, adapting a refrain from the president's speech Monday night in his own lynical style. "His anti-drug plan has resulted in more drugs coming this way. Facts are stubborn things. The most indictments of any admin-istration in history. Facts are stubborn things. The biggest deficit and trade deficit in the history of America. Facts are stubborn things."

After Mr. Bush introduced his running mate, Barbara Bush kissed Mr. Quayle to welcome him to the ticket. Perhaps fearing the effects of a lipstick smudge on color TV, Mr. Quayle rubbed his cheek vigorously.

United Press International

trolled but obvious anger, George lenged for calling his grandchildren "the little brown ones."

conference.

pretation, that isn't fair and I don't As Mr. Bush said farewell to President Ronald Reagan at a small rally Tuesday, he pointed out members of his family, including his son John (Jeb) Bush's children. at one point saying, "These are Jeb's kids from Florida, the little children, George, 10, Noelle, 9, and "Because I have heard the question campaign for support among His- the convention Tuesday.

"And anybody who has ever than what it was. I find it personally offensive. and I'm going to protect them.

Jeb Bush is married to a Mexican "I'm delighted that you raised sion, according to ratings released native. Columba. They have three it," Mr. Bush told the reporter. Tuesday.

One of the children, George

The former transportation secretary, Elizabeth Hanford Dole, on

"You've made your grandfather traveled with me, or knows the and all of us very proud," said Mrs. heartbeat of the Bush family, Dole, the temporary chairman of

United Press International

vention drew more viewers than the Democrats' convention on televi-

The Schedule For Last Day

NEW ORLEANS - Following are the main events scheduled for the last day of the Republican National Con-

Thursday

• 0001 GMT: Convention called to order by Representative Olympia J. Snowe of

• 0015 GMT: Tribute to Baraged $772.181 annually over the bara Bush, wife of the vice past five years, and he paid an average of $264.453 in federal taxes

Vice Presidential Nomination

• 0115 GMT: Remarks and introduction of Senator Dan Quayle of Indiana by Representative Lynn M. Martin of Mr. Bentsen's income tax returns Illinois.

> • 0120 GMT: Acceptance speech by Mr. Quayle.

Presidential Nominee's Acceptance Speech

• 0145 GMT: Remarks and introduction of Vice President George Bush by Governor James R. Thompson of Illi-

early reactions included many trust arrangement complies with • 0150 GMT: Acceptance comments on Mr. Quayle's youth- federal law now that he is a candi- speech by Mr. Bush.

Bush Stands Up for His 'Little Brown Ones'

NEW ORLEANS - In con-Bush said Wednesday he was personally offended about being chal-

"They weren't hurt by what I said," Mr. Bush said at a news "And if they're burt by misinter-

Mr. Bush was asked at the news conference what he meant by the Prescott Bush, led the pledge of comment, especially in light of his allegiance at the evening session of "Those grandchildren are my pride and joy," Mr. Bush said, the platform with the child, was "And when I say pride, I mean it. impressed.

knows not only my sensitivity, but the convention.
my love for those children. "And for anyone to suggest that comment of pride is anything other these kids burt. This is my family offensive.

NEW YORK — Opening night
"And P.S.: I don't want to see of the Republican National Con-

Republicans Draw More

DOONESBURY

Ford, who gave a long rendition of Mr. Bush's resume. Mr. Robertson, who loomed large as a political force in the preliminary stages of the Republican nomination light, appealed to his largely fundamentalist followers to "rally with wholehearted support" behind Mr. Bush.

for the la highly qu financial

- F. P

Vote 5

WILL WOR

First app

Preferen Experience wit

Fle

and to produce industry other ade throughc

Please ap

Strand

ndianan

INTERNATIONAL POSITIONS

We are recruiting staff journalists for this exciting new European daily newspaper which will consist of four colour sections and will be launched in the spring of next year.

We are looking for experienced and lively journalists who are capable of working to the highest standards to help to launch this major new publication which will be essential reading for opinion-formers as Europe prepares for its new era in 1992.

They will be part of an international staff reporting events in Europe and the rest of the world from a distinctive and authoritative viewpoint.

LAYOUT ARTISTS REPORTERS SUB-EDITORS PHOTOGRAPHERS

will work with the most modern technology to collect and transmit news and pictures and to produce the newspaper.

First appointments will be made immediately.

Preference will be given to candidates who are fluent in one or more foreign languages. Experience with direct-input editorial systems will be an advantage.

> Salaries and related benefits will be in line with current Fleet Street standards.

Applicants should write, not telephone, with details of their experience and qualifications in confidence to:

Robert Maxwell, Publisher THE EUROPEAN Strand House, 8-10 New Fetter Lane, London EC4A 1DB.

The Finance Director

To create and direct the commercial strategy and financial plan for the launch in Spring 1989 of this exciting new European newspaper.

Currently a Finance Director or Senior Adviser, you must be a highly qualified Accountant with extensive experience of strategy, financial structure and commercial management.

Although not necessarily from the newspaper or publishing industry, it is essential that you are fluent in French and English with other additional European languages being an advantage.

Based in London and Paris the job will involve frequent travel throughout Europe.

Please apply with a full resumé and salary history to:

THE EUROPEAN Strand House, 8-10 New Fetter Lane, London EC4A 1DR.

CHOICE: Conservative, Young and a Midwesterner

(Continued from Page 1)

conservative Republican from upstate New York, as a running mate for Mr. Bush, Mr. Quayle brings many of the same policy creden-tials without possessing the Kemp abrasiveness that supposedly irritated Mr. Bush.

As a member of the Senate Budget Committee, Mr. Quayle has been a faithful fiscal conservative, and as a senior member of the Labor and Human Resources Committee, he has voted against abortion and school busing, while supporting prayer in schools.

New Right groups have on occa-sion lambasted Senator Quayle for not following the lead of hard-core Senate conservatives like Jesse A. Helms of North Carolina or Gordon J. Humphrey of New Hamp-shire in using delaying tactics to help conservative crusades.

But Mr. Quayle has demonstrated a tenacity on the Senate floor ily has four generations alive. The and a willingness on some occa-

A key question for the party, with its battle plan of relentlessly hammering away at Michael S. Dukakis as an untested leader who is weak on defense, is whether Mr. Quayle can be the point man in a mesn campaign.

His record suggests that, at the very least, he will give the Demo-crats a run for their money. In the 1980 Senate race, he torpedoed the incumbent, Senator Birch Bayh, a three-term Democrat.

In 1986, Mr. Quayle won re-election to the Senate with 61 percent of the vote, the largest margin ever achieved by an Indiana candidate in a statewide race. Mr. Bell said Mr. Quayle won his niques with old-fashioned Hoosier campaigning," he said. But looking at precisely those characteristics, John Brademas, a from Indiana who is now president of New York University, came to a

"As I look at George Bush and

INTERNATIONAL POSITIONS

Yale UNIVERSITY

Applications and nominations

School of Music (Graduate level)

The Dean of the School of Music is responsible, with the faculty, for administration, policy, and curriculum. The Dean is also responsible for the relations of the School with the professional musical community. The school offers degrees at the Master's and Doctoral levels with emphasis in performance and composition. Demonstrated leader-

The position becomes available July

1, 1989. Applications, with supporting materials, should be sent by November 1, 1988 to: Professor of Music, 2104A Yale Station, New

Yale University is an affirmative ac-

GRADUATE. Fluent in Spanish or German. Experience large projects. Debt conversion, Debt/Equity. Ref. DF/404.

EUROBONDS/FXED INCOME. Italian Nationals or Italian speaking with good institutional/Banking contacts/experlence possibly with Italian Banking background. Please call quoting ref. DF/515.

F/FRANC GOVERNMENT BONDS. French Nationals/or fluent French with good contacts and experience with O.A.T.'s Ref. DF/314.

EUROBONDS, JAPANESE, Nationals or fluent Japanese with accellent contacts and experience with Japanese Insti-tutions/Banks, Ref. DF/441.

GERMAN EQUITIES. Must have fluent German with experience selling German Equities to European/German Institu-tions, Ref. DF/622.

FXED INCOME SALES. French Nationals or fluent French. Responsible for France and French speaking Europe. Ref. DF/808.

Excellent packages available. Please send C.V. or telephone 01-377-6488 and quote the Ref Number. All details will be handled in confidence.

Appointments Ltd. lich High Street, London El GPJ,

Jesse Levine, Chairman, Search Committee, Yale University, School

Haven, Connecticut 06520-7440.

tion, equal opportunity employer.

International House/London Office is seeking the following financial professionals.

CAPITAL PROJECTS

FINANCE

Fex: 01 377 0887.

ship in the field of music is are invited for the post of

Dean of the perfectly pleasant young man."

In an interview in his Capitol Hill office last Thursday, Mr. Quayle suggested that he would stir up more public comment and attention than some better known possibilities and provide the Bush campaign with a more newsworthy story this week. "I would clearly be an unconventional choice, not a typical George Bush choice, "Mr. Quayle said. He said flatly that a major factor favoring his selection was his age.

"I'm the only one they're considering who was born after World War

If," he said.

Mr. Quayle also contended that the vice president had a serious weakness in the Middle West. Another major asset for Mr. Quayle in this election year, when family issues are expected to be a major factor, is his family.

great-grandmother, 97, lives in a home for the aged in Franklin, Indiana. The parents, who are 67 and 66, publish the newspaper in Hun-tington, Indiana. And Mr. Quayle's three children, aged 9 to 14, are a highly photogenic group likely to play a role in the campaign.

Mr. Quayle's maternal grandfather, Eugene Pulliam, was a controversial and outspokenly conservative newspaper publisher, owning major newspapers in Indianapolis and Phoenix, among other places.

Mr. Quayle brings at least two potential liabilities to the ticket his fringe association with a scandal involving a female lobbyist, and the naming of one of his former aides, Robert W. Owen, in the Iran-

Contra affair.
Paula Parkinson, a lobbyist who said she had had affairs with "fewer campaigns in part because he was underestimated by his opponents. "He mixes modern, telegenic techthan a dozen" Republican congressmen, made headlines in 1981 when it was disclosed that she had had an affair with Representative Tom Evans of Delaware. In 1980, Mr. Evans shared a va-former Democratic representative cation house in Florida during a golfing vacation in Florida with Miss Parkinson and two representatives, Tom Railsback of Illinois and Mr. Quayle. All three later vot-Dan Quayle, I see two peas in a ed against a crop insurance bill that pod, separated by a generation, he Miss Parkinson had opposed, but said. "I know Danny Quayle; he's a they denied that their votes h been influenced. The two said they had Florida but both denied any impro-priety. Mr. Evans and Mr. Rails-back were defeated in 1982. Mr. Quayle was re-elected. In an interview with The Associated Press this week, Mr. Quayle said that Mr. Bush had not asked him about the episode, although Bush aides said they knew of the incident and were satisfied that Mr.

Ousyle had done nothing wrong. "That's all public record," the senator said in the interview. "I think people who know me and know my family know that there is no factual basis to what has been written. If you try to say that some-how I was implicated, that's just not true."

Mr. Quayle has not been linked to the Iran-contra scandal. In fact, he was not an unquestioning sup-

of disclosures that the United States had sold arms to Iran.
But Mr. Owen, his former aide, played a leading role in the contra resupply network directed by Lieutenant Colonel Oliver L. North. Mr. Owen said in a deposition before the Iran-Contra Committee. on May 4, 1987, that he met Colonel North in July 1983 while he was on Mr. Quayle's staff. James Danforth Quayle was born in Indianapolis on Feb. 4, 1947. The eldest of four children, he grew up in Arizona and in Huntington, where he graduated in 1965 from high school. At DePauw University in Indiana he earned a bachelor's degree in political science in 1969 and went on for a law degree from Indi-ana University in 1974. It was there that he met his wife, Marilyn. They married 10 weeks after their first percent, Mr. Bush 40 percent. Was there an extraordinar three-day surge to Mr. Dukakis? Jeff Alderman, the director of polling for ABC News, argues that to say this is to draw too much from the poll.

The Poll Puzzle

(Continued from Page 1) ly different result: Mr. Dukakis 55

Polling represents a fuzzy pio-ture of what's going on." he said. "It feel very strongly that a shift oc-curred and we've measured it approximately."

To make matters even more confusing, a poll taken Monday, these day after ABC showed Mr. Duka-lis ahead by 15 points, showed him. ahead by just two points. That surcations-Research Inc. for the Hotline, a computerized political information service, and The New Orleans Times-Picayune, was consistent with a poll the consortium took Aug. 12-13, which showed Mr. Dukakis ahead by one point.

One difficulty is that the recent designed more to measure what direction the campaign is moving in than to give an exact sense of where it is. These are usually conducted over a single night, have small samples and do not give poll-takers time to call back respondents whom they have not reached. That is why Mary Klette, director of elections and polling for NBC News, thinks it is a mistake to, make public the numbers from tracking polls.

"Tracking polls are wonderful, because you can pick up a trend you can't get with other polls," she said. "But you're playing with fire. if you release them. You can get In fact, much of the shift in the ABC Poll could be explained simply by sampling error. In a survey of the size of ABC's, the numbers could be off by plus or minus 5 percentage points.

Most of the larger polls suggest that Mr. Dukakis has a lead over Mr. Bush, although a smaller one than the 17-point advantage he had in two surveys taken shortly after, the Democratic National Conven-

Coretta King Appears 'In Spirit' of Husband

New York Times Service NEW ORLEANS — Coretta Scott King a lifelong Democrat, visited the Georgia delegation on the floor of the Republican National Convention on Tuesday night "in the spirit" of her slain husband. the Reverend Martin Luther Kins

She moved through the Louisiana Superdome surrounded by reporters and photographers, stopping at the Georgia delegation to shake hands and to pose for pic-tures with delegates. "It is important that we find an air of commonality," she said, "so we can work together to make a better world."

HEAD OF ASIA AND PACIFIC REGION

Amnesty International (AI) needs a Head of the Asia and Pacific region of the Research Department based in London. The work of the department includes investigating and documenting human rights violations in the region and preparing initiatives to be taken by Amnesty international in relation to prisoners of conscience, trial procedures, the treatment of prisoners

The Head of Region supervises some 24 staff on strategy and techniques for action and research; approves texts and actions prepared by the research staff; advises on policy matters; and has immediate responsibility for various administrative, budgetary and personnel matters. Candidates must have sound political judgment and extensive knowledge of the Asia and Pacific region, with a specialist knowledge of one sub-region. Experience or demonstratable ability in supervising specialist staff is necessary, as is the ability to communicate well in English both orally and in writing, and to represent AI externally, Knowledge of an Asian language and/or another European language would be an asset.

SALARY: Starts at £15,987 per annum, rises to £19,297 per annum.

CLOSING DATE FOR RECEIPT OF COMPLETED APPLICATION FORMS 30 SEPTEMBER INTERVEIWS SCHEDULED FOR WEEK COMMENCING 24 OCTOBER 1988. For further information and an application form, please contact: Personnel Office

Arrinesty International international Secretarial i Easton St. London WC1X 8DJ

Tel.: (01) 837 3805 ~ (24 hr ansaphone).

Trinternational

Middle East

ocus of Attack

erats Policies

er tip But dise

المنتخ الماليان المناوا

Robert Maxwell, Publisher

GERMAN DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC Trade Partner of 160 Countries

Leipzig Fair to Focus on Integrated Technology

Siegfried Fischer, the general director of the Leipzig Fair Office, was interviewed recently and asked to give a preview of this year's autumn fair.

The Leipzig Autumn Trade Pair from September 4 to 10 is prominently marked on the calendars of politicians, business people and engineering experts the world over. Will the fair live up to their expectations?

Siegfried Fischer: The Leipzig fair is the German Democratic Republic's biggest foreign trade event, and enjoys a good reputation in economic and financial circles internationally. It is considered the center for East-West trade. This autumn we will be welcoming representatives of all the traditional foreign trade enterprises of the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance and other socialist countries, as well as prominent companies and businesses from highly industrialized Western countries and exporters from developing countries in Asia, Africa and Latin America. Fifty prominent banks will set up fair offices to promote trading. As you may know, the Leipzig fair is a multidivision fair offering a different range of products and capital goods in spring and autumn. The emphasis at the autumn fair is on the chemicals industry, processing machinery, including plants used in the textile and shoe-making industries, polygraph machines, tools, vehides and medical technology. The consumer goods division includes leisure and sporting goods as well as teaching aids and school equipment. Yet another section of the fair is called "Knowledge, Technology and Performance," where the GDR and other countries exhibit their know-how as well as engineering and training capacities.

How would you assess the commercial importance of the Leipzig fair? Is Leipzig worth a visit if one wants to conclude business contracts.

GDR industry, which enjoys a good reputation among businesses and traders worldwide, showcases a range of current export items at each Leipzig fair. During the two annual fairs, GDR firms prepare, negotiate or conclude about half of the country's yearly export and import contracts. Furthermore, there is brisk trading among the foreign exhibitors themselves, especially between Western and socialist enterprises.

The presentation of high-quality, hightech products, which to a great extent are shown for the first time in Leipzig, and the display of important new technologies are playing an increasing role in business at Leipzig.

The presentation of high-tech innovations in Leipzig is encouraged through fair themes. What will the September fair be concentrating on this time around?

Mr. Siegfried Fischer, general director of the Leipzig Fair Office.

that potential exhibitors and visitors will know what the technological focus is. We first introduced a theme back 1983, and the great appeal the fairs have had with domestic and foreign visitors since then seems to have proved us right.

This year's theme is Integrated Measuring, Testing and Control Technology for a Higher Level of Performance, which has already found its expression in a variety of top-quality products on display during the 1988 Spring Fair. The upcoming fair will also highlight ways of raising quality through the use of new technologies, not only in the chemical and processing industries, but also in medical technology. Incidentally, next year's theme will be Flexible Automation (Variable Application of Automated Systems).

Great emphasis has traditionally been put on the exchange of scientific and technological knowledge as well as on the exchange of experiences by product users in Leipzig. What will the autumn fair offer in this respect?

An extensive scientific and technological program has long been an integral part of each Leipzig fair. Exhibitors will present to users and potential users about 100 specialist lectures within the framework of the divisions mentioned.

On top of that, a two-day international symposium on ultrasonic testing will be held a couple of days before the start of the fair. We will also be holding an international colloquium on measuring and testing in the chemical industry. All these events will involve internationally and will be attended by domestic and foreign experts.

Increased demands for services have become evident at all international fairs, including Lapzig. How have you adapted to these growing demands?

Following exhibitors' requests to reserve exhibition space, we do our best to comply with their demands. Space is reserved for them in the appropriate fair division. The application forms contain our entire service package, from stand construction, furnishing, equipment and the provision of stand personnel to advertising and PR services.

Any queries visitors may have upon arrival in Leipzig can be dealt with at the Foreign Visitors' Center in the heart of the city (Universitätsstrasse No. 7). Also available is the fair's Information Center, with representatives of the GDR and other countries as well as a Central Service Office. A Technology Information Stand organizes guided tours and offers a variety of services for specialists.

All in all, we have been steadily extending the range of services available to visitors in order to ensure that they have a pleasant stay in the city and can pursue their work successfully. In addition, there is our International Press Center, which welcomes about 2,000 accredited correspondents each year.

Twice a year the city of Leipzig is permeated by the spirit of its eight-century-old fair. To what extent does the city participate in the fair?

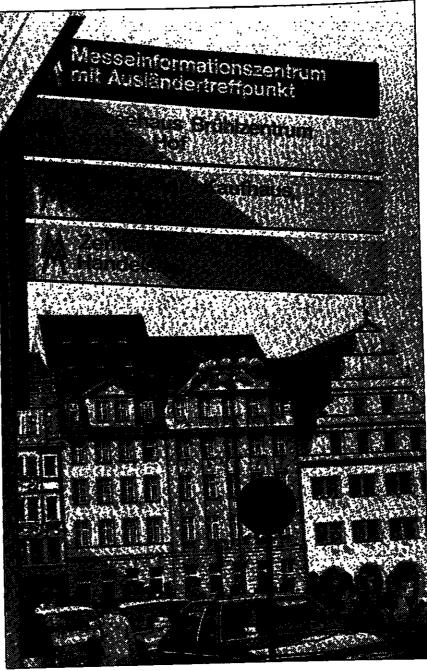

In point of fact, Leipzig has grown organically together with and through the fairs ever since 1165. The residents are committed to this tradition, and their hospitality is proverbial. They not only provide private accommodation for thousands of people during the fair, but have also made efforts to raise the level of goods and food supplies and to enrich the cultural life in the city. In the years to come we will continue to do our utmost to make our guests feel at home and to provide them with ample leisure-time facilities.

Do you have any particular message for the visitors to the 1988 Autumn Trade Fair in Leipzig?

When 6,000 exhibitors from all over the world and hundreds of thousands of visitors from 100 countries gather in Leipzig September 4-10, we will once again witness an important international economic event. I want to wish all participants in the fair commercial success, a fruitful exchange of experience resulting in greater knowledge, and many interesting contacts.

On offer in 1988 — integrated high technology.

The historical marketplace near the service center for foreigners.

References

Max Deprez, Cockerill Mechanical Ind., Belgium:

"It is the favorable political and trade climate prevailing at the Leipzig fair and its propitious geographical position in the heart of Europe that enable us to keep up our traditionally good trade relations with GDR firms and establish new contacts with businessmen from all over the good."

Horst Dohse, Siemens AG, Federal Republic of Germany:

"For us, the Leipzig fair is the center for promoting business with the member countries of the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance. Good economic relations consolidate mutual trust and are a solid basis for political dialogue."

Jun Ishikawa, Nakayama Co., Ltd., Japan:

"As newcomers to the fair, we didn't know what people would think of our products. Now having been here, we are sure we have found a major and important center of world trade. We would very much like to come back."

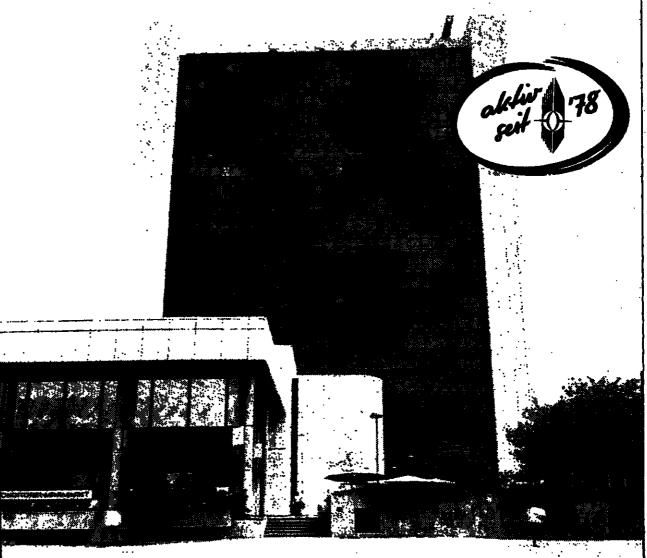

Brian J. White, The Canadian Wheat Board, Canada:

"The Leipzig fair is the only fair in the world at which we are represented. This has much to do with Leipzig being an internationally acknowledged trade center, which offers excellent opportunities to deepen relations with GDR enterprises."

Johannes Weihs, C. Augusto Egli, S.A., Spain:

"The Leipzig fair is an international meeting place, which is of great importance for us. In Leipzig, we concentrate on concluding contracts with GDR firms, and also with enterprises from other socialist countries. For me, coming to the fair also means enjoying a week full of cultural activities.

Your Partner for Commercial Events in the German Democratic Republic

We can plan and organise your meetings with GDR experts from the fields of industry, trade and commerce. We can ensure that you meet the right people to discuss the right topics at the right time, and that conference facilities and agendas are tailored to practical requirements. With our experience we are able to offer a comprehensive service to provide the necessary back-up for the correct preparation of symposia, exhibitions, colloquia and other promotional functions. Our detailed information and professional consultancy will help you make that vital impression on GDR markets — with your products, services and offers of cooperation.

INTERNATIONALES HANDELSZENTRUM GMBH Sales Department - GDR 1086 Berlin, Friedrichtineße - Tal.: 20 96 22 41 - Talus: 114381–84 ühzb dd - Fax: 2096 3395 Space: Ar Universe

Travels in the Kunstr.

Platetarium, delivered as a project.

Centuries

A

deposition of the straight forms of the stra

et the control of the cape defined to the cape demand to the cape and to the cape demand to the cape demand

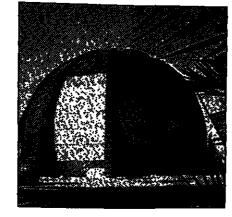

The book fair grew up wade

Travels in Time and Space: Around the Universe with Jena

OR six decades, planetariums from would be seen from the moon or a spacehallmark of quality. This sophisticated equipment, capable of recreating the starry sky and all its phenomena with an amazing naturalness, has helped millions of people to gain insight into the workings of the universe. It is a fascinating experience to watch as dusk fades away and the starry night sky lights up in radiant beauty and begins to move. Stars set in the west; others rise from the eastern horizon. The sun, moon and planets describe their orbits across the firmament. Comets and shooting stars light up; artificial satellites circle around the earth. A simulated trip to other regions of the earth is a chance to see wonderful phenomena such as the White Nights in Finland, the Midnight Sun in Lapland or the Polar Night in Norway. Events that are rare in nature, such as solar or lunar eclipses, can be observed daily in the planetarium. Particularly impressive, however, is travel through space and time as made possible by the spaceflight planetarium. Thousands of years can pass and billions of miles can be covered in a few seconds or minutes, and the sky can be Planetarium shows deal primarily with popular-science subjects. Jena planetariums are, however, also the preferred facilities for astronomy instruction and navigation training. In addition, the plancrarium is gaining in importance as a specific audiovisual medium. Programs vary from astronomy, space travel and problems of related sciences to laser shows and concerts. As a part of science or cultural centers or other places of interest, planetariums are becoming increasingly popular the world over.

The Kuwaiti National Museum Planetarium, delivered as a turnkey

In the field of planerarium construction, Jena has held a leading position for decades. A great many of the functional solutions and innovations of the last 60 years of planetarium development have come from Jena. Kombinar VEB Carl Zeiss Jena was the first to present the planetarium projector serially with automatic program control, now based on microprocessors. The new generation of Jena large-size planetariums also features integrated microelectronic controller sys-

Generally, large-size planetariums are only practical in towns with large populations. Costs for planerarium buildings with smaller dome diameters are by far lower. This is why in 1952 the production of small-size planetariums for dome diameters of six to eight meters was started and continued parallel to the production of large-size models. For the Model ZKP 1 small-size planetarium, 250 instruments had been produced by the mid-1970s. The current advanced version, Model ZKP 2 Skyrnaster, is comparable to its predecessor only in its dimensions. Not only its appearance but its demonstration capabilities are similar to those of its "big brother." Over 80 examples of this modern projector have been sold so far. Even before man set foot on the moon, a planetarium already existed that simulated flight to the moon: the Spacemaster admired with all its transformations as it spaceflight planerarium from Jena. It permits visitors to view the universe as seen from a spaceship flying to the planets, or to observe the starry sky just as astronauts do from a satellite orbiting the earth. The Jena spaceflight planetarium, first demonstrated at the Conference of the International Astronomical Union in Prague in 1967, offers all the projection options of a large-size planetarium with special spaceflight effects and, in addition, features fully automatic program control. It is a welcome alternative for cities and institutions with smaller budgets.

The Edmonton Space Science Center, Canada

Billions of miles can be covered in a few seconds

The continued efforts of Jena planetarium designers toward achieving new scientific and technological innovation are evidenced in the youngest child of the spaceflight planetarium family, Model RFP-DP 2. Integrated micro-electronics offers a number of advantages. Computer control simplifies operation and allows a great variety of demonstration possibil-

Now as before, there is considerable interest in building science centers in which a large-size planetarium is the main attraction. The dissemination of popularscience knowledge in both an intelligible and entertaining form is gaining in importance. Planetarium institutions are already contributing to the popularization of astronomy and related sciences. One of the latest Jena large-size Cosmorama planetaria opened its doors in 1984 to visitors in Edmonton, Canada, where the Space Sciences Center has the first model of this new generation of Jena-made largesize planerariums combined with an IMAX film theater. This new science center has proved to be one of the most modern and fascinating planetarium installations in the world.

The services of Jena are, however, not restricted to the supply of equipment alone. As a general contractor, it can also handle complete construction of planerariums. A typical example of this kind of turnkey project is the planetarium in Tripoli, commissioned in 1981. In the construction of the planetarium in Wolfsburg, West Germany, several companies shared their know-how and special ser-

It is estimated that 400 planerariums in 50 countries are visited by over 20 million people every year. This is considered high appreciation of the work done by the designers, engineers and workers of Carl Zeiss Jena, who are inspired to further upgrade their equipment. It is also an acknowledgment and appreciation of the Jena planerarium concept, which is based on more than 60 years' experience.

Planetariums Exported by Kombinat VEB Carl Zeiss JÉNA GDR 6900 Jena Carl-Zeiss-Str. 1 Telephone: 830. Telex: 5886122

Performance, Design and Decoration of Suhl Hunting Guns

OR hunters all over the world, Suhl-made guns enjoy an extraordinary reputation. Suhl's talented gunsmiths and engravers fashion from a few pounds of metal and wood true works of art. The quality and precision of these weapons guarantee perfect accuracy even Hunting guns have been made in Suhl, a county seat in southwest East Germany, for 450 years. They are as famous for their precision as they are for their elegant design and rich decoration. Filigree engraving, richly carved and inlaid stocks. and universal barrel combinations are the hallmarks of these superbly crafted guns.

The range of drop-barrel guns is unique in the world. It includes double shotguns, versatile over-and-under shotguns and universal triple-barreled rifles. The more than 60 basic models allow for several thousand variations to satisfy every hunting need. Because they are made to measure to every imaginable specification, hunting guns from Suhl are considered very precious.

Suhl is perhaps best known for its triple-barreled rifles. The first ever to be manufactured was made by a Suhl gunsmith in the 19th century, and since then over two-thirds of the world's production has come from this one town. With their careful construction, fine workmanship and original design, they are railor-made to meet the most personalized hunting needs. With two barrels for small game and one for larger game, these combination guns are ideal for the mixed hunting so often encountered in Northern and Central Europe. Outstanding qualities of Suhl triple-barreled rifles are their excellent balance, perfect accuracy, ease of handling and optimum safety features.

Hunting Guns Exported by Transportmaschinen Export-Import Exportkontor Suhler Jagdwaffen GDR-6000 Suhl Wilhelm-Pieck-Str.16. Telex: 62233.

The 95 k triple-barreled shotgun, a novelty from Suhl.

Centuries of Good Reading: The Leipzig Book Fair

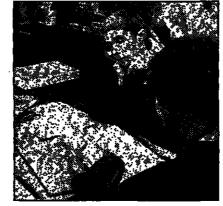

S early as the 15th century before the first books were printed — the city of Leipzig was becoming an important center of European trade. The trade in manuscripts, facilitated by university life, developed rapidly, and eventually the trade in books became established there as well. Thus the book fair grew up under the arcades of the old Town Hall, in the stalls and yards around the marketplace.

By 1594 the fair had become so big that a book trader by the name of Henning Grosse decided to bring out a trade catalogue. In the second half of the 18th century, when German literature was flourishing, one of the leading publishers of that epoch, Philipp Erasmus Reich, declared Leipzig to be "the capital of the German book trade."

During the 18th and 19th centuries, numerous publishing houses emerged in Leipzig, which still contribute to the city's international reputation as a book center today. By 1910 some 10,000 people were employed in the city's publishing industry. Some 7,000 firms were supplied with books from Leipzig. Unfortunately, fascism and war destroyed a great deal of this historic book trade.

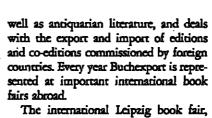

Now Leipzig has regained its worldwide reputation as a city of books. It is the hub of the German Democratic Republic's book trade and a center for the export and import of printed material. Over half of the GDR's 78 book publishing houses are located in Leipzig. Traditionally, its focus has been on literature relating to the natural sciences and technology, on encyclopedias and other reference books. In belles lettres, its emphasis has been on literary heritage. As a city of music too, Leipzig bosses most of the country's music publishing houses. In addition, the city's scientific and specialist publishing houses bring out some 100 periodicals. This means that a fifth of all GDR periodicals are published in Leipzig.

Since 1953, the foreign trade publication firm Buchexport Leipzig has been steadily increasing business contacts throughout the world, and now has links with partners in 100 countries. Buchexport enables publishing house and book traders in other countries to choose from some 16,000 titles available, among them 6,500 first and second printings annually. It also handles orders of periodicals, music items, reproductions, globes and maps as the oldest of its kind in the world, provides extensive information about book production in East Germany. It is an important meeting place for publishers and book traders from all over the world. In the Messehaus am Markt building, more than 1,000 domestic and foreign publishers provide information about their current programs.

Interest is keen in the editions of the renowned publishing house for art and science.

As a city of books, Leipzig is home to several libraries, including the world-famous German Library, founded in 1912. Leipzig also has printing plants, polygraphical engineering firms and education centers for all book-related trades and

Building on the success of the first international book exhibition in 1927. special exhibitions have been held regularly in the city ever since, under the wellknown initials "iba." These exhibitions are world galleries of beautiful books, featuring displays of many handsomely designed volumes.

Books Exported by Buchexport Leninstr. 16 GDR-7010 Leipzig Telex: 51678.

German

Sept. 4-10, 1988 March 12-18, 1989

Fair cards and information may be obtained from agencies and representatives of the Leipziger Messeamt in 90 countries and at all points of entry to the GDR.

Further information from Leipziger Messeamt, GDR-7010 Leipzig, Postfach 720. Tel: 71810. Telex: 512 294.

Comfort, Services, Hospitality, in the heart of Europe

As the leading hotel chain in the German Democratic Republic we offer tourists and business travelers alike all the prerequisites for a oleasant stay

* We accept your reservations and apply for the necessary visa at your request.

* We guarantee transfers to and from any European airport in our comfortable hotelowned limousines.

 We have our own car hire system, RENT A CAR, which is linked with Hertz, AVIS and europcar.

* We organize conventions, seminars, conferences and working dinners in elegant salons.

* We book theater and concert tickets and offer interesting tourist programs.

★ We arrange further travel inside and outside the GDR through the reservation systems of Golden Tulip World Wide and Supranational Hotel Reservations.

Please contact:

INTERHOTEL DDR INTERNATIONAL SALES

GDR-1080 Berlin Tel: 2204 207/327. Tx: 114143. or one of the following

Friedrichstraße 150-153

GRAND HOTEL

Friedrichstraße 158-162

GDR-1080 Berlin

Tel: 209 20

five-star hotels:

Tel: 24 10. Tx: 115050.

Hotel METROPOL Friedrichstraße 150-153 GDR-1080 Berlin. Tel: 220 40. Tx: 114141.

Hotel MERKUR Gerberstraße GDR-7010 Leipzig. Tel: 79 90.

Tx: 512609.

Hotel BELLEVUE Köpckestraße GDR-8060 Dresden. Tel: 566 27 42. Tx: 26271.

References

Mas Deprez Cockeril Medical

House Desire Stemens AC Febru

Jan lunking Vilayana Call

Rrian J White, The Canal

th bear Board, Canada

A Commence of the Commence of

The last transfer to the last transfer transfer to the last transfer transf

The same same

71. T. DES

್ರವತ್ತಿ ಸಂ_{ಪತ್ತ}ಕ್ಷ¶

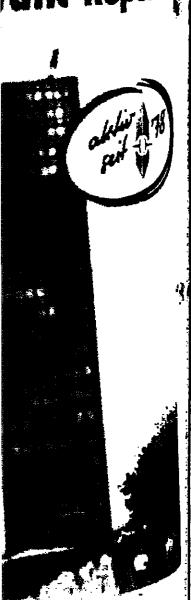

et. Attace

The orange of the contract of

Inheren Web, C topole

Republic of Germani:

Land Marie Angle

Democratic Republic

By Sandra Blakeslee New York Times Service

T OS ANGELES - While researchers still disagree Labout the function of dreams, whether they are central or peripheral to our well-being, proponents of modern dream research say that they have discovered ways to explore mind and body relationships, to assist people in psychotherapy and to promote creative problem solving.

One technique helps put people into an extraordinary state of sleep, called lucid dreaming, so that researchers can explore how much control people have over their dreams.

"In most of our dreams our inner eye of reflection is shut and we sleep within our sleep," said Dr. Stephen LaBerge, a pioneer in the technique who is affiliated with Stanford University's sleep research clinic. "The exception takes place when we seem to awake within our dreams, without disturbing or ending the dream state, and learn to recognize that we are dreaming while the dream is still happening. If you can say to yourself while dreaming that 'what I am doing just now is dreaming, you are in fact

In other dream research laboratories, scientists have found that it takes about six days to fully incorporate memorable experiences into dreams. They also have found that people who are good at recalling their dreams have different brain wave patterns and more flexible styles of thinking than those who tend not to recall their dreams. These findings were described at a recent conference on sleep research in San Diego.

The research into lucid dreaming is interesting because such dreams have been associated with mystical and religious experiences throughout history, Dr. LaBerge said. But he added that the phenomenon lay beyond the ken of science, until experiments conducted at Stanford in the early 1980s allowed researchers to interact with lucid dreamers. At the Stanford sleep laboratory, and now elsewhere, lucid dreamers have been trained to use prearranged eye movements behind closed lids to signal observers that they are "awake within their dreams," he said, while instruments prove that the dreamers remain physiologically asleep. After a lucid dream is over, scientists awaken the dreamer and compare their observations with what the dreamer has experienced.

Most people have had at least one lucid dream in their lifetime. Dr. LaBerge said, even if it is only an awareness of dreaming that comes at the end of particularly realistic and frightening nightmare. And he said most people, if motivated, can be trained to have lucid dreams. "For the first time in history we have been able to receive on-the-scene reports from the dream world as dream events happen or seem to happen," Dr. LaBerge said.

The state of being simultaneously awake and asleep may seem paradoxical, "but it is resolved by realizing that asleep and conscious refer to different domains," he said. "Lucid dreamers are asleep in regard to the physical world because they are not in conscious sensory contact with it. Likewise, they are awake to the inner worlds of their dreams because they are in conscious contact with them."

To better understand the phenomenon, Dr. La-Berge has conducted scores of laboratory experiments with lucid dreamers in an effort to understand how much control they have over their dreams, how long the dreams last and how the body physically reacts to the dream state.

People experience five or six dream periods, marked by a flutter of rapid eye movements called REM, that last a total of about 100 minutes each night. The Stanford group has developed techniques that help people attain the lucid dream state. Dr. LaBerge said. One, called the mnemonic induction of lucid dreams, "is based on visualizing yourself doing what you intend to remember," he said. "You train yourself to think, 'Next time I'm dreaming, I want to recognize I'm dreaming."

A second technique is called reality testing. A person asks, "Am I dreaming or not?" at least 5 to 10 times a day and in every situation that seems dreamlike. In addition, external cues are given to people at the moment REM sleep begins. Dr. LaBerge has tried sounds, smells and lights. He has even invented goggles, called dream lights, that sense when REM sixth nights the students tended to dream more sleep begins and flash red lights into the eyes of the dreamers to jog their conscious minds awake within Clinical psychologists have begun using hicid dreams, Dr. LaBerge said, to help people who suffer from chronic nightmares create new endings for their dreams. "Lucid dreaming has considerable potential for promoting personal growth and self-development, enhancing self-confidence, improving mental and physical health, facilitating creative problem solving and helping you to progress on the path to self-mastery," he said.

A research subject wears goggles that sense eye movements, which suggest he is dreaming.

Other researchers are looking at how memories are incorporated into dreams. Freud noted that every dream can be connected with a day's residue of thoughts and events, said Dr. Tore Nielsen, a research associate at the University of Alberta. "But we don't always dream about the day before," he said. "Childhood memories and recent and remote events are all mixed together."

To test how and when events are incorporated into dreams, Dr. Nielsen had 69 students keep dream diaries for a week. They were also asked to record and date significant events, such as a lover's quarrel or anxiety over a test, that happened that week.
When judges compared events to dreams, they found that an important event was usually incorporated into a dream on the first night after the event.

about the event.

Using computer techniques, other researchers have found physiological differences between people who tend to remember their dreams and those who do not. People who have high recall remember four or more dreams a week, said Dr. Roseanne Armi-tage, a researcher at the University of Ottawa. Low recallers remember no more than one dream a week or perhaps just one a month. She said that dream recall is more common in nonindustrial cultures, where it is seen as important to everyday life.

Only 10 percent of the population is adept at recalling dreams, she said, "We are not a nation of dream recallers because in our culture dreaming is not seen as having a function or purpose."

To see if there are measurable differences between high- and low-frequency dream recallers, Dr. Armitage and Tom Fitch, a student at Carleton University in Ottawa, monitored the brain waves of 24 volunteers. There was an equal number of high recallers and low recallers.

Dr. Armitage said low dream recallers experi-enced a large shift in electrical activity between brain hemispheres when they were awakened from REM sleep. High dream recallers, she said, experienced little electrical disruption between hemispheres when awakened. For them, there was greater conti-Then students dreamed less about the event on the muity in brain processes in the transition from sleep second, third and fourth nights. But on the fifth and to wakefulness.

Research Trove In Kew Debris

By Terry Trucco New York Times Service

T ONDON — The hurricane that L ripped across southern England last October devastated the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew, the 300-acre (120-hectare) repository of plants and trees from throughout the world. Nearly 1,000 trees, almost 10 percent of the collection, were severely battered or destroyed.

Members of Kew's staff call Oct.

16 the worst day in the 229-year history of the gardens. The damage took nearly six months to clear and assess. But now scientists realize tect the environment far beyond the borders of Kew.

"What we've tried to do is get the maximum benefit out of the disaster." said David F. Cutler, head of the plant anatomy section at Kew's Jodreli Laboratory.

The large number of trees with exposed roots has aided research into root system development and the chemical properties of roots, including possible natural pesticides. Studies of rings from fallen trees are providing detailed information on the effects of pollution on varieties of trees grown at Kew. Scientists also hope that analysis of the storm's effects will help them identify the kinds of trees and planting arrangements most likely to survive severe storms. In addition, the storm accelerated an intensive tree-planting program. Since the mid-1970s, more than 170 new trees from known sources have been planted annually. They will eventually replace older trees whose unknown origins make them less useful to scientists. It's often a difficult decision to remove a tree from Kew, even if it's of little value to taxonomists," said Mark Flanagan, former supervisor of the gardens and arboretum at Kew. "The storm made the decisions for us." Mr. Flanagan is now at Wake-hurst Place, the Royal Botanic Gardens' other property in Sussex, where storm damage is even worse.

Kew normally loses five or six trees during storms, but unusual conditions made the October gale particularly destructive. A week of heavy rains preceded the storm, and most of the deciduous trees were still in full leaf, making it easy for fierce gusts to yank top-heavy were entering their dormant period.

the worst time of year for conventional propagation from cuttimes

Material from

To Help Bring

ONDON — Britains up the responsible respon

Portion of the care (act

Principle of the file of the f

the second of th

ins mouse the Armonists

Many Services and Services (12)

appraise to the same state of the same there are same state of the same state of the

Rounties to the same of the same of have to work a same of the sam

ment of have to work. See the ment in no way on the ment of the care wination of the care and addition to the care and addition to the care and a second of the care and a proments corresponding in responsibility.

RESTREE SHE PERSON NAME OF

losen and contained the rep losen and contained the rep logoromics. However, the first densed for northy that third care and to make present the sale in British for the lates with the said Mr. Mess The 133 or page 30 y because a see the see

ICCORDING to the report,

A Partier are the three EC incompletes are the control of the of corporations.

proposed to the deal of compa

A grat a matter than the Hard in providing the decare been for one the French to Land Them being the in trooping child bons from Puns The same manner and entravers of Fr distributed to the Auditor

Morning's total waters for act miner factor account

mand to there under 3 are feet is More sent, while in Box point being retirements and a is the same fact that a first a fact a first a fir

"As time to a secondary of days on distrayent various between common local authorities and impresses. Linear National Organization for Child Co.

in for delice under 4 lineare pa feling ver meinte eine estim

Manager amparies are o

See CARE, F

FF CARRY CAR

Currence

CALL TANK

Currency Per 9
F. marriella (Cr)s
Greet drop. 148.45
Hope Kong 5 149.56
Indoor mann 149.5

back the report said

"这种是这一是打造"

ter Bellar Values

Mer Bollar Values

Inc. Pers Currency
Inc. Pers Cur

hard Rates

通過日本金融資訊 feet artist in and Denn

معتقالة المحاسبة moral of distinct

most important trees was divided: into two groups. One large set of twigs and other material was placed in cold storage for the winter, then grafted onto stalks in April. The successful grafts will ter main in Kew's nursery at least until next spring before being planted, said Charles Erskine, assistant carator of the Kew arboretum.

The second group of cuttings came from the 15 rarest casualties. They went to Kew's micropropaga research material that should prove valuable for those working to protion unit, which specializes in tis effort to induce them to sprouts shoots out of season.

If that did not work, a tiny piece of live material was taken from the of live material was taken from the center of the bud and placed in a gel of hormones, nutrients and other growth regulators to induce. shoots. Resulting shoots from both types of tissue cultures were then placed in agar gel and surrounded by growth hormones in an effort ic luce more shoots. :.

It now appears that "only fine" or four" of the tissue culture; succeed, said Michael Fay, superasor of the micropropagation init. The root research may eventual.

ly lead to the development of safe. natural pest repellants or anti-fun-gus treatments, Mr. Cutler said, By October, the trees were storing loss:
of starch for the winter, which at tracts small mammals and fungi Trees have evolved defense systems over the years, Mr. Cutter said. Among the 500 trees lost in the storm was an oak planted by Queen. Charlotte 200 years ago, which was mainly of historical value, and and extremely rare Malus trilohatu. wild apple tree from the Middle. East. The storm also wiped out, much of the garden's formal landscaping.

For a first-time visitor unfamilian with specific trees, Kew shows few signs of the storm. A number of old, and important trees survived, in cluding a 226-year-old Chinese sing-ke. Yet it could take as long as 50. years for Kew to regain its former, appearance, staff members said.

Landscaping constraints insure that the Kew of the future will look much like the Kew of the past. Trees and plants will still be arranged by family. And historic landscaping, such as that of Capability Brown in the 18th century, and W.A. Nesfield in the 19th, will Psychologists Find Evidence Man Has Dual Memory Banks (The expression "common sense" derives picture, he said, "Dolphin lives in wa- how various brain functions are compart- language and comprehension of the spoken from this view.) They are trained to jump up and mentalized. Such studies have led to the word. A detailed examination turned up

By Boyce Rensberger

T WO British psychologists have discovered evidence that the brain has at least two separate memory systems, one storing information that can be recalled only upon seeing a given object, the other able to retrieve its data only when the name of the object is heard.

Their finding, if confirmed, would chalsensory system. This assumption can be traced back at least to Aristotle, who claimed the mind had a general sensory system common to all the special senses. guess, "A fish or a bird." Upon seeing a the richest sources of information about of a progressive deterioration in his use of store."

NYSE Most Actives

409187 18½ 18½ 18½ 18½ 4 ½
20911 13½ 12% 13½ 13½ 4 ½ 1503 5¾ 5¾ 5½ 5% 4 ¼ 14821 29¾ 28½ 29¼ 4 ¼ 14877 116¾ 113½ 114¾ —1½

Dow Jones Bond Averages

AAR 6 124 15 18
6 ACM 1 140 123
6 ACM 1 1 140 123
6 ACM 1 1 140 123
6 ACM 1 1 1 1 20
6 AMC A
6 AM 1 1 1 1 1 20
6 AMC A
6 AM 1 1 1 1 1 20
6 AMC A
6 AM 1 1 1 1 20
7 AAR 1 1 1 1 20
7 AAR 1 1 1 1 20
8 AMC A
8 AM 1 1 1 20
8 AMC A
8 AM 1 1 1 20
8 AMC A
8 AM 1 1 1 20
8 AMC A
8

tained an unusual form of brain damage of unknown cause. The damage, confined to a small region of his left temporal lobe, appears to have knocked out his ability to name of a living thing. The researchers say remember the meaning of names of objects this hints at a specialized memory system spoken to him. Shown a picture of the devoted to information about animals and object, however, his memory is normal. plants.

lenge a common assumption that the brain has a single library of stored information asked to define the word "rhinoceros," he "pig," he could only offer, "Animal." But and that it can be called up in response to and that it can be called up in response to replied, "Animal, can't give you any func- when asked to define "lighthouse," he said, stimuli from the eyes, ears or any other tions." But when shown a picture of a "Round the coast, built up, tall building, rhinoceros, he responded, "Enormous, lights revolve to warn ships." weighs over one ton, lives in Africa."
Studies of individuals with Market Sales

animal to go through to look into ships." Moreover, tests indicate his deficit is tivities. especially bad when the heard word is the

Asked to define a dolphin, he could only ized brain damage have long been among medical attention because he complained

High Low Close Chips

The discovery emerged from experiments with a 63-year-old man who susing, vision and other brain-controlled ac- detected only by using a relatively new

> Such studies, however, are also controversial because the number of people being A. McCarthy and E.K. Warrington, both studied is so small for most types of injury. To confirm their inferences from testing one patient, they must wait for another "natural experiment" that damages another person's brain in the same way.

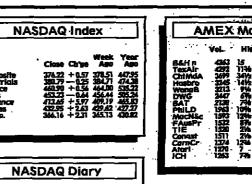

The patient in this case, identified only as T.O.B. in a report in Nature, was a Studies of individuals with highly local-senior British civil servant. T.O.B. came to form of brain-scanning equipment. The researchers who studied T.O.B. and made their report in Nature were Rosaleen of the National Hospital for Nervous Diseases in London. They said various tests persuaded them to discount the possibility that there was only one memory system and that the damaged area involved only a link between it and the hearing centers.

"These findings," they wrote, "call into question the widely accepted view that the simple all-nurpose meaning storm had struck just as the trees.

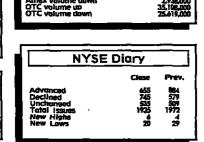

222 316 290 295 257 312

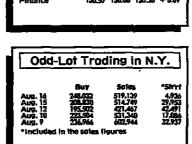

-- 0.06 -- 0.27 + 0.15

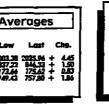

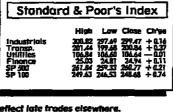

NYSE Index

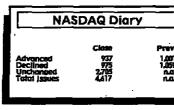

Wednesdays

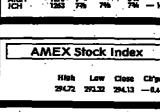

Div. Yid. PE 1885 High Low Quat. Chige

AMEX Diary

Div. Yid. PE 100s High Low Quot. Cirge

YSE Mixed in Dull Trading

NEW YORK - Stock prices closed mixed

Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange, after directionless trading, as investors retreated to the sidelines to consolidate gains scored in the previous session.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 17.24 points on Tuesday, managed a gain of 4.45 to close at 2,025.96.

Declines outpaced advances, however, by about a 7-6 ratio. Volume on the NYSE totaled 169.5 million shares, compared with 162.79 million traded Tuesday. About a quarter of the total volume was accounted for by trades by investors seeking to capture the 12.1 percent dividend yielded by Philadelphia Electric, which goes ex-dividend Thursday.

Broad market indexes posted modest gains. The New York Stock Exchange composite index edged up 0.15 of a point to 147.64. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index gained 0.21 to 260.77.

The price of an average share rose 3 cents.

Al Goldman, market strategist with A.G.

Edwards & Sons in St. Louis, said the lack of follow-through on Tuesday's gains was disappointing.
"We were in a short-term oversold condition and short-term sentiment had turned bearish, and we were in a position for a rally," Mr. Goldman said. "We got one," he said of Tuesday's rise, "but it really didn't have any oomph, and today the market is sitting there flat as a Hildegard Zagorski, market analyst with Pru-average Amex share I dential-Bache Securities Inc., considered the totaled 8.75 million session to have been positive in the last analysis. million Tuesday.

 "Today we were waiting to see what the market was going to do in terms of was it going to go into the tank or would it break out on the upside," Ms. Zagorski said. "It did neither."

She said Wednesday's activity laid the foundation of the foundation of the foundation of the said wednesday."

dation for a further advance, if participants Philadelphia Electric was the most active NYSE-listed issue, up 4 to 18½ on volume of nearly 41 million shares.

It was followed by Niagara Mohawk, up % to 13%. Navistar was third, off % to 5%. AT&T fell % to 24%. IBM sank 1% to 114%.

Among other active blue chips, General Motors slipped % to 74%. General Electric added 1/2 to 40%. USX slipped % to 28 and American Express climbed % to 29%.

Computer and high technology issues ended mostly lower. Hewlett-Packard fell 1% to 44%.

Prime Computer dropped 1% to 12% and Digital Equipment sank 3 to 94%. McGraw-Hill rose 2% to 68% on renewed takeover rumors.

Polaroid, which rejected a $24-a-share bid from Shamrock Holdings on Tuesday, gained 4

Macmillan, the object of competing takeover bids from Bass Group of Texas and the businessman, Robert Maxwell, slipped 1% to 82.

Prices closed narrowly lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

The American Stock Exchange index slipped 0.44 of a point to 294.13, and the price of an average American Stock Exchange index slipped 1.

totaled 8.75 m million Tuesday	illion shan	cents. Ames	with 9	104k 3434 2234	13 19 10 15 4 33
iż Morath High Law Stack	Dn Yld, PE	51s. 100s High Low	Clase Quet. Ores	31/3 2 24%	753 773 101 31
211/2 12 ArtwEp 413/2 11 Artro 37 143/4 Arvin	M1.94 11.5	83 17 1644 825 2742 26 61 2174 2174	16% — 12 27% + % 21%	1944 63½ 21 1636	311 81 101 124
11% 10% AsCool n 37% 23% AshOll s 11% 3% AsioPc	1 1.00 3.0 10 1.60 7.4	74 64 646 70 22 21%	10% 33 + \(\frac{1}{2}\) 6% — \(\frac{1}{2}\)	96 16 14½ 14½	12 31
28 1936 AllGos 3610 2834 AtlEntry 9736 5834 AtlRich 22810 15502 AtlRc pr	1,76 6.6 10 2,76 8.5 9 4,90 4.9 10 2,80 1.4	125 321/2 327/s 2614 811/2 81 184 1939	32% 81% + % 1934 —1%	531/2 2 2281/2 16 37/2 2 34/2 3	10 V
26 1076 Augor 374 10 Augint 54% 324 AutoDt	21 40 16 23 50 19 16 52 14 18	79 494 41/2 794 111/2 111/6 1754 3296 32	4% 17% — % 32% 37% — %	75% 4 18% 47% 3	٤٧ 5
28% 14% AVMCO 29% 15% Averv 38% 18% Avnet 38 19% Avon	48 23 20 50 25 14 100 43 64	129 24% 24 2037 20% 20% 2611 20% 19% 2500 2126 27%	24 — 4 2012 — 4 1978 — 4 23/4 + 34	29 2 1934 1 4379 2	100 120 120 170
244 23% Avon of 154 16 Avola	2,00 8.6	114 25% 25% 59 22% 22%	23% - % 22% + %	3014 1 42 1 2514 1	7
					•
31% 23% BCE 9 20% 13% BET	2.44 .76e 5.0 12	450 29% 29% 45 15% 15%	29% — 1/a 15% — 1/a	18 1 28% 1 52% 4	2% 2 0
	12 Morth High Low Steck 12 Ma Arowe 13 Ma Arowe 14 Ma 11 14 Arvin 15 Augrea 11 Ma Askept 15 Askept 16 Ma Askept 16 Ma Askept 16 Ma Askept 16 Ma Askept 17 Ma Askept 17 Ma Askept 17 Ma Askept 17 Ma	12 Month High Line Stock On Vid. PE 12 Ma APA Arrows 213 211/a 12 Arrows pril. 94 11.5 213 211/b 12 Arrows pril. 94 11.5 214 Arriva A8 3.7 26 34% 15 Argarco 35 3.5 3 1194 134 AsCapin 379 2314 AsCapin 379 2314 AsCapin 379 2314 AsCapin 1194 334 AsCapin 254 979 Affiliane 1.66 7.6 4 10 361/2 254 Affiliane 1.66 6.8 10 361/2 254 Affiliane 1.67 6.8 10 361/2 374 Affiliane 1.67 1.9 16 361/2 374 Affiliane 1.67 1.9 16 361/2 374 Audit 1.67 1.9 16 361/2 374 1.67 1.9 16 361/2 374 1.67 1.9 16 361/2 374 1.9 16 361/2	12 Month High Law Steck Dr. Vid. PE 305 High Low 12 Ma Arowe Dr. Vid. PE 305 High Low 12 Ma Arowe Dr. Vid. PE 305 High Low 12 Ma Arowe Dr. Vid. PE 305 High Low 12 Ma Arowe Dr. Vid. PE 305 High Low 13 March 11 Arthro 82 17 26 61 27% 27% 14 March 12 Arome 80 15 3 58 22 27% 14 March 15 Asterio 80 15 3 58 22 27% 14 March 15 Asterio 80 15 3 58 22 27% 14 March 15 Asterio 80 15 3 58 22 27% 15 March 15 Asterio 80 15 3 58 22 27% 15 March 16 March 16 17 4 70 22 21% 15 March 16 March 16 17 4 70 22 21% 15 March 16 March 16 17 4 70 22 21% 15 March 16 March 16 17 4 70 22 21% 15 March 16	12 Month High Law Steck Dr. Vid. PE 105 High Low Qual. Cross 12 May Arowse Dr. Vid. PE 105 High Low Qual. Cross 12 May Arowse Dr. Vid. PE 105 High Low Qual. Cross 12 May Arowse Dr. Vid. PE 105 High Low Qual. Cross 12 May Arowse Dr. Vid. PE 105 High Low Qual. Cross 12 May Arowse Dr. Vid. PE 105 High Low Qual. Cross 13 May 16 May 17 May 17 May 18 May 1	12 Morsh 12 Morsh 13 Morsh 15 Morsh 15 Morsh 16 Morsh 17 Morsh 17 Morsh 18 M

C3 Inc Cober Consultation of the Carlot of the Carlot of the Carlot of the Carlot of C

AT MORE IN THE SECOND STATE OF THE SECOND SE Interest

Salita Franks Court is Court in Court in Court in Court in 2000年 · 1000年 11204 4174 75 70 4% 47/4

(5); 11904 116

Hades Laboratoria Parking Laboratoria Hades Laboratoria Laboratori

and the same

1704249

Talling

THE REAL PROPERTY.

C. Miss

1.5

er armenia

1000 m (1년) 원년

€CLUTIO NOLL MEMBE

Transcore to - SEE - SEE

INTERNATIONAL MANAGER

EC Businesses Are Urged To Help Bring Up Babies

By SHERRY BUCHANAN

International Herald Tribune

ONDON — Bringing up baby in the European Community has long been the responsibility of parents and governments. At the moment, corporations finance only a tiny portion of the care facilities for preschoolers. But child-care agencies in some of the EC's 12 member countries are beginning to seek such corporate sponsorship.

An EC report comparing the availability of nurseries in different countries said that governments should encourage corporations, through incentives, to help fund kindergartens for their report recognizes the need for a positive, although limited, corporate role, primarily because there are not sufficient child-care facilities in many International Herald Tribune child-care facilities in many EC countries to meet growing demand from women who want or have to work. But the report in no way endorses privatization of child-care.

"In addition to family and firms should be encouraged by tax and other incentives governments, employers also have responsibility. In general, this responsibility should not require them to provide child-care services," said Peter Moss, of the Thomas Coram Institute in London, and co-author of the report, "Childcare and Equality of Opportunity." "However, until publicly funded services can meet the need for workplace child care, employers should be encouraged to make a requirement the need for workplace child care, employers should be encouraged to make a requirement that are of other incentives and the aged to make provision, through tax or other incentives and the removal of disincentives." In Britain, for instance, "kids are taxed just like a company Acar," said Mr. Moss. The tax on company child-care benefits agiven as a perquisite was introduced in 1985 as part of the "Thatcher government's efforts to discourage perks.

CCORDING to the report, Greece, the Netherlands and Portugal are the three EC countries where employers are the most active in caring for toddlers. But the majority of these employers are hospitals, universities and local governments, not corporations. Still, with budget crunches, governments are no longer opposed to the idea of corporate help for parents who have preschool children.

"In some companies, the comité d'entreprise is now taking an interest in providing child-care benefits to employees and, for the first time, the French government recognizes companies have a legitimate role in providing child-care allowances to their enployees," Yvonne Colleret, of the research institut, Institut de la firmilla said in Paris The comparisons on which both the Famille, said in Paris. The committees, on which both the management and employees of French companies are represented, are responsible for allocating an average of about 1 percent of the company's total wages for activities that benefit employees.

France, northern Italy and Denmark are relatively well provided with day-care facilities, according to the report. In Denmark, 44 percent of the children under 3 are in publicly funded nurseries; in France it is 20 percent, while in Britain and the Netherlands it is 1 percent. In the Netherlands, only 5 to 6 percent of the women with children under 5 work full time; in Denmark, 90 percent do. Britain has the worst facilities for children up to 3, followed by Netherlands the report said lands, the report said.

"As there is a shortage of day-care centers, the best solution is either a joint venture between companies and parents or between local authorities and parents," Liasbath Pott, of the Netherland's National Organization for ChildCare, said in Utrech She said that, for children under 4, there is a waiting list of 70,000. If the facilities were available, she estimated, there would be 160,000

See CARE, Page 13

EC Wins An End to Irish Bid

U.K. Group Drops Offer for Distiller

BRUSSELS — The British consortium GC&C Brands Ltd. has agreed to drop a joint bid for Irish Distillers PLC after a landmark in-

Distillers FLC after a landmark in-tervention by the European Com-mission, EC and company spokes-men said on Wednesday.

Irish Distillers, which makes the Jameson and Bushmills Irish whis-keys, last month rejected the GC&C bid and appealed to the commentation rules competition rules. The commission wrote to GC&C, a consortium owned by Guinness PLC, Grand Metropolitan PLC and Allied-Lyons PLC, complaining about how it was conducting the bid, worth 200 million lrish punt ($288 million).

This is the first time the commis-

This is the first time the commission, fighting for greater control over EC mergers, has intervened in a bid, on competition grounds, be-fore it has been completed. An EC spokesman said GC&C would now pass under the single control of a Grand Metropolitan subsidiary, Gilbeys of Ireland. Grand Metropolitan has until Friday to maintain an offer for Irish Distillers through a wholly-owned GC&C. Grand Metropolitan is free to restructure the bid made by the former consortium

GC&C, subject to the approval of Britain's Takeover Panel. The commission spokesman added that after the original bid lapses on Friday, Guinness and Allied Lyons, or any other firm, will have 28 days to make individual counterbids for Irish Distillers.

■ Japan-France Wine Deal The New York Times reported

The Takashimaya Group, a chain of department stores in Japan, has agreed to acquire a one-third interest in Société Leroy, a Burgundy wine wholesaler and shipper that has exclusive rights to the distribution of Romanee-Conti, the most famous of all red Burgondy wines and probably the most expensive red wine in the world.

The investment, valued at about $14 million, marks the first appearance of the Japanese in the vineyards of Burgundy, Japanese com-panies already own three wine chateaux in Bordeaux.

By Steven Greenhouse

New York Times Service

PARIS — An inquiry into a ma-jor European stock swindle intensi-fied Wednesday as Swiss authori-ties asked U.S. officials to furnish information about several overthe-counter companies that European authorities are investigating in connection with the multimillion prosecuting magistrate in Geneva, said he had sent an official letter to the U.S. Securities and Exchange

Commission on Wednesday asking it to investigate between 10 and 15

In a telephone interview, the Swiss magistrate said he wanted to know whether those companies co-operated in a swindle in which more than a half dozen investment firms have been accused of soliciting money from investors and then

French authorities have also asked the SEC for assistance. European investigators said they wanted to know whether the American over-the-counter companies whose absconding with the funds.

American companies.

Laurent Kasper-Ansermet, a

Gulf's Reconstruction Rush Is On

Foreigners Seek Slices of Likely $30 Billion Pie

By Steve Lohr

LONDON - In the wake of the cease-fire announcement in the Iran-Iraq war, foreign dele-gations have been descending on the capitals of the two Gulf nations to put diplomatic relations on a closer footing and to pro-mote economic interests.

In recent days, missions repre-senting Italy, Britain, West Germany, Japan and Australia have been in Tehran or Baghdad. The cease-fire is to begin Saturday.

With the cost estimates of replacing war-damaged oil pipe-lines, ports, factories and hous-ing in Iran and Iraq ranging past $30 billion over the next few years, peace in the Gulf could mean a big market for foreign suppliers.

"The Western countries and Japan are already scrambling to get a piece of the postwar reconstruction business," said Gosh-tasb Firoozan, a Middle East specialist for Energy Interna-tional Ltd., a London-based consultancy.

The rush for reconstruction work by legions of latter-day carpetbaggers is but one of the economic dividends some analysts said they saw in the end of the

For the oil-dependent Gulf states, peace could bring a new spirit of cooperation within OPEC to restrain production and stabilize oil prices.

The case for regional optimism includes other important elements as well: a reintegration of Iran's economy into the international trading and financial system, a pickup of shipping through the Gulf and increased investment and growth for the entire area as business confidence revives.

"A genuine peace would give everybody a chance to get on with business," said Joseph C. Story, head of Gulf Consulting Services in McLean, Virginia. "It's hard to measure, but peace will change attitudes investment will change attitudes, investment decisions and the whole business Still, Gulf analysts also agreed that a postwar economic revival faces uncertainties.

Europeans Seek U.S. Aid in Stock Swindle Inquiry

penny stocks.

For example, even if the truce holds, which is by no means assured, the progression to a treaty

The scam involved more than 5.000 investors in Switzerland,

France, West Germany and other countries, and Mr. Kasper-Ansermet estimated that between $80 million and $150 million was lost in the fraud. Several investigators said that more than $200 million has been lost, which would make the affair one of Europe's largest securities scandals. The firms were often based in the Geneva and Nice areas, but investigators said the network stretched from Spain to Sweden and stocks were sold to investors in the Middle East, Asia

French and Swiss investigators said the investment firms published and South America.

The oil rig Sea Island on fire in Kuwait in 1987 after being struck by a

Wartime Economies

Iran			Iraq
Population	45.0 million		Population	16.4 million
Per Capita G.N.P.	$4,000		Per Capita G.N.P.	$3,400
Current Account Balance -	-$1.7 billion		Current Account Balance	_$3.8 billion
Total Debt	$4.1 billion		Total Debt	$12.9 billion
Interest Payments*	$249 million		Interest Payments*	$826 million
Armed Forcest	1 million		Armed Forces†	1.6 million
Short- and long- † Active and reser	term debt rve forces	. :	*Short- and ion † Active and req	e-term debt erve forces
kran's G.N	P.	•	traq's G.)	LP.
120			50 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20 20
" In billions of U.S. dollars			" In billions of b	J.S. dottars

signed and ratified by both sides could take months or even years. In addition, both governments face the challenge of demobilizing their huge armies and reorienting their economies to peacetime without causing large-scale unemployment or political up-

"Both regimes have to walk a tightrope," said Don Kerr, an analyst for the International Institute for Strategic Studies in

"People will be less willing to put up with rationing and deprivation after the war. They will look for a grateful state to pro-vide a land fit for heroes, but that will not be easy or cheap."

Because of the difficulty of making the transition to a peacetime economy, most analysts do not think that increased trade and growth for the region will Shipping agents in Bahrain and Dubai, for example, said traffic in the Gulf would rise if the peace holds, but they did not predict a windfall. "We're not going to dance in the streets

See WAR, Page 13

Investigators said the swindle -

French investigator said they are

Soaring Dollar Ignores Sales by Central Banks

NEW YORK - The dollar closed sharply higher Wednesday, despite intervention by the central banks of the United States and West Germany.

The U.S. currency, powered mainly by expectations that strong economic growth in the United States would result in further increases in interest rates, extended the dramatic reversal seen Tuesday, dealers said.

They said earlier gains in Europe, where the negative aspects of U.S. trade figures for June were played down, helped underpin the rally.

The dollar rose to 1.91 Deutsche marks at the close in New York, from 1.8895 DM at Tuesday's close, after shrugging off the effects of intervention to burst through 1.90 in London, where it closed at 1.9090. Against the yen, the dollar rose to 133.925 at the close from 123.700. 133.700 on Tuesday, but was slightly below the 133.920 closing level in London earlier.

Intervention by the Federal Reserve System — at levels up to 1.9160 DM — and the Bundesbank "slowed the dollar but did not stem its rise," said Kathy Jones, a cur-rency analyst at Prudential-Bache Securities Inc. in Chicago. "There also is a lot of enthusiasm for the dollar based on the trade num-

In European trading, the currency touched highs of 1.9155 DM and 134.10 yen.

"Everyone's buying it," said a senior U.S. bank trader in London. There's no one selling it at all except the central banks." Tuesday's decline after the U.S. trade deficit announcement now seemed to have been viewed as a buying opportunity, he said.

The wider-than-expected deficit for June, announced early Tues-day, initially sent the dollar into a tailspin, but it recovered in hectic trading to finish above Monday's

GATT Warns Imbalances Are Harming Trade

GENEVA — U.S. trade im-balances with West Germany and Japan are harming global commercial relations and stirring protectionist sentiment, GATT's director-general, Ar-thur Dunkel, said Wednesday. Reporting on the 1987 work of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, Mr. Dunkel said GATT estimated world trade would grow by 5 percent this year, as in 1987. He called that growth "im-

But, he said, trade imbalmoes "relating to Japan, the United States and the Federal Republic of Germany led to intense protectionist pressures in the United States and elsewhere, and helped to feed exchange rate instabilities and other market uncertainties.

close. Wednesday's action extended those gains. "I did expect some rebound from yesterday's lows, but not this much," said a senior dealer at a large West German bank. This just shows how strong dollar sentiment and how unwilling dealers are to let any negative factors alter

The dollar rose to 1.6040 Swiss. francs at the New York close from 1.5875 on Tuesday, while it advanced to 6.4645 French francs from 6.3985. The British pound, thinly traded ahead of economic data due Thursday, declined to $1.6910 from $1.7015 the day be-

See DOLLAR, Page 15

Fund Managers Say Fed Mistimed Rate Increase

By Anise C. Wallace

NEW YORK - The timing of the Federal Reserve Board's increase in the discount rate last week has made many fund managers nervous about the leadership of the rangement or deliberately participated in a plan to defraud investors and urged them arrested in France, two in Switzer-pated in a plan to defraud investors of the recommended land one in West Germany. U.S. central bank. Investigators said the investment originally reported in the French firms, which had offices in a half-business publication, La Vie Fran-Coming just hours before the Treasury opened bids on refunding $22 billion in debt, the rise of a halfdozen European countries, each caise — involved companies involved go out of business, shut its office and then establish a new fly-by-night investment firm in anoth-cuty Management Services. One percentage point, to 6.5 percent, in the key interest rate seemed to indicate to these investors that the Fed's er city. Sometimes investors re- of the most active was Kettler Inchairman, Alan Greenspan, had eivestment, which according to Swiss ther acted in haste or was merely insensitive to market reaction. "I think he's handling the whole situation abominably," said Seth M. Glickenhaus, senior partner of Glickenhans & Co., which invests

The Fed's move sent the yield on long-term bonds up a quarter of a percentage point, to 9.37 percent, and clipped nearly 4 percent off the value of the New York Stock Exchange's Dow Jones industrial av-"His problems with the commis- also looking for Carl Porto, a Boca erage for the week. Business Week magazine estimated that the discount rate increase might have added about $200 million to the cost of:

"I think the timing was horren-dous," said Harvey P. Eisen, president of Integrated Resources Asset Management, which invests more than $5 billion for individuals andcorporations. "It put in my mind," what is this guy thinking about?"

Mr. Eisen and others said that, by raising the discount rate on the day of the refunding, Mr. Green-span either seemed indifferent to a littery stock market or apparently, felt he had waited too long to make. the move. Either way, they said, the action did not add to their confidence in Mr. Greenspan's role as-economic watchdog. "It shows me he's a little bit scary," Mr. Eisen added. Many investors acknowledge that Mr. Greenspan felt he had to raise rates to slow the economy and prevent the return of high inflation. Before the Fed's announcement, employment figures from the previ-ous week had shown strong growth in the number of jobs in July.

"The July report, coupled with

See GREENSPAN, Page 15

on 15-8-1988 U.S. $257.32 Listed on the Amsterdam Stock Exchange

Information: Pierson, Heldring & Pierson N.V. Herengracht 214, 1016 BS Amsterdam. Tel. + 31 - 20 - 211188.

Pierson, Heldring & Pierson N.V. Herengracht 214, 1016 BS Amsterdar Tel. + 31 - 20 - 211188.

Elysées Court Terme SICAV Luxembourg, 37, rue Notre-Dame

Avis de convocation

Messieurs les Actionnaires sont convoqués par le présent avis à l'Assemblée Géoérale Staturaire qui aura lieu le 6 septembre 1988 à 11.00 heures dans les bureaux de la Kredietbank S.A. Luxembourgeoise, 43, boulevard Royal, Luxembourg, avec l'ordre du jour suivant:

Ordre du jour Rapport de gestion du Conseil d'Administration et du Commis-

Décharge aux Administrateurs et au Commissaire aux Comptes Nomination d'un réviseur d'entreprises agréé.

ELYSÉES MONÉTAIRE SICAV

Avis de convocation

Messieurs les Actionnaires sont convoqués par le présent avis à l'Assemblée Générale Statutaire qui aura lieu le 6 septembre 1988 à 10.00 heures dans les bureaux de la Kredietbank S.A. Luxembourgeoise, 43, boulevard Royal, Luxembourg, avec l'ordre du jour suivant:

Rapport de gestion du Conseil d'Administration et du Commis-

31 mai 1988.

31 mai 1988. Décharge aux Administrateurs et au Commissaire aux Comptes. Nomination d'un réviseur d'entreprises agréé.

requièrent aucun quorum. Elles seront prises à la simple majorité des actions présentes or représentées à l'Assemblée. Chaque action donne droit à un vote. Tout actionnaire peut se faire

Le Conseil d'Administration

more children emolical
In Britain, some companies are considering financing child-care

Carrency
Max. peso
N. Zeolood S
Nily, noire*
Norus, krene
Phil, peso
Port, escado sodi riyat*
Sing. 3
S. Kor, wan Per 5 2250.00 1-1.534 4.1233 4.9225

29,991 151,30

Interest Rates

| Dollar | D-Mark | Prosc | Pr

Key Money Rates Aug. 17  الطالط (States Prime rate Federal fisida -posib Treasu -mosib Treasu West Germany 1012 10% 11 9/16

Sources: Regiers, Bank of Tokyo, merzbank, Crédii Lyonnals.

U.S. Meney Market Fro Aug. 27 Calerate Interest Rate Index: 6.126

Gold

Luxembours, Paris and Landon lings; Hong Kone and Zurich clasing prices; New York spot : All prices in U.S. 5 per curce.

U.S. Approves Minoxidil, Upjohn Antibaldness Drug

DETROIT — The U.S. Food and Drug Administration announced Wednesday that it had approved mmoxidil, Upjohn Co.'s antibaldness drug, for sale in the United States.

Minoxidil, known by the trade name Rogaine, has been found effective for treating hair loss on the crown of the head during several years of research. Rogaine is already marketed in 45 countries outside the United States; there is no antibaldness drug on the U.S. Upjohn said the antibaldness medication should be available in U.S. pharmacies within the next four to six weeks, but that the price had not yet been determined. Analysts predicted Upjohn would sell $40 million to $50 million in Rogaine treatments this year and up to $200 million in 1989.

Trading in Upjohn's stock was halted pending the announcement; the stock had been trading at $31.75 a share, down 37.5 cents for the Weekly ner asser Tokyo Pacific Holdings N.V.

OR 15-8-1988 U.S. $215.82

Listed on the Amsterdam

Pierson, Heldring & Pierson N.V. Hereigracht 214, 1016 BS Amsterdam

Stock Exchange

12-8-1988 U.S. $32.29 Listed on the

Herengracht 214. 1016 BS Amsterdam.

not, and investors were often told investigators was incorporated in that the value of their shares was Liechtenstein, had its main office rocketing upward and they should in Geneva and attracted between 5,000 and 7,000 investors. French police moved to stop the Investigators said another ring-scheme in a dawn raid on July 27, leader, Andrew Chapman, a 32-

when they arrested Thomas F. year-old Englishman, was arrested Quinn, a former Wall Street broker in Switzerland. He was registered who has repeatedly been cited for as chairman of Kettler Investment violating American securities laws, and several of the other "boiler at a villa outside Cannes on the room" investment firms. French Riviera.

ceived stock certificates, sometimes newsletters with impressive-sounding names like Strategy for Investors and Invest News. These newssion span a number of years, going Raton, Florida, resident, who in-back to the late 1960s," said Chiles vestigators said had links to many Larson, an SEC spokesman. In of the companies involved in the letters gave advice on giants like International Business Machines 1970, Mr. Quinn spent six months scheme. The SEC accused Mr. Porin jail for stock manipulation. In to and several others earlier this Corp. and Siemens AG, and on low-priced, or penny, stocks that were touted as hot prospects. 1987, without admitting guilt, he year of civil fraud with regard to settled a case in which the SEC the offerings of several penny A few days after those newsletaccused him and several partners of stocks.

using false information in a 1980 "We still have a long way to go," stocks were traded in the scheme ters were delivered, brokers from were innocent victims of the ar- the investment firms telephoned using false information in a 1980 "We still have a long way to go," stock offering of a minuscule min-said Gilles Rouveure, a French poing company, Sundance Gold Mining & Exploration Inc.

Mr. Quinn has been charged with securities fraud, but his lawyers have declined to comment on sau Caues knowers a French point in fine investigator specializing in financial fraud. "We're still trying to track down all the people involved."

Among the stocks traded in the scheme were two phantom mining the charges. Mr. Quinn's wife, Ro-chelle Rothfleisch, and another Gold & Minerals, as well as Van man were arrested along with him. guard Financial and Columbia Thus far, 18 persons have been Electronics Systems.

Approbation des comptes annuels et affectation des résultats au

Les décisions concernant tous les points de l'ordre du jour ne requièrent aucun quorum. Elles seront prises à la simple majorité des actions présentes or représentées à l'Assemblée. Chaque action donne droit à un vote. Tout actionnaire peut se faire représenter à l'Assemblée.

Le Conseil d'Administration

Luxembourg, 37, rue Notre-Dame

saire aux Comptes. Approbation des comptes annuels et affectation des résultats au

Currency Per S
Fin. markten 4.4715
Greek droc. 147.5
Henry Kone 5 7.8678 indica rupes 14.05
india, rupes 14.05
india, rupes 14.05
india, rupes 14.05
india 14.05
i

16096 132,72 1,8825 ##-day 1,4938 132,10 1,8882

Ang. 17

1014 974

6% 676 77/16 7½ 7% 7% 7 11/16 7 11/16 8 1/16 8%

Aug. 17

Weekly net asset Energy value on

Amsterdam i Stock Exchange Pierson, Heldring & Pierson N.V.

up to the closing on Walt Street do not reflect late trades elsewh

HmeGe
Hmins p
HmoSL
Hmisk s
Hmisk s
Hmisk b Hondo
Honnell
HoorSol
HranBn

2.10 1.72 7.75 1.40 1.60 1.00 1.18 1.18 1.30

(IPow pf (IPow pf IIPow pf IIIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIPow pf IIIPow pf IIPow pf IIIPow pf IIPow p 2002 2002 13.4 15 527 13.4 12 527 14.5 12 527 14.5 12 527 14.5 12 527 14.5 12 527 14.5 12 527 10.3 2002 10.3 20

1844. 1977. 1979.

2.06 8.9 1.50 46 9 4.134 8.7 7.226 8.5 1.84 4.8 27 .160 2.2 2.92 5.8

JP Ind JWP s Jeckson JRiver JRVr pf JRVr pf JRVr pf Jerc pf Jerc pf Jerc pf Jerc pf Jehnind Johnind JhnCR Johnind JhnCR Jorgen Josen 406 16h: 5100 2434. 119 1346. 119 1346. 1242 2444. 119 1434. 119 10 538 3646. 1242 502 3845. 102 7745. 42 2742 4576 1745. 4576 1745. 4576 1745. 4576 1745. 4576 1745. 4576 1745. 4576 1745. 4576 1745. 4576 1745. 4576 1745. 16% 24% 1324 1324 1324 1324 1324 1327 1327 174 174 174 24b 18 15 48 20 10 237 78 150 80 150 80 160 104 800 104 800 104 800 104 110 34 11 110 34 11 110 34 24 54 32 7

15% 4% 5 30 8 % 5 8% 14% 15% 24% 19% 17% 15%

64 LACs
1646 LN HO
475 LLE RY
264 VILTV
384 VILTV
1374 VILTV
1874 VILTV
1874 VILTV
1874 VILTV
1874 LVI G
1874 LVI G
1874 LQ
1874 LQ
1874 LA
18 10% 22% 3% 29% 644 349 17 42 1042 1044 1044 113 128 128 128 128 128 200 150 48 30 220 78 40 25 77 55 57 43

244 Ochline
244 Ochline
344 Ochline
244 Ochline
1444 ODECO
1774 Ochline 3474 Ohed of 3474 Ohed o 37% 7% 44% 37 41%

43% 13% 51 37% 38% 50%

274 SCECO 1175 SCECO 1

1.50 8.8 2.72 5.8 2.50 5.7 1.84 9.4 1.72 1.4 1.72 1.4 1.12 3.3 1.1

The Global Newspaper.

the stock in Aerolineas Argentinas. It would build a first-class hotel in Buenos Aires as part been endorsed by the public works minister, Rodolfo Terragno, who has jurisdiction over state enterprises.

Enrique Pascarmona, an Argentine industrialist and vice president of Austral Airlines, said he is leading a consortium of Argentine investors, Alitalia and Swissair that can "beat the He said his investment group combined "the efficiency of the Swiss with the imagination of the Italians" and was willing to purchase 100

Close Guat, Chige

the Italians" and was willing to purchase 100 percent of Aerolineas Argentinas, with the two foreign companies keeping 45 percent of the stock while Argentine investors, possibly in combination with the Argentine government, keeping 55 percent.

Furthermore, he said, his investment group proposed that a law now assigning Aerolineas Argentinas 50 percent of the domestic flights be repealed to provide more competition.

"They should have had a bid instead of negotiating with a single partner," Mr. Pascarmona said. "Argentina is the only country in the world that has conducted a deal of this type without a bid."

He said 40 percent of Argentina's international travel is directed at Italy.

Timken 1.60 2.6
Tilton pr 1.00 11.3
viTodSh 48 2.4
TodEd pr 2.51e10.8
TolEd pr 2.81 11.1
TolEd pr 2.81 10.8

Argentine Airline Chief

Resigns to Protest Sale

BUENOS AIRES - The president of Aerolineas Argentinas resigned Wednesday to pro-test the proposed sale of 40 percent of the stock

sair, Aniana and Argentine investors an-nounced they were willing to purchase as much as 100 percent of the stock in Aerolineas Argen-tinas and outbid the Scandinavian company. Horacio Domingorena, who initially accept-ed the SAS purchase in principle, resigned as president of the Argentine carrier on Wednes-

Mr. Domingorena, a 68-year-old lawyer, had in recent days criticized the deal with SAS as an "assault on national patrimony" and should day in protest.

Zapata
Zayre
Zemex
Zentifie Zenin n v[Zenil
ZenNi]
ZenNij
Zero
Zumin
Zwely

40 1.8 12 40 3.0 17 .15e 1.5 40b 4.5 8 40 2.5 14 41 3.1 14 1,05e)0.4

22% 73% 20% 1% 16% 16% 10%

Paris Commodities

4444 3.3. 1.3.3.1. THE PROPERTY.

Fig. Water

i.s. finan

FURIOR AND PART

(wrerky Opnium)

MANGE LINE

nder Options

Orter Co Co C Yella 154 155 257 Yella 8 89

SALE SIES THE SELECTION OF STREET

81-8 81-12 79-21 79-21

man US Futures Via The Associated Press his Procedions Choice And a constitution of the The second secon SOYBEAMS (CBT) Take ijor Issues Middle East Company of the last Section 15 - The control The state of the s · Policies of Attacks

2017年1日東世紀

in the same pa

THE SECOND OF SECOND

e incolo de la presencia de la colo de la co

Compare and the second

THE RELEASE

化二氯苯酚 医甲基二

The same was

ು ಸಂವಿಧ ದಾವಕ

722 752

1.1 2.12.3

A see all

10 mm - 10 mm

Section 1

Vin Land Co. T. of St. Co.

No telegraph of the property of المستعملات المستعملات

A CONTROL OF THE STATE OF THE S

2:1M 38 82 84

فأيلا مير ويور

THE REAL PROPERTY.

.....

The state of the s

100 30 -2

- 1----- 1

Sep Dec Mer Jyn Sep Prev. Se lat, 15,282 dollars per bushel Sep 3.87 1907. Dec 1989 4.02 Mar 4.01 4.05 May 3.77 3.61 Jul 134 3.56 Pray Soles 13,263 nt. 54,789 off 445 COCDA (NYCSCE)
10 metric fons-5 per t
2223 1225 3
2797 1365 D
2088 1374 N
2088 1374 N
1895 1419 J
1855 1442 S
185 1442 S
Est, Soles 4,975 Pre
Prev. Day Open Int. 1 1335 1375 1383 1480 1415 1445 1482 1343 1378 1394 1490 1416 1450 1482 \(\)\text{3,000 l03-carifs bar ib.}
281.50 125.50 Sep 199.60 199
185.50 125.50 Nov 185.00 189
185.50 125.50 Nov 185.00 187
174.75 125.50 Mar 172.00 173
177.50 149.50 Mar 177.00 173
177.50 149.50 Mar 177.00 173
146.00 146.00 Sep 170.10 170
146.00 146.00 Sep 170.10 170
146.00 146.00 Nov
125.00 Nov JAPANESE YEN (IMM) SOYBEAN OIL (CBT) industriais ALUMINUM (COMEX) 40,000 lbs.- cent's per lb. 123,00 123,90 Aug 129,00 79,50 Sep TEEDER CATTLE (CME) $ILVER (COMEX) 5,000 froy oz.- cents pe 743.0 667.0 A 1064.7 586.0 S Currency Options Prev. Doy Open Int. 8, 28
PLATINUM (NYME)
Shroy oz-dollors per iro
467.50
457.00
457.00
457.00
457.00
457.00
457.00
457.00
458.00
April 564.00
Cct
Est. Sales 1,725
Prev. Doy Open Int. 17,64 0.18 0.12 F Stock Indexes NYSE COMP, INDEX (NYFE) Commodity Indexes Moody's 0.65 0.95 1.61 2.87 2.84 PTW. DOY OPEN IN, 71,05 up 982
19 YR, TREASURY (CBT)
5100,000 prin-pts $ 32nds of 100 pcf
77-14 87-13 Sep 91-9 91-16 91-2
92-17 87-05 Mor 90-11 90-11 90-1
92-27 87-05 Mor 90-11 90-11 90-1
91-2 87-13 Sep
514, Soles PTW. Soles 24,855
PTW. DOY Open Int. 104,484 off 382 850.70 135.07 247.20 Reuters D.J. Futures Com. Resear Moody's: base 100: Dec. 31, 1931. p-preliminary; f-final Reuters: base 100: Sep. 18, 1931. Dow Jones: base 100: Dec. 31, 1974. Prev. Doy Open Int. 104,484 off 382

US TREASURY BONDS (CBT)
(S pct-S100,000-pts 2-2nds of 100 pct)

99-12 74-25 Sep 84-30 85-4 84-12

99-10 72-20 Mar 85-19 82-27 85-7

95-10 72-20 Mar 85-19 82-27 85-7

94-4 72-11 Jun 85-4 85-7 82-21

93-14 72-15 Sep 85-18 82-22 82-4

93-16 72-25 Sep 85-18 82-22 82-4

93-17 73-1 Mar 81-22 81-32 81-7

88-17 73-1 Mar 81-22 81-32 81-7

88-17 73-1 Sep 82-18 82-32 81-7

88-18 78-30 78-1 Sep 82-18 82-32

81-4 88-18 78-30 Mar 80 80 79-27

83t 5ale 78-30 Mar 80 80 79-27 1,26 1,26 2,17 2,58 7 537,844 414,889 London Dividends Paris. Spot Commodities Commodities Commodities Aug. 17 DECREASED Teday 1.29 1.11 0.97 213.00 0.36 0.51 4.595 473.00 121 4.5724 0.46 Commodity
Aluminum, ib
Coffee, ib
Corper electrolysic
Iron FOB, lon
Land, ib
Printcioth, ad
Silver, trov oz
Steel (billets), fon
Steel (scrup), lon
Tin, ib
Source: AP. SUGAR U.S. Dollars per metric ton OMITTED Atlantic American Corp RRA 857 998 1,400 884 874 1072 1,013 880 570 1003 1,008 865 880 995 1,000 1,070 901 894 1000 1,070 956 950 1610 1,020 Company مرتد المدين المنطقية المدين المنظمة المدينة المنظمة المنطقة المنطقة المنطقة STOCK Results SUSPENDED Sep Nov Jan Mar May Jul Sep Abination Boncarp
American Cyanamid
Bohemia Inc
Centex Corp
Chemical Find
CliM Hi Yid Sec.
Circle K Corp
Coleman Co
Crastines Find
Crassions System
Crassions System
Ent Secheth Inc
Enster Indonesia
First Him Fill Syk Ln
Pirst Union Carp
Jacobson Stems
KN Energy Inc
Merry Lnd Inval
Merry Lnd Inval
Merry Lnd Inval
Northern Trust
Ohio Edison Co
Resout Infil Lid
Resbok Infil Lid
Re United States Hewlett-Packard Est, vol: 1 lots of 5 tons, Prev. 60 Open interest: 1,047 Source: Bourse de Commerce 1988 7.120. 573.00 2.33 S&P 100 Index Options James River 1988 1,390. 56.20 0.63 London Metals Title Culti-Lust Puts-Lost for Aury Sep Oct few Aury Sep May Departement Stores Penney J.C. COPPER CATHODES (High Grade) stric foo 1265.00 1267.00 1249.00 1250.00 7259.00 7268.00 1244.50 1245.50 DM Futures Options Toys "R" Us 2nd Quer. Revenue Net Income Per Share SBP 100 Index: High 200,63 Your 244.53 close 248.64 + 34 Source: CBOE. US.Treasuries Viacom Aug. 17 613 643 144 247 247 -125 126 126 127 Yield 7.30 2.38 2.38 Prév. Yield 9.41 7,34 7,95 8,27 4.99 7,52 7,67 Est. latel vol.: 21.49 ZINC (High Grade) Sterling per metric ten Spot 785.01 Forward 773.0 o; loss. Per share results after prefer dividend of $15.9 million vs $14.2 mil-lion in quarter & $31.3 million vs $27.9 million in half. Bid Offer 97 97 2/22 Yield 9.42

BUSINESS ROUNDUP

Standard Chartered Reports Profit

Pretax Income of £156 Million in Half Exceeds Estimates

LONDON - Standard Char-tered PLC, the British banking company, reported Wednesday a pretax profit of £156 million ($268 million) for the six months ended June 30, but rekindled doubts about the timing of a rights issue needed to raise capital.

The half-year result, which compared with a £224 million loss a over the rights issue. year earlier, came on operating profit before bad-debt charges of £209 million, up from £185 million in the first half of 1987.

The charge for bad and doubtful debts was almost halved, to £57 million from £103 million.

The pretax profit was well above most analysts' expectations. After tax, the bank reported a profit of £101.4 million, against a £272.4 million loss the year before. sale of United Bank of Arizona, compared with a £6.6 million extraordinary gain last year. Sir Peter Graham, chairman of Standard Chartered, said in a statement with the results that the bank needed to improve its capital base.

"In addition to profit retentions, as already indicated consideration said the bank's short-term priority will be given to calling on share- continued to be the repair and

BASF's Profit

Surged by 18%

Reuters

LUDWIGSHAFEN, West

In First Half

holders for capital at an appropriate time," he said.

Standard Chartered earlier this strengthening of group capital ratios, which were damaged by hefty Third World bad-debt provisions in 1987.

year said it was planning a rights issue, which brokers thought might be around £300 million. But it may have met difficulties in lining up funding support from key Far East shareholders, analysts said. Doubts have been mounting

Analysts said that up to 27 per-cent of shareholdings, mainly in the hands of "white knights" who helped defeat a takeover bid in 1986 by Lloyds Bank PLC, may not support the issue.

At the time of the bid, the Australian businessman, Robert Holmes à Court, acquired almost 15 percent of the bank. That stake is now being sold. The Malaysian

Europe contributed a pretax profit of £1.6 million, against a loss of £2.9 million, but the Middle East entrepreneur, Tan Sri Khoo Teck In addition, it realized an extraor-dinary profit of £26.8 million on its At mid-1988, after adjusting for the sale of Union Bank Corp. of California, Standard Chartered's equity to assets ratio would be 3.6 percent, analysts said, up from 2.8 percent at the end of last year but below that of other major British international banks.

Standard Chartered's statement

Sir Peter said the first-half performance showed that Standard Chartered's rehabilitation as a major multinational banking group was well under way. "I firmly believe that the measures taken to improve performance will ensure that this process continues in the future," he added. Pretax profit from operations in Britain rose to £68.1 million in the half, the bank said, from £47.1 million the previous year, while those from Asia Pacific were £53.5 million, up from £37.2 million.

and Southeast Asia showed a loss of £1.3 million, reversing a profit of £3.3 million in the first half of 1987. That category was not further broken down.

Analysis have suggested that the bank might sell some assets in Malaysia in addition to seeking a rights issue. They said that bad debts in Malaysia brought sizable losses.

Standard Chartered shares fell 3 pence to 492 pence on the London

Bergen Bank To Lift Capital By $44 Million

OSLO —Bergen Bank A/S, Norway's third-largest bank, said Wednesday that it would make a one-for-five rights issue that would increase its share capital by 302.7 million kroner ($44.2 million) to a to-tal of 1.75 billion kroner. Bergen Bank, which was the only one of Norway's three leading banks to make a profit last year, said that the issue was to meet new legal require-ments for a higher ratio of share capital to assets.

The share price would be determined before the issue in November, the bank said. Earlier this year, Norway's government passed a law on financing that said banks' share capital must be at least 6.5 percent of their assets. The legislation followed a pattern set by 12 major industrial nations, which this year established uniform capital adequacy guidelines for their banks. The new shares will pay a half-dividend on the 1988 results, Bergen Bank said.

A Bertelsmann spokesman said he was confident that the onward sale of W.H. Smith's stake would receive approval from the British antitrust authorities. But he declined to identify any companies under consideration as partners, adding only that Book Club would be run

Smith-Bertelsmann Deal Is Restructured

Group PLC, the British book and stationery retailer, announced

Germany — BASF AG's group pretax profit surged 18.2 percent in the first half of 1988, the chemicals company said Wednesday, predicting that positive results would continue. The company's group pre-tax profit rose to 1.71 billion Deutsche marks ($906 million) from 1.44 billion in the first half of 1987. Sales increased 7.6 percent, to 21.57 billion DM from

"There are currently no indications that favorable business conditions will be impaired," the company said.

Incoming orders and orders on hand were above last year's

BASF said the surge in pre-tax profit reflected a high level of output and capacity utiliza-

LONDON - W.H. Smith Wednesday an agreement to sell its 50 percent stake in Book Club Associates to Bertelsmann AG, the share in Book Club's profits until tions to the disposal. In Guetersloh, West Germany, price would have been £69 million, Bertelsmann said that it is seeking a but since, Book Chib has contributed which it did not name, to ed "several million extra pounds of the contributed with the the owns the other half of Book Club. Smith's attempt to sell the stake to Bertelsmann in January was blocked by Britain's Monopolies and Mergers Commission. The commission ruled that Bertelsmann's proposed immediate onward sale of the Book Club stake to a unit of Générale Occidentale, the French publishing group, was against the public interest. Smith said Wednesday that Bertelsman had agreed to make arrangements that would satisfy the British authorities. It did not say what they were. The proposed January deal

Book Club to Les Presses de la Cité SA, part of Occidentale, along with half of Bertelsmann's 100 percent holding in Leisure Circle, another

West German media giant, in a the sale is completed, the British deal that overcomes official objectompany said. Under the initial agreement with Bertelsmann, the price would have been £69 million, separately from Leisure Circle. Separately, W.H. Smith announced a 10.5 percent increase in pretax profit, to £70.57 million, for the financial year ended May 28 from £63.85 million the year before.

purchase the half share in Book profit to W.H. Smith, it said. Club, for which it is paying £60 million ($103 million). Bertelsmann Mannesmann Sales Grow

DUSSELDORF - Mannesmann AG, the steel and engineering company, said Wednesday that its sales rose 42 percent in the first half of 1988, compared with first six months of last year, and said its profit situation was improving. Mannesmann said its sales to companies outside the group rose to 9.41 billion Deutsche marks ($5 billion) from 6.62 billion DM. Mannesmann told shareholders in a letter that its profit improved from the first half of 1987, but it did not provide figures. Profit rose at the Demag mining and construction equipment subsidiary, the Rexroth hydraulic unit, the industrial plant construction and trading sectors and the Brazil-ian unit. Mannesmann said a small profit from its steel pipe division, after big losses in the last two years. contributed to the improvement.

It noted that its revenue would bave advanced only 20 percent if sales from companies not owned in the first 1987 half were excluded.

The German steel industry has been experiencing a rebound from the depressed levels of the past two years, although analysts say further

Tandy 'on Target' for 30% Rise in Income

NEW YORK - Tandy Corp. is Street forecasts it will report earnings growth of more than 30 percent for the fiscal year that ended June 30, its chairman said Wednesday. The U.S. computer maker was to release its fourth-quarter and fiscal 1988 results Thursday morning. John V. Roach said Tuesday that his company was "comfortable" with analysts' projections that net earnings for the 12 months would be $3.50 to $3.55 per share, up from $2.70 a share in June 1987. Tandy already has announced fiscal 1988 sales of $3.79 billion, up 10 percent from last year's $3.45 billion.

Its stock fell $1.125 a share to $40.125 on the New York Stock Exchange late Wednesday.

Mr. Roach projected a 15 percent whole fiscal year, obviously we exprowth in sales for fiscal 1989, based pect, and I think most analysts expression will be a little on increased exports, expanded marketing channels and new prod-bit lower in the first half than it will ncts, but he said that "in looking at a be for the year as a whole."

and more than $1 billion in insur-

Last week, after the UN-supported cease-fire was announced,

some insurance underwriters re-don Underwriters Association.

Reports from Iran and Iraq have been sketchy and suspect for years. Accordingly, calculating the cost of reconstructing the war-battered economic infrastructure - oil-related plants, roads, irrigation sys-

tute put the cost of basic reconstruction over the next few years at $13.2 billion for both countries.

The Japanese Institute of Middle

Eastern Economies, by contrast, calculated the cost at $8.2 billion for Iran and $25.9 billion for Iran.

Daiwa estimated the total economic losses from the war, including lost oil revenue and the effect of huge military spending, at $414 bil-lion for both countries. Iraq, one of the Gulf's richest oil producers at the turn of the decade, with foreign reserves put at $20 billion, is now one of the Third World's most heavily indebted nations. It owes foreign governments, banks and companies an estimated $65 billion, up from about $12.9 billion in 1986.

But although Iraq's debt is 10 times that of Iran's, analysts believe that Western nations cannot afford ance claims piled up.

WAR: Reconstruction Rush Is On

(Continued from first finance page) to overlook the militarily strong, oil-

about any sudden huge increase in Gulf trade," said Kenneth Mackinley, a Dubai shipping agent. "We're talking about a long-term trend."

During the Iran-Iraq war, which began in September 1980, nearly 500 ships were attacked in the Gulf, more than 300 sailors were killed, and more than $1 billion in insur-

duced by roughly 25 percent their more than a year the Gulf war has war-risk premiums on ships trading in the Gulf, according to Christopher Rome, chairman of the Lon-pher Rome, chairman trans and nousing—is an uncertain art at best.

The Japanese are leading the field in making estimates. The Daiwa Securities Research Institute put the cost of hard and the standard diplomatic stance, dropping support for Iraq if it appears that Iran is no longer bent on exporting Islamic fundamentalism throughout the region.

Hewlett-Packard Has 30% Rise in Net

The Associated Press PALO ALTO, California -Hewlett-Packard Co., the big computer and electronics company, said Wednesday that its net profit rose 29.7 percent in the latest quarter, aided by record orders for its electronic instruments. For its third financial quarter, which ended July 31, Hewlett-Packard reported profit of $192 million. The company said its revenue rose 18.5 percent, to $2.43 billion.

pect, that the growth will be a little greatly relieve tensions within OPEC," said Mehdi Varzi, senior oil analyst for Kleinwort Grieveson

The oil-price stabilization view, espoused by Mr. Varzi and others, rests on the assumption that for more than a year the Gulf war has

Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, the analysts said, would work to ensure restraint by financially supporting the rehabilitation programs in Iran and Iraq.

In addition, they are expected to adopt a more balanced diplomatic

FINANCIAL

APPOINTMENTS

FINANCIAL CONTROLLER

required for chain of hotels and restau-

Minimum experience 10 years in Accounting system for hotels and Arab speaking applicants.

Good pay and benefits. Preference to Please apply to: President

Al-Attas Hotels

P.O. Box 1299, Jeddah 21441

Saudi Arabia

Fat: (02) 6447471, Thr. 801158 ATAS SJ

Securities Ltd. in London.

the year ahead. We are able to displace more and more imports. Mr. Roach said that "some very strong comparisons from the prior year, and some other small differences in our marketing plans," were his reasons for projecting slower growth in the first half. But he declined to elaborate. Mr. Roach said he expects new sales outlets to "result in between cil, one of London's poorer bor-50,000 and 100,000 units of computer sales through alternate chan-nels" during calendar year 1989. And, he forecast "several tens of thousands of cellular telephone sales through alternate channels" during that year.

Tandy sells goods in the United States through its Radio Shack chain and through its name-brand VideoConcepts and McDuff Electronics stores. The company spun off international retail operations

Statoil's Profit

Agence France-Presse
STAVANGER, Norway —

Statoil, Norway's state-owned energy group, said Wednesday that profit, hit by lower oil prices, had dropped 33 percent in the first half of 1988, to 2.8 billion kroner ($408.8 million).

kroner, down from 28.3 billion in the first half of 1987.

Unless oil prices rise, Statoil said, its 1988 revenue will fall below last year's 60 billion kroner. Statoil's investments so far this year are 5.6 billion kroner, including 2.2 billion in the Mongstad oil refinery, which has shown a cost overrun of more than 5 billion kroner.

Revenue was 27.1 billion

Falls by 33%

He said "the dollar valuation is going to further fuel our exports in facilities as part of their community involvement. These facilities would be open to all parents in the community, not just to the company's employees. For example, Levi Strauss & Co., the U.S. jeans manufacturer, has funded a feasibility study for nurseries in Brent Coun-

In the United States, employee child-care benefits have been touted as a way for companies to reduce absenteeism, retain employees and improve productivity. However, according to the Conference Board, a New York-based research organization, research to date does not "adequately substantiate these claims.' Still, many U.S. companies now believe they should give parents with babies or toddlers the choice of going back to work by providing them with the means to do so, ei-ther through child-care allowances or, in some cases, on-site nurseries financed entirely by the company. According to the Conference Board, 3,000 U.S. companies give their employees child-care benefits; of those, 150 have on-site nurs-

There is one EC country where business participation seems un-

"It's the welfare state that takes care of the kindergarten," said Jytte Jensen, the EC Commission's expert in Denmark, which trains kindergarten teachers. "I don't think compamies think it is their job."

According to the EC report, Den-mark —despite waiting lists and the 65 percent that local governments pay of the expenses of running kindergartens and day-care centers has one of the best child-care systems in the community.

The finest hotels in the world offer

24 Hour Global Television News to their guests

"Ask for it at your hotel!"

Consult your travel agent or send an SAE to: CNN International Sales Limited 25/28 Old Burlington Street

London WIX 1LB for a list of CNN affiliate hotels

WRENCY MARKI pollar: Officia

Hedne-day:

AND THE STATE OF T

The second secon

.

To Arrest

400

100

• e.

120 gg

DOLLAR: Official Sales Fail to Snuff Currency's Rise

(Continued from first finance page) Dealers said the possibility of higher U.S. interest rates in coming higher U.S. interest rates in coming months seemed to outweigh the U.S. June trade gap of $12.54 billion and a record import bill of $39.5 billion.

The downward revision of the May trade deficit from $10.93 billion to $9.76 billion, announced with the June figure, seemed to have a calming effect on the markets, they added.

In Frankfurt, dealers said that concerted dollar sales by the West German and U.S. central banks had rescued the ailing mark. It was the Bundesbank's first intervention

But in the United States, the per-

He was referring to the Group of Seven industrialized countries. The dollar last week hit a 19-month high above 1.92 DM, but subsequently eased on worries that it may be overselved exprise that it may be overvalued against other

"With the market's ability to absorb a big selloff yesterday morning as a result of the trade deficit, but in the United States, the perpion "was that the Fed's heart then stage a major recovery and be really was not in it," said a U.S. well in demand in Europe, there is no question that there are a lot of optimists out there," one dealer said.

If the dollar's advance persists undermine a three-year campaign by the Group of Seven to help re-duce the U.S. trade deficit, which is still large and contributing to a high current-account deficit.

Meanwhile, activity in the pound was generally thin, but dealers said that, paradoxically, sterling was deriving some support from the pros-pect that Thursday's clutch of economic data will reinforce perceptions of growing inflationary pressures in Britain.

Some analysts said that poor data would force the British authorities to sanction a further rise in clearing bank base lending rates.

July unemployment and June earnings data are due for release Thursday morning, along with July

U.S. Reports Housing Starts

WASHINGTON — Housing construction climbed 2.4 percent in the United States in July, but building permits for future construction fell at the sharpest rate since January, the government said Wednesday. The Commerce Department said homes were being built at an annual rate of 1.49 million units in July. It was the second straight increase, following a 4.4 percent rise in June.

But building permits dropped 5.4 percent, signaling a decline in future activity. Recent increases in U.S. interest rates, intended to dampen inflationary pressures, have affected leading for home pur-

Gained in July

norm rather than the exception for top bankers. Walter Seipp, the managing board chairman of Com-merzbank AG, the nation's third-largest, is chairman of the supervisory board of Karstadt AG, one of West Germany's top three retailing concerns, and sits on the boards of Thyssen AG and MAN AG, two of the country's biggest heavy indus-

(Continued from Page 1)

the country's organization trial concerns.

The banks also hold shares in many companies, though West German disclosure laws require them to reveal only holdings of more than 25 percent of a company's stock.

Among its holdings, Deutsche Bank can count a stake of more than 25 percent in Daimler, 35 percent in Holzmann AG and 12.5 percent in the shipper, Hapag-Lloyd AG. Not only are banks shareholders. they dominate the actual trading, accounting for more than 90 per-cent of all trades on the nation's eight stock exchanges, according to market sources. The board of direc-tors of the Frankfurt Stock Exchange is a veritable who's who of the banking community. While few bankers play so dominant or public a role as Mr. Herrhansen has at Daimler, their power to determine a company's course is unrivaled

The banks have their greatest influence in the long-term, strategic planning of the industrial sector. But they don't involve themselves in day-to-day operations," said Klaus-Werner Schatz, the head of economic research at the Institute for World Economics in Kiel, one of five economic research groups that advise the Bonn government. "Daimler-Benz is a prime example belm Christians, a former spokes-man for Deutsche Bank's managing ciers brought up on German bank-board, has said that bankers sitting ing's conservative traditions.

deregulation from Chancellor Kohl's government that they wanted." Mr. Schatz said. "There are many other board, has said that bankers sitting on corporate boards are first and foremost responsible to the company, not the bank. But board members know that any moves opposed by their banker colleagues have little chance of success. When it comes to a major financial decision, everyone knows who the board member from the bank is speaking for," said a supervisory al concern, who requested anonymity. "We welcome their expertise and their opinions, that is why they

While large companies may ben-efit from the close, clubby relationship of banking and industry, critstances where it can be found in capital in this country unless you have 100 percent security or a guar-

There are only about 30 compa-

West Germany, is tough to get.

GERMANY: Bankers' Unique Role Coming Under Mounting Scrutiny

Daimler, their power to determine a board member of a major industrial concern, who requested anonymity. "We welcome their expertise betting on an idea, But without ics say it makes life difficult for entrepreneurs and fledgling companies by limiting access to capital. Venture capital, in the rare inspection of the system is the average West Ger-

Wolfgang Roth, the economic West Germany's banks have not spokesman for the Social Democratic Party's parliamentary fac-nion, said, "You don't get venture government into enacting the kind company's course is unrivaled.

"Going to the banks for venture capital was useless," said the head of a small software company in Baden-Wurtemberg, one of West Germany's high-tech hotbeds.

"They all said is second librations." School Said Indicate a large and minerate groups — labor unions, farmers, civil servants — with great influence in the economy. What the government has done, such as the government has done, such as the government is so limited that it good product. Then they wanted to see my order book. Without at least money, how do you turn an idea trary to the mentality needed for venture capital, has been an asset in man's penchant for saving.

Such risk-aversion, while con-

Despite their vast influence,

been able to prod Chancellor Hel-

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

into a business?

They all said it seemed like a very frequently criticized the governa year's worth of orders already booked, which is almost unheard of ment for reneging on a promise to-abolish the turnover tax on securities transactions, as well as its decision to impose a new withholding tax on interest income. While few bankers play so dominant or public a role as Mr. Herrhausen has at

"We must have deregulation, if we are to remain competitive as a financial center with London," he has said. "And it is essential in preparing for 1992." While the banks call for econom

Mr. Seipp of Commerzbank has ic deregulation, they do not offer a specific, detailed agenda, particularly where the financial markets are concerned. Possible changes bankers have said they would like to see usually included a liberalizing of the nation's restrictive shopclosing laws and an opening of the telecommunications market to foreign competition.

The integrated market also means West German banks will face stiffer competition at home and abroad. The adoption of EC banking laws, which the banks oppose, will mean more stringent stock-holding disclosure and insider trading laws. Insider trading is not a criminal offense in West Germany, and shareholders now are required to only disclose corporate stakes of 25 percent or more, compared with 10 percent in proposed EC regula-

Leading bankers said the EC's plans to create an integrated mar-Those changes are likely to ham-per the banks' efforts to get more of the thousands of medium-sized West German companies to issue

GREENSPAN: Discount-Rate Hike Makes Fund Managers Nervous

other preliminary data, forced his hand, said Edward A. Taber, head of the fixed-income division at T. Rowe Price Associates, which invests $11.5 billion.

Yet even those investors who agree with the inflation scenario argue that the move was several months overdue. Mr. Greenspan could not wait any longer for economic or political reasons, they be-lieve. "I basically think he got down to an optionless situation."
Mr. Taber said. Edward Hyman, hief economist at C.J. Lawrence-Morgan Grenfell Inc., added, "He

-5 6

114 Feet Im

And the Rep Control of

NUMBER NOTE:

concentrating on inflation, is fighting the wrong war. They do not see evidence of higher prices and they worry that high interest rates could bring about a repeat of last year's stock market colleges or serve each.

"I think they're going to cause another accident," said Michael C. Aronstein, president of Comstock Partners, a New York firm that invests almost $2 billion. What the world does not need now is higher interest rates." Mr. Aronstein added that the stock market did a better job of forecasting economic trends than squeezed it off at the last minute." the current and historical data that are so many conflicting signals in But there are other investors who the Fed watches. And he believes believe that Mr. Greenspan, by that the market is signaling a weak-stock market collapse or some other financial accident.

Among them are Caterpillar, Reynolds Metals, DuPont, Dow Chemiolds Metals, DuPont, Dow Chemical, Digital Equipment, Phelps Dodge, Asarco and Monsanto. This scares Mr. Aronstein, who believes that, along with a weakening economy, a financial accident "is lurking out there in the bushes." The Fed's move to higher rates may set it off, he said, adding: "I think they're pushing too many buttons." Many investors agree that there the economy and stock market at the right or wrong move by trying to tighten up on economic growth. "I don't think I've ever seen peo-ple so frustrated," said Greg A. Smith, chief investment strategist at Prudential-Bache Securities Corp.

The skittish reaction to the rate hike may also reflect a difficulty in learning to deal with Mr. Greenspan's style after eight years of Paul A. Volcker, who as Fed chairman did far less fine-tuning of rates. "I think the market will get more familiar" with this new management style, said Graham Y. Tanaka, president of Tanaka Capital

Management a New York firm of this, but not a unique one." Mr. Schatz added, however, that the power of the banks is "often overstated." Bankers also soft-pedal al major corporations, such as Sie-their economic influence. F. Wil-mens AG, the giant electronics "The banks have not nies in West Germany primarily concerned with providing venture capital. They are owned mainly by banks, insurance groups and severantee of success."

ket for banking and financial services by 1992 made deregulating West

Germany's rigid financial

Wednesday's

NASDAQ prices as of 4-p.m. New York time. This list, compiled by the AP, consists of the 1,000 most traded securities in terms of ablier value.

It is updated before years Via The Associated Press

STREET TO SEE SEE 12 Month Sign Div. Yid. PE 10th High Low 4 P.M. Chige MINIMUM.

1.60 1.7

.040 .9
.580 3.5
.36 1.3

1.66 3.5
.130 9
.131 9
.20 1.2
.580 2.0

that invests $30 million for individthis point that they are still unable

.56 3.8 392 .10e 1.2 60

*5*2 2.4

| 11 SCI Sys | 2224 | | |
| 1894 SEI | .056 .3 237 |
| 1194 SFFed | 105 | .3 237 |
| 1194 SFFed | 105 | .3 237 |
| 1795 SHL Sys | 329 | .224 | .64 |
| 2244 Softeco | 1.08 44 | .224 |
| 1894 Sepher | .08 44 | .224 |
| 1895 Sepher | .08 45 | .227 |
| 1895 Silvoid | .07 28 | .31 |
| 1894 SFFoul | .200 44 | .224 |
| 2495 Sepher | .36 | .4 |
| 1295 Sep .80 4.7 1.24 4.9 1.10 1.1 .01 .8 .081 5.1 1.28 4.9 .20 4.9

25% 25% + by 17% + by #0 44 1.36 23 1.96 1.7 72 25 242 7.7 #2 42 1.20 42 2.16 22 #2 21 2.0 42 7.6 46 1.106 23

Wednesdays

immed)

143 84 10

28 21 11\(\frac{1}{2}\)

18 22 7\(\frac{1}{2}\)

13 75 12\(\frac{1}{2}\)

22 50z 85\(\frac{1}{2}\)

23 13\(\frac{1}{2}\)

13 373 7\(\frac{1}{2}\)

13 373 7\(\frac{1}{2}\)

13 30\(\frac{1}{2}\)

13 30\(\frac{1}{2}\)

13 30\(\frac{1}{2}\)

13 30\(\frac{1}{2}\)

13 30\(\frac{1}{2}\)

13 30\(\frac{1}{2}\)

14 5\(\frac{1}{2}\)

15 34 15\(\frac{1}{2}\)

16 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

16 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

16 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

16 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

17 35\(\frac{1}{2}\)

18 40 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

19 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

10 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

10 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

11 32 35\(\frac{1}{2}\)

12 35\(\frac{1}{2}\)

13 4 15\(\frac{1}{2}\)

14 22 66\(\frac{1}{2}\)

15 35\(\frac{1}{2}\)

16 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

16 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

17 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

18 40 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

18 40 20\(\frac{1}{2}\)

5 VNT what was the volume of t 13871148 945 5 17 33 34 10 40 5.8 86 37 45

WELL, AT LEAST, THEY CAME

Mose de

LOOK, IF MUM'S POPPING IN A BIT 100 OFTEN FOR YOUR

LIKING, WHY NOT BE MAN ENOUGH TO TELL HER SO

BECAUSE IT REALLY

BUT COULDN'T THEY

PAINT A MORE HOSTILE EXPRESSION?

SHE'D LIKE ME TO TAKE) THE BUILL BY THE HORN'S AND THE BUILL }

THE BETTER OF IT

YOU'D ENJOY BACKPACKING A LOT MORE, MARCIE, IF

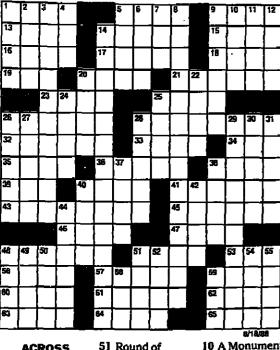

YOU'D LEARN TO ROLL UP

YOUR SLEEPING BAG..

I'M SERVING AN ENRICHED I'M BREAKFAST CEREAL

THAT'S OKAY

NOTAGAIN, SURELY?

56 Steinbeck migrant worker

movie

62 Guitar's

cousin

63 Words from

65 Mr. Hoople

DOWN

Susan Jaffe

generation

----- Want

for Christmas

member

4 Tuck away

6 Lugger or hooker

I Garb for

2 Currier's partner

3 Next-

the pro group 64 A Gabor and a

Jones," 1945

Jamie who

Sklodowska

ACROSS

- This may turn 5 Help a hood 9 Senseless?
- 13 Eye layer 14 Plant life 15 To you, Pierre! 16 Pupil's ordeal 17 Happy as —— 18 Lizard: Comb.
- form 19 L.A. campus 20 Small opening 21 Used acid 23 Ab successor
- 25 Labor safety OFE. 26 Doubleday and Li'l 28 Amanda of "A
- Year in the Life" 32 Fall asleep 33 Like a
- 34 To, in Dundee 35 Algerian port 36 Rajah's wife
- 38 Simon- (authentic) 39 Rather
- 40 This can put you in a bind 41 Feathered 43 What daredevils go to
- 45 Kappa chaser 46 Participial 47 Soviet stream
- Slip up Bets big 9 Racing acronym 48 You, right now P New York Times, edited by Euge

- 10 A Monument Valley site applause 11 Grimace 53 Old French
 - 12 Larry of the N.B.A. 14 Loses favor 20 Shoot the curl 22 People,

PEANUTS

BLONDIE

WHERE'S MY BACON

BEETLE BAILEY

THE MEN LIKE

TO DECORATE

THE FIGHTER

PLANES, SIR

ANDY CAPP

A00-H00'

CAN I

NOT TODAY

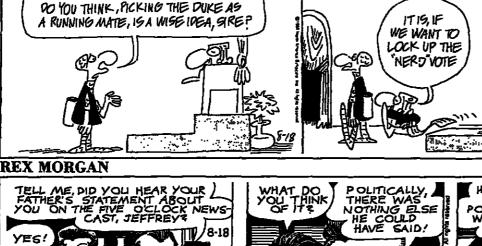

- generally 24 Ames or Uris 25 Platinum wire 59 Down with le loop 26 Positive terminal 27 Shoddy sounds distant 61 Marie
 - merchándise 28 Glazier's wares
 - 30 Displayed sculi skili 31 "——body cry?": Burns

42 Bedeck

29 Inept boxer

- 37 Gibraltar denizens 38 Moutain lion 40 Coty or Clair
- 44 Carson's stand-in, once 48 Parlor piece 49 Give the green light 50 Luigi's funds
- 51 "—fugit"
 52 Flavoring for a Nice cordial
 54 First Trium-WIZARD of ID virate foe 55 Applications 58 Lemmon film: 1967
- 59 Mode leaders

BOOKS

THE GREAT CARUSO

By Michael Scott. 322 pages. $24.95. Alfred A. Knopf, 201 East 50th Street, New York, N. Y. 10022.

Reviewed by Joseph McLellan

WHY a new biography of Enrico Caruso? The tenor's voice was last heard in public, in his 607th Metropolitan Opera performance, on Christmas Eve 1920. The generations that knew him in person have passed into history. The singers who shared the stage with him have long been forgotten by the average music-

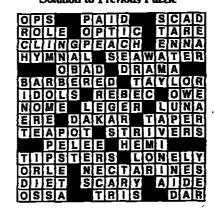

But Caruso's legend remains undiminished; his audience is still growing, and no tenor, even today, can plan an operatic career without feeling that he walks in Caruso's shadow. His records, made before the introduction of the microphone into recording studios, have remained steadily on the market, passing their faded sounds triumphantly through a series of new recording technologies. More Caruso renew recording technologies. More Carust le-cordings are available today than at any point in his lifetime. And they are still attracting attention. His perennially popular perfor-mance of "Vesti la giubba" from "Pagliacca" is a highlight of the film "Aria," reaching a new andignore in the video seperation. It has existed andience in the video generation. It has existed for 80 years, and in its digitally remastered form (available on the "Aria" soundtrack) it sounds better than ever before. Books about Caruso began to be published during his lifetime. Biographers who put their memories on paper not long after his death include his wife, Dorothy, and his last and most capable secretary, Bruno Zirato. For the general reader in English, Stanley Jackson's highly readable and usually reliable "Caruso" has been available since 1972. And Dover has published 473 of the remarkably fine caricatures that the singer used to sketch on menus and the backs of envelopes in unoccupied mo-

In spite of all this documentation, Michael Scott's biography fills a need; it brings together in one volume masses of material that had previously been scattered through different publications: abundant anecdotes on Caruso's personality and career; expertly compiled lists of every known Caruso performance and re-cording; even a few of the singer-cartoonist's deftly penciled self-portraits.

Most hard-core Caruso fans probably have Jackson's book, and Scott has tailored "The Great Caruso," to some extent, for those readers. His book is strongest where Jackson's is weakest. They cover a lot of the same ground, but, among the quotes and anecdotes available, Scott clearly tries to avoid duplication. Jackson does not have Scott's keen musical judgment or documentary thoroughness, but he shows at timer sense of anecdote in describing the more. colorful episodes of Caruso's life: his long, tempestuous affair with Ada Giachetti, the mother of his first two children; his arrest on a (probably trumped-up) charge of molesting a woman in the Central Park Zoo in New York; his brief career in silent films; the variety of women who pursued him, and from whom he sometimes had to buy back his love letters; and the soap opera-like complications leading up to his marriage to Dorothy Benjamin. Scott covers all these things methodically, but Jack-

Solution to Previous Puzzle

MINING THE PROPERTY OF THE PRO

mis from a promiser water and on the second of the secon

The design

a long motor the

The experience

the trees

Mets Hot A

cing Gian

SIN FRANCISCO - 1- 15-

ad the Exercise 1

to have been write Sut it.

Man of Chicago Co.

The Man

the and server

M min

RISEBALL ROL VINEP

Marin in the state of male in the second of the seco

Mention of the same and Morter Princes of the Control of

is an area to the same of de fix and a second bed men and an and and

The next hand a second second

CONTRACTOR NO. 1

Ken Miletinis in Charte

Spetar BBC 43227 - 1. 2. 222 - 2. 7. 7. 44

100 AMERICA (14 L. 17 C. 17 C.

Described and a first Benediction of the second Bears of the control of the 建の図して、turk Gook

ಪ್ರಕರ್ಮ ಸ್ಥಾಪದ ಅನ್ಯರಕ್ಷಣ Dept Page 5: - 1 :: 3 13:

Para Charles and the hat in late of the state of Calculated 3. Astrons On 1: St.

last lines Colonian in the Section Andrew the and arred

Bath Codens repriered

and design and the same of a who me care with one no ha sai Man Parkery Comments of the Pa being stepped on the and the being stepped on the second the second the second the second the second the second to second the second the second to second the second to second the second to second the second to second the second the second to second the second

HEADER 2:2-1-parametric in the ರಾದ ೭≈ ೭೭

minshire and a second

has be the second

M Mil di italia

MINN WEEKS IE.

son does it with more flair. "The Great Caruso," though, includes expert discussions of Caruso's voice and the special qualities that made him a unique performer. Scott was an opera impresario (the founder of the London Opera Society), and by writes well about this art. His two-volumes "The Record of Singing" provides carefully compiled data on hundreds of Caruso's contemporaries. In addition, he has done enormous research, checking reports in old newspa-pers and manuscript materials left by intimates of Caruso.

The resulting study is not notable for originality so much as for thoroughness and ingenuity of construction. Precisely because the material is so varied and abundant, there has long been a need for a book that will pull it all together. That is what Scott has produced. While the narrative voice is consistently Scott's, the sources of a typical chapter will vary almost from one sentence to the next: quotes from several newspapers published in three or four languages; a sentence or two from someone who knew Caruso (a friend, his secretary, his wife); more newspaper material; a few lines from a memoir of a conductor (Toscanini, for example, who was a friend, or Otto Klemperer, who admired Caruso's musicianship) more newspaper material, then a quote, perhaps from an impresario — say, Giulio Gațti-Casazza, who ruled first at La Scala and later at the Met — or a fellow singer.

The texture of this book shows a willingness to sift through vast mounds of dust for the grain or two of gold concealed therein. But it also shows rarer qualities: the ability to recognize that gold when it turns up and a precise sense of where it should be put in one's own mossic.

Scott also has the sense to recognize and compensate for his limitations; for the last 120 pages of his book, he has brought in expert help. Thomas G. Kaufman has compiled an exhaustive list of Caruso performances from 1894 to 1920, and John R. Bolig has updated the massive discography (498 known recordings; 245 still known to exist) that he published originally 15 years ago. This is not the "definitive" biography, in the hotel bills and recording contracts. But it leaves the reader feeling that everything knowable and worth knowing about Caruso has been covered.

sense that it does not reproduce programs,

Joseph McLellan is on the staff of The Wash-

BRIDGE

By Alan Truscott E IGHT teams survived in the quarter-final stage of the Grand National Team Championship in Salt Lake City, Utah, last July. The focus of attention will be the Spingold knockout teams, which produced a surprise in Baltimore, a year ago. The victory went to a pickup foursome including Jaggy Shvidasani of India, the first player from another continent to win the Spingold in its 54-year history. On his team were Harry Stappenbeck of Uniondale, Long Island; Dan Rot-man of Los Angeles, and Brian Glubok of Manhattan.

ace and returned a diamond, South finessed the ten successfully and cashed the king. three with assurance. From the bidding he knew there were five hearts on his left, so one of North-South on the diagramed be endplayed. It turned out to

NIGTY ENBATE HOW PEOPLE SAW THINGS AFTER THE DISCOVERY OF BLOWEB Jumbles: AMITY WRATH DENOTE SECOND What those young history teachers did at their annual get-together-MADE "DATES"

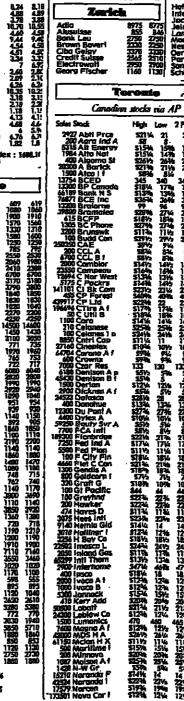

*Firemen use does to help 'em find fireplugs.

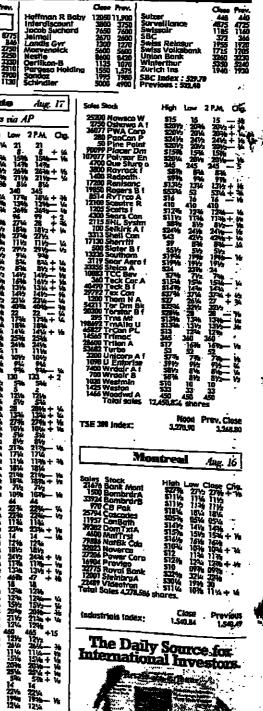

WEATHER

Amsteroan
Athens
Borcoloea
Bergrode
Berlin
Bressela
Bress AFRICA 30 86 22 72 fr 20 68 9 48 fr 27 81 19 66 fr 25 77 9 49 72 28 82 24 75 0 20 27 70 fr LATIN AMERICA 19 66 4 39 18 64 14 57 25 77 13 55 24 75 19 66 MIDDLE EAST OCEANIA THURSDAY'S FORECAST—CHANNEL: Slight, FRANKFURT: Foir, Temp. 2s—12 (19—54), LONDON: Overcost, Temp. 19—10 (66—50), MADRID; Foir, Temp. 35—17 (95—63). NEW YORK: Not Avoidable, PARIS: Purity Cloudy, Temp. 2?—13 (81—55), ROME: Foir, Temp. 22—18 (90—64). TEL AVIV: Not Avoidable, ZURICK: Foir, Temp. 22—18 (90—64). TEL AVIV: Not Avoidable, ZURICK: Foir, Temp. 25—15 (77—57). BANGKOK: Thunderstorms. Temp. 25—19 (90—71). SEOUL: Showers. Temp. 31—26 (86—71). SINGAPORE: Foir, Temp. 31—27 (86—81). TOKYO: howers. Temp. 28—22 (92—72).

The partie to the partie of the the magnification of the same of COREBOARI Scores Ment da League Standings 经营销的现在分词

SPORTS

Kimball to Compete Despite Manslaughter Charges

By Michael Janofsky

INDIANAPOLIS — Bruce Kimball, the diver facing alcoholrelated manslanghter charges for his involvement in a fatal car accident two weeks ago, said Tuesday in a quivering voice that he intends to compete in the U.S. Olympic trials this week trials this week.

Reading from a prepared statement at a news conference, his first public appearance since the accident Ang. 1, Kimball expressed sympathy for the families and inicads of two teen-agers who were killed and six who were injured when the car he was driving crashed into a crowd at a popular dangout in Brandon, Florida.

Then, describing diving as "my work and, at times, my job," he wowed to "attempt to do the very best I can under the circumstances in the trials. "I'm experienced enough to know that a person doesn't give up," said Kimball, 25.

myself if I do."

The trials began Wednesday, with the men's competition starting Thursday in the 3-meter springboard and Saturday in the 10-meter platform. Kimball has notified United States Diving, the sport's governing body, that he intends to compete in both events,

After reading the statement, with his parents and several friends.

O'Brien, coach of the Olympic diving team. "We are here for one purpose, to select an Olympic team, not judge Bruce. Should he compete? I can't comment on that."

Kimball, a silver medalist in the platform event at the 1984 Olympic champion in both compete in both events, his parents and several friends standing behind him and his two attorneys standing at his side, Kimball would answer no questions. As he left the podium, the president of a local chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving, shouted at him, "Go home, Bruce." His head bowed, Kimball ignored her and continued to walk away.

After reading the statement, with his parents and several friends.

Several divers and coaches here said before the announcement that they had no idea what Kimball would do. But they acknowledged that his presence in the competition could create a distraction.

"I only hope that if Bruce does doesn't give up," said Kimball, 25.
"I don't give up and I won't give respect for the trials," said Ron to qualify for the Olympic team, trials are conducted in such a way drunken driver.

to make the team again, was charged Monday with two counts of driving under the influence-manslaughter, second-degree felonies, and three counts of driving under the influence-serious person-al injury, third-degree felonies.

According to investigators, he said he drank four beers before the accident, but laboratory tests of his blood alcohol level have not been made public. He is free on a $10,000 bond and is awaiting arraignment on the charges Aug. 26.

The bond places no restrictions on his travel within the United States. But Bill James, the state attorney in Hillsborough County, Florida, said that if Kimball were

Kimball chose to compete in the trials. "I thought he would have announced he was pulling out because of more pressing problems,"

James said ne was surprised that trials. "I thought he would have announced he was pulling out because of more pressing problems,"

James said ne was surprised that the other divers, Longanis, the 1984 Olympic champion in both men's events, said he regretted the concentrate on myself." water in his veins."

A week before the accident, Kimball, a former diver at the University of Michigan, placed second behind Greg Louganis in the platform event at the outdoor championships in Irvine, California. He blaced eighth in the 3-meter spring-will run through Sunday. board an uncomfortable atmosphere for certainly is not a good example. The best thing he could do is go two positions on the Olympic team in each of four events.

Kathryn Owen, the president of the Hamilton County chapter of MADD, called Kimball's decision to compete "absolutely appalling," but she vowed that neither she nor

"This is just another example of Tom Gompf, president of United States Diving, said he was concerned that Kimball's decision to compete at the trials might create this country and the competence of the trials might create the country and t

"My biggest concern is that the ter was killed three years ago by a

Bruce Kimball, working out at the Indiana University Natatorium, the site of the U.S. Olympic trials.

Mets Hot Amid Chill, Icing Giants by 13-6

No. of the last of

- स्टब्स्

ं - कुः

2 (5 23

1 - 1 N. (2)

- ×=

Tuesday night, they heated up.
The Mets sent 13 men to the plate and scored nine runs in the June 21. first inning against San Francisco, eventually beating the Giants by

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

13-6 to stay 5½ games ahead of Pittsburgh in the National League

. It was 60 degrees (15.5 centigrade) in windy Candlestick, a marked change from the recent 90and 100-degree days back East.

"The cool weather definitely was refreshing, no question about it," said Mookie Wilson, who had two hits and scored two runs (both in the first inning). "But the nine runs helped more than the weather did."

"I've never seen anything as tough as that first inning," said Roger Craig, the losing manager. Atlee Hammaker (6-5) gave up seven runs and six of New York's eight

> Kevin McReynolds and Darryl Strawberry hit two-run home runs in the winners' 15-hit attack. Straw-berry, who entered the game in a 4-took an 11-0 lead in the third and

> 35 minutes after the start of the more doubled twice and drove in den (14-6) allowed six hits and two high with 19 hits. runs in his seven innings, striking out five. Dodgers 7, Phillies 5: In Los Angeles, Kirk Gibson homered to ignite a five-run fifth that rallied the Dodgers. Tim Leary (13-8) has won six of his last eight starts.

Reds 6, Cubs 4: In Cincinnati, Eric Davis and Bo Diaz each hit a two-run homer, Davis's breaking a 4-4 tie in the seventh.

Cardinals 3, Astros 0: In St. Louis, Vince Coleman had two singles, stole three bases and scored twice as the Cardinals registered their third shutout in their last six games. The winners pulled off a triple play in the eighth. With runners on first and second, pinch-hitter Jim Pankovits hit a grounder to third baseman Terry Pendleton. Pendleton stepped on third and threw to second baseman Jose Oquendo, who touched second; Oquendo's relay to first beat Pankovits. It was the fourth triple play of the major-league season.

SAN FRANCISCO — In the Surgh, a two-run single by Barry Bonds snapped a fifth-inning tie, and R.J. Reynolds and Andy Van Tuesday night, they heated up. sixth consecutive decision since

> Padres 6, Expos 2: In San Diego, Tony Gwynn went 3-for-3, drove in two runs and scored twice to pace the Padres. Gwynn, batting .320 on the season, has hit .426 in his last 14 can League, in Detroit, the Tigers failed to score better than three runs for the 19th time in their last 26 games. Bert Blyleven returned from the disabled list and pitched six shutout innings to end his fivegame losing streak.

Mariners 7, Red Sox 0: In Boston, Scott Bankhead scattered nine hits to record his first major league shutout. The Red Sox lost their second straight game at Fenway Park since setting a league record with 24 consecutive victories at Angels 15, Yankees 6: In New York, Wally Joyner homered and for 48 slump, went 3-for-5 and coasted past the Yankees. Brian scored three times.

Downing hit a two-run home run,
Dwight Gooden, who won for Chili Davis singled twice during a the first time in four starts, waited seven-run third and Mark McLe-- Downing hit a two-run home run, Goo- two runs; the Angels tied a season

Athletics 6, Orioles 3: In Baltimore, Mark McGwire had three hits and drove in two runs to help Storm Davis (12-4) win his seventh straight decision in his first start against his former team. White Sox 5, Blue Jays 4: In Chicago, Carlton Fisk's two-run homer and RBI single led the White Sox past Toronto. Fisk caught his 1,804th game, one short of Rick Ferrell's league record. Rangers 5, Royals 4: In Kansas City, Missouri, Curtis Wilkerson and Scott Fletcher hit run-scoring triples, and Oddibe McDowell added an RBI double to fuel a three-run seventh that rallied Texas.

Indians 6, Brewers 5: In Cleveland, Andy Allanson drove in Wil-he Upshaw with none out in the 10th; lifting the Indians. Willie Upshaw opened the inning with a single off Chuck Crim, and stole second. After a walk, Allanson singled block by Bob Boone made New York's Rickey Henderson miss the target in Tuesday's first inning; Henderson was tagged out when he reached back to touch the plate. California bombed the Yankees, 15-6.

In 1980, Austin moved up to No. 1 in the rankings, a position held by either Evert or Navratilova

And in 1981, she won the open again, defeating Navratilova in the final. By the time she was 20, she had earned a cool $1.9 million in

That seemed so long ago when ly, at long last ready to start over at for the previous five years.

prize money,

the age of 25.

be there," she said.

and Martina Navratilova divide Austin drove to San Diego recent-

Cards, Dodgers: Tudor for Guerrero

ST. LOUIS - The run-starved St. Louis Cardinals acquired slugger Pedro Guerrero from Los Angeles late Tuesday in a one-for-one deal that sent pitching ace John Tudor to the Dodgers.

"Basically, it's a premier pitcher for a premier hitter," said Whitey Herzog, the Cardinal manager.

Tudor, 34, is 50-24 in three and a half seasons with St. Louis and 101-65 in his 10 years in the major leagues. In 1985, the left-hander was 21-8 and led the Cardinals to the National League pennant; this season he is 6-5 with a league-leading 2.29 earned-rum

Guerrero, 32, was to join the Cardinals in time for Wednesday night's game here against Houston. Guer-rero has a 309 career batting average. He has missed 59 games this season because of a pinched nerve in his neck and is hitting 298, but with only five home runs and 35 runs batted in.

Dal Maxvill, the St. Louis general manager, said Guerrero agreed in principle to sign a three-year contract in the vicinity of the $5.5 million he was reported to have been seeking.

"It's very close. It's a bit low," Maxvill said of the amount that had been conjectured. "He was earning $1.72 million a year. You're not going to pay yester-

The Dodgers did not need to negotiate with Tudor. He is under contract for 1989, at the same $1.1 million he is being paid this season. Tudor has indicated he wants to retire after the 1989 season.

General Manager Fred Claire said that Tudor would be a vital addition as the Dodgers — with leftbander Fernando Valenzuela on the disabled list fight to stay in first place in the Western Division

Maxvill said the Cardinals parted with Tudor becanse they needed, and had the opportunity to get, an "everyday player with outstanding run-producing po-

The St. Louis lineup has lacked potency ever since Jack Clark bolted to the New York Yankees as a free-agent in the off-season. The Cardinals, who came within one victory of a World Series championship last season, have been averaging 31/2 runs per game and have been shutout 14 times this year.

Reynolds Breaks 400-Meter Record

the United States ran 400 meters in 1987 World Championships. an astonishing 43.29 seconds on Wednesday at the Zurich Weltklasse track meet, breaking Lee EvLewis at Rome, was third with ans's 20-year-old world record of 10.00 seconds, behind Calvin 43.86 seconds.

Her back is fine, she said. And the injuries that made her a speclating and unflappable. She did not hard as Graf does now, but like

Austin said, but her outlook has.

in control. When tennis was taken vincing.

Evert she won.

DETSOIL.

in 9.93 seconds in a 100-meter race. ZURICH - Butch Reynolds of It was their first meeting since the

Smith of the United States, who

Austin and Graf, there are dozens talent but not the temperament to

"For me to be number one at 17,

I had to be single-minded," Austin

She played with minor injuries that didn't heal properly. She allowed

"I was also to blame," Austin

Later, Carl Lewis of the United came in second at 9.97 seconds.

States beat Ben Johnson of Canada Johnson was charged with a false survive.

Austin is reluctant to talk about said. But she made mistakes, too.

As a teen-ager, she was a mirror officials and tournament directors image of Evert, playing matches of attrition from the baseline, calcushe wanted to rest.

attack like Navratilova or hit as said. "I didn't listen to my body."

ard as Graf does now, but like At an age when she would have been finishing her junior year in college, Austin faced the possible but Lewis stayed within a meter of him throughout the first part of the race. Then the American made up the distance and was even at 90 was moving away slightly and raised his arms two meters before the tape when he knew he had won. Lewis was immediately hugged by his sister, Carol, and then gestured to the crowd to emphasize his It's Five Years Later, but Austin's Still in No Hurry

Evans astounded the world by clay-court winning streak in the process.

In 1980, Austin moved up to clay-court winning streak in the like termis tour by storm. She does not know if she will even play sinfirst rounds in San Diego and Los clay being lost youth.

Lindqvist of Sweden — lost in the but also pitfalls, the most notable at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City — the same Games where Bob City — the same Games where Bob start. In the restart, he was out first

Over the final 10 meters, Lewis of 29 feet, 21/2 inches in the long who drop out, those who may have jump. Reynolds, who won the 400 at the U.S. Olympic trials in 43.93 seconds last month in Indianapolis.

was urged on by a cheering crowd of 25,000. "It took a long time, but I did it," said the jubilant Reynolds, 24.

"They can't take it from me."

Revnolds also had thoughts about Evans, who has spent the last several years coaching in Africa, most recently as a Fulbright professor of sports in Cameroon.

"I want to meet him," Reynolds said. "I want to share this with end of her career. For a year or two, "As a person, I'm different she was reeling, always promising a U.S. Olympians Danny Everett and Steve Lewis were second and now," she said. "I'm more mature, comeback, but never sounding conthird behind Reynolds. Everett was clocked in 44.20 seconds, Lewis at away from me, there was a void. I "I wasn't being cagey or trying to had to become a more complete hide," she said. "A lot of people were skeptical because I couldn't Innocent Egbunike of Nigeria give a date or time. They said I was afraid, that I didn't want to play set a blistering pace for the first 200 meters and led Reynolds by about five meters after the first half. But the Nigerian, silver medalist "But I've always known that I was going to play again. It had to at last year's World Champion-be my decision. There are many ships, tired approaching the final ships, ured approaching the final bend and Reynolds pulled away from the field. paths I can take and a lot depends on how hard I want to work and if I After hugging his brother, Jeff, person and my killer instinct is still thereal would love to get back to plauded by a crowd shouting, "Reynolds! Reynolds!" His 43.93 at the U.S. Olympic trials was the fastest ever at sea

Reynolds said then it was time "for someone to make another record that hopefully won't be reached for another 20 years."

"I was calm, basically happy to "The radio was playing and I claim she would have had to those was singing. For the first time in Andrew States spoils; she can only imagine how five years, my body was allowing she would have met Steffi Graf's me to play." Austin's return has begun with In 1979, when she was 16, Austin two baby steps, playing doubles became the youngest player to win matches in professional tournathe U.S. Open, beating Evert at her ments in San Diego and Los Angewn baseline game in the final. Ies. She plans to play mixed dou-Earlier that year, she won the bles with Ken Flach at the open Italian Open for her first big vic-tory, ending Evert's 125-match She has no illusions about taking

"I played these two tourna-ments, and now I have to go for the next little splash," she said. "I live in her left foot, which delayed her gles the rest of this year. There is no Angeles, the reports were that she hurry, Austin reasoned, to ride the played well.

for today. I will listen to my own return as recently as last January. feelings. I'm going to stay positive, not put any pressure on myself." the injuries that ma Although Austin—teaming first tactor in her prime.

with Robin White, then Catarina

"I'm more mature, in control."

ESCORTS & GUIDES

"That's more important than what I might have done in tennis. I'm grateful and I have no regrets. I again. know this sounds too wonderful. but I'm not acting. "I'm happy the way my life has Austin never really left tennis. She remained close to her coach, Robert Lansdorp, giving clinics, speaking to groups. She became a television personality, covering Wimbledon this summer for ABC's "Good Morntheir weekends at the beach, she ing America." She was part of the Five years is a long time to be on real world that she missed as a the sidelines, she admitted, but she's still young and more enthusiyoungster. Austin turned professional when astic than ever. Now, she knows she was only 15. While her classmates in southern California spent was trading ground strokes with the best players in the world. There were staggering rewards Who knows how far I'll go?"

why she plays.
"For me, it's most important to tennis," Austin said.

the tob.

though.

remember the joy I feel for playing "I love the game, the challenge.

stay positive. I'm a competitive

She isn't making promises,

At Mexico City, Evans dropped the 400-meter record by seventenths of a second and also ran a ESCORTS & GUIDES GENEVA DANY ESCORT  and Guide Service. Tel: Geneva: 022 35 68 23. LONDON EXECUTIVE Common Exert Service, 11cm - 2cm. 0850,344609, SCORT AND GUIDE AGENCY. The ESCORTS & GUIDES

Bankhead, 6-7, L.—Gardner, 5-4, HR—Se corrie, quisones (18).

Oaldand 238 628 981—6 TI 9

Betitimere 288 629 980—3 6 8

Dovis, Codoret (7), Eckerstev (3) and Hassey; Tibbs and Kennedy, W—Dovis, 12-4, L—Tibbs, 4-18, Sv—Eckerstev (34), HRS—Oak, land, Henderson (18), Boltimore, Marroy (23), Alliewaykee 300 180 919 6—5 11 3 300 100 010 4-6 13 2 814 590 000 1-4 15

Key, Stelb (4) and Whith; McDowell, Horton (7), Pail (7), Thispen (5) and Fisk W—McDow-ell, 5-6. L—Key, 7-3. HR—Chicago, Fisk (11). NATIONAL LEAGUE

676 861 908-2 7 6 878 820 61x-4 8 6 Affords 816 801 908—2 7 9
Pittsburgh 918 808 61x—4 8 6
P.Smith, Alvarez (7) and Benedict 18 1 (7): Drubek, Robinson (8), Gott (9) and Lo-volliers. W—Drubek, 13-4. L—P.Smith. 5-12. Sw—Gott (21). HRs—Pittsburgh, Reynolds (6), Von Siyke (21).

Holman, Porrett (6). Heaton (7) and Santo-venio; Jones, McCuillers (7) and Santiono. W. Jones, 8-10. L.—Holman, 2-5. S.—McCuillers (9). Jones, S-Tu. L.—Hoismon, 2-5, 54—McCullers (9).
Philodelphie 166 918 360—6 11 I.
Les Angeles 686 622 69x—7 11 I.
Corman, Harris (5), Teluvier (7) and Parrisk); Learly, Pena (7), Howell (8) and Demperature 11.5 Learly (1).

Part W-Legry, 13-8. L.-Cormon, 9-7. Sv-Howell (25). HR-Les Anceles, Ghson (23). New York 98 290 292-13 15 1 Sqn Francisco 613 180 649- 6 11 3 Gooden, McCourte (8), Numez (7) and Carter, Lyons (7); Hammalar, Price (1), Dovis (2), Bromtiey (4), Lefferts (8) and Metrin, W-Gooden, 14-6, L-Hammalar, 5-5. HRs-New York, Strawberry (20), McRaynolds (19), Son Francisco, Maldonado (8).

TRANSITION

PHILADELPHIA—Normed Lance Nichols director of player development, Jay Honkins director of southing and Dan Blostingame miner feague coordinator.

ST. LOUIS—Extended the contract of Dal ST. LOUIS-Extension his common or but Mooxill, general manager, ferough 1994. Placed Donny Cox, pitcher, on the 15-day dis-plied list, Activeled Gree Mattews, pitcher, from the 60-day disobled list. BASICETBALL

UTAH—Cut Corrence Muritin, forward.
FOOTBALL
Matternal Foetball League
ATLANTA—Walved Carter Wiley, defenstree back; Josel Williams, Hight end, and Anthemy Anderson, safety.
BUFFALO—Walved Chris Duilban, linebacker: Brian McClure, auerterback, and Tony Simmons, defensive end.
CINCINIATI—Refered Leanard Bell, polisty.

from the LA Raiders.

LA RAIDERS—Staned Jeff Goss er. Released Brad Budde, offensive linemon and Reigh Giscomarro, punter. MIAMI—Announced that Doug Marrane

FOOTBALL

Nvtsion 2 0 157 145 2 0 140 103 3 0 134 122 3 0 137 146

Wolved Dave Nugent, nose tockle; Don Herning, sourierbock; Dieter Hren and Terry Tumey, linebockers; Bill Kirker, offensive linemen; Bruce Richardson, safety; David Smith, cornerbock; Joson Stauravsky, kicker; Dan Stokes, offensive guard; Peter Wilkins, defensive end, and Tom Yohn, running back.

MEW ORLEANS—Announced that Reuben Mayes, taliback, has left comp.

K.Y. JETS—Placed Bobby Riley, wide receiver, and Mott Monger, linebocker, on in-calver, and Matt Monger, linebacker, on inforest reserve. PHILADELPHIA—Signed Joe Conwell of PHILADELI-HIA—Signed Joe Conveil or-lensive tockle, to a time-even: controct and slaced him on injured reserve, Walved D.D. Hoppard, comerback; Martin Booker, wide receiver, and Troy Jackson, finebacker. PHOENIX—Signed Alice Prindle, place-

end. WASHINGTON—Acquired Bobby Mich

running back-tight and, from the Denver Brancos for undisclosed druft pick. Signed Ted Wilson, wide receiver. HOCKEY MCCKEY Largue

BUFFALO—Signed Ken Priestry, center, and Alkoel Andersson, Milke Hartman and Kavin Maguire, wings.
N.Y. RANGERS—Signed Poul Braten, for-

COLLEGE AIR FORCE ACADEMY—Nomed Silvey ominquez assistant basketball coach, COLUMBIA—Norned Gory Rulke strength nd conditioning coordinator and Kirk Soutny

MISSOURI BAPTIST—Named John Cree

SOUTH CAROLINA—Declared Ryon Bethea, wide receiver, ineligible for the 1988 ecson. SOUTHERN METHODIST—Named Dave Wallman track and field coach, TENNESSEE—Extended the contract of Johann Majors, football coach, fursugh 1994. TEXAS-Announced that Richard Quick, women's arrithming coact, has resigned to take the same past at Stanford.

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED

SERVICE Head office in New York 330 W 56 St NYC 10019 212-765-7896 212-765-7754 MAJOR CREDIT CARDS AND CHECKS ACCEPTED

INTERNATIONAL

ESCORT

ARISTOCATS 3 Shouldham Street, London Wi All mojor Credit Cards Accepted Tel: 01-258 0090 [3 LINES] 12 noon - michight

TONDON. BELGRAVIA of Skip Probst, hockey coach, WISCONSIN-OSHKOSH-Named

 MADRID

ZURICH 558720 Private Tourism Guide Service Credit Cords Accepted

(Continued from Back Page)

ESCORTS & GUIDES ESCORTS & GUIDES . TOKYO - PRIST CLASS - ESCORE Guide and Membership Service. Tel (23) 351-2278 GENEVA * MELODIE * ESCORI SERVICE, Tol. 022/461158 CAPRICE-NYC ESCORT SERVICE IN NEW YORK TEL: 212-737 3291 Evelyn First Class Escort Service. Tel: 37 56 70. ZURICH Service. Tel: 01/41 76 09 MAYFAIR CLUB ESCORT SERVICE from 5 pm ROTTERDAM (0) 10-425-4155

 Sophistand Esort and Guide Service. Tel. 39 405 London. CNEON ONLY JAPANESE ESCORT Service. Blaquel. Credit cords. Tel. 01-30 3757 / 603 7194 SHADOWS++++ ADRED UMPACT ESCORT and Guid Service. Multilinguol. Visc. Open 11 cm - midnight. Tel: 261 4142

LONDON BRAZILAN ESCORT Service. Open seven days a week. Multilinguol. Tel: 01 723 4666 FRANKEURTEUROPE
NEW LADY ESCORT + TRAVE.
SERVICE CALL-09/49 74 01.

SERVICE CALL-09/49 74 01.

SERVICE TOL-09/49 74 01.

SERVICE TOL-09/49 74 01.

SERVICE CALL-09/49 74 01.

SERVICE CALL-09/49 74 01. LONDON LATIN AMERICAN Escort Service. Open seven days a week. Tel: 01 706 1973.

AMSTEROAM 2000 Escort Service.
All credit cards accepted. Phone: (b)
20-911030 or 06-52130912
MESICO CITY BEGANT mobilingual and distrete escort service. Credit Cards. 16t 75 10 87. HAMBURG & Fensele Escort Service. Tel: 040/553 4145 Tel: 040/533 4145
ATHENS DECUMENT ESCORT AND Guide Service. 7 days a week, English spoken, Tel; 3641746 Athens
REANGURY TOP TEN" ESCORT
SPANCE TEL: 069 / 5548-26. THE BEST IN TOWN. REKKIO - SWEDISHHIGH CLASS ESCORT SEKVICE Telephone 589 8015 LONDON

MOSTERDAM LASMIN Excert Service. Tel: 020-333033. The best in town. Credit cords accepted.

Houston Son Francisco

RIDGE

4.5 OF IX IX ME

(# 6) # ###

SCOREBOARD

BASEBALL Tuesday's Line Scores AMERICAN LEAGUE en, Atherton (7), Reardon (9) and (7), Morris and Nakes, W.—Blyloven, 8er (9). 227 100 122--15 17 t 900 203 100-- 6 10 t

Frozer, Minton (7) and Boone, Miller (3); Rioden, Gutterman (2), Allen (3), Guante (7) and Skinner, Slought (7), W.—Frozer, 9-10. L.— Rhoden, Guttermon (2), Allen (3), Guante (7) and Skinner, Slowaht (7), W.—Froser, 9-10, L.—Rhoden, F.P. HR9—Colifornic, Downing (19), Joyner (9), New York, Washington (7), Mathingly 2 (13), Winfield (21), Velorde (4) see

Major League Standings

5% 7% 588 538

Cleveland 814 996 806 1—4 13 8 August, Clear (6). Crim (8) and Surhoff; Nichols, Gardon (7), Janes (8), Bolles (18) and Allonson, W.—Baifes, 8-Tt. L.—Crim, 5-4. HRS—Cleveland, Hall (5). Smyder (21). Texas:

288.003 366—5 18 6 Kenses Chy 200 800 366—6 18 6 Hough, Williams (9) and Perhalli; Gubiczo, Forr (9) and Quirk, W.—Hough, 10-13, L.—Gubiczo, 14-7.

Chicago 10 10 23 16 4 7 1
Cacchasti 90 22 25 4 18 8
Pico, Perry (6), Lancaster (7), DiPina (7) and Serryfill; Srowning, Williams (7), Murphy (8), Franco (9) and Diaz. Williams, 3-1, L.—Lancaster, 4-6. HRs—Clacinson 61—

Gooden-McClure (5), Nunez (9) and Corter.

own baseline game in the final.

New York Tunes Service

years. Tracy Austin has been on the outside of women's tennis looking in, waiting for the chance to answer never play competitively again.

the skeptics who said she would Ever since a chronic back injury and foot problems sent her into involuntary retirement in June

1983, Austin watched Chris Evert

most of the spoils, until a West

German teen-ager with an over-powering forehand ended their

Austin can only guess how big a domination last year.

NEW YORK -- For the last five

Stational Sesketball Association
ATLANTA—Signed free agent Masss M ione, center, to a three-wear contract.
CLEVELAND—Signed Randeloh Keys. fit word, to a four-year contract.
LA. CLIPPERS—Signed Gory Graguard, to a multiyear contract.
UTAH—Cut Clarence Martin, forward.
ECOTEAL1.

solety.

INDIANAPOLIS—Extended the contract of Ducine Bickett. linebacker, through 1992.

LA RAMS—Signed Shown Miller, defensive lineman. Collined Scott Tobar, punier.

ART BUCHWALD The Trump Column

Ivana, were eating breakfast in the all the details of a cease-fire. window of Tiffany's, which they had recently purchased. Donald sipped his orange juice and made a face. "It tastes funny," he said.

"I don't know, but if I bought Florida I could make better juice than this."

"What part of Florida?" Ivana wanted to know.

"The whole state. There's no sense in just owning a piece here and a piece there. How does Trump Disney World sound to you?"

thought you were going to buy Mexico and corner the refried "There is no reason why I can't have them both. How does Trump Refried Beans grab you?" "It has a nice ring to it. Are we going out on the boat today?"

Buchwald

"The boat's in dry dock. I'm adding anti-minesweeping gear to it."
"Don't tell me you've bought the Strait of Hormuz."

Texas Link Seen To British Colony

HOUSTON — A set of graves dug into the banks of Buffalo Bayou near downtown Houston may be the remnants of a lost British colony in Texas, according to Kenneth Brown, a University of Houston anthropologist.

The burial sites are "black earth graves," a custom believed unique to England in the 16th and 17th centuries to combat the spread of the bubonic plague, Brown said. Under a British law passed during a plague outbreak in 1563, bodies had to be placed directly in the ground, without coffins, and covered with fresh dirt and other organic matter.

Brown believes the colony was founded in the early 1600s by Britons fleeing the plague and political world now and forever.

TO MS. WONG MEN CHANG lists in Hang Kong, Bear wises for August 19. Hope the show will be successful Love from Coffenies Name in Paris.

THANK YOU SACRED HEART of Jesus

ANNOUNCEMENTS

USADIRECT CALLING THE STATES FROM OVERSEAS HAS NEVER BEEN ISBE WITH USADIRECT SERVICE

All you have to do is dial of number to be connected to an AT&T operator in the U.S.

AUSTRALIA

0014-881-011

BELGIUM

11-0010

BR. VIRGIN IS.

1-800-872-2881

DENMARK

0430-0010

FINLAND

9800-100-10

RANCE

19*-0011

GERMANY, FRG'

0130-0010

HONG KONG

008-1111

NORWAY

050-12-011

WASHINGTON — Donald "No. but I have an option on it trump and his lovely wife, as soon as Iraq and Iran work out They'll be renamed the Strait of Trump.

"Donald, you never cease to amaze me. You would buy St. Pat-"What's wrong with it?" Ivana rick's Cathedral if you had a chance."

"Maybe not the cathedral, but I'd certainly consider acquiring the air rights over it. What do you think of Trump St. Patrick's?

"I like it," Ivana said. "What are you doing after breakfast?" "I'm going to fly out to Jackson Hole, Wyoming."

"The government won't let you own Jackson Hole."

"I didn't say I was going to buy it. All I want is a 99-year lease so that I can build a casino there.

Trump Jackson Hole fits in nicely with the other stuff I have." 'It's all right with me, but I "It will attract a lot of people who were afraid to come to the wilderness before."

"What are your plans for today,

"I have to have my hair done." "That's a good idea. I'll buy you the Elizabeth Arden company. Trump Elizabeth Arden sounds great to me.

"I don't want to own Elizabeth Arden. I just need somebody to do my hair." But, Ivana, you wouldn't have to tip anyone if it was your compa-"Donald, you are a compulsive shopper. You don't have to buy everything just because it's there." "That's easy for you to say. But if don't acquire something every day, I get sick to my stomach. have a good mind to make a bid for Venice. Then I could merge it with Verona. I'd like to call it the Trump Romeo and Juliet Estates. If someone purchases a condo, they get free swimming rights in the Venice canals."

"Donald, I never know when you're joking."

"When it comes to real estate, I never joke. If I can make a go of Venice, then maybe they will let me build a shopping center on St. Pe-

"What name will you put on it,

"I'll have to give that a lot of thought.

Hillerman's Navajo Whodunits

By Deborah Stead New York Times Service

New YORK — Tony Hillerman is, as they say in publishing, breaking out.
His minth and latest mystery novel, "A Thief of Time," featuring his Navajo detectives Joe Leaphorn and Jim Chee in a tale of murder, missing persons and stolen artifacts in the American Southwest, has become a U.S. best seller, moving beyond the crime genre and winning critical success as a novel.

Over the last few weeks, Hillerman, who lives in Albuquerque, New Mexico, has been interviewed on national television, and Robert Redford telephoned to talk about putting Joe Leaphorn and Jim Chee on the screen.

"It's nice to be recognized," Hillerman said recently, relaxing in a hotel room between bookshop appearances arranged by his publisher, Harper & Row. But as he talked about his life and his work, it became clear that for the 63-year-old Hillerman — a man who entered the Navajo world, a journalist and teacher who mastered detective fiction breaking through barriers is nothing new.

Hillerman was born in Sacred Heart, a small farming village in Oklahoma. His neighbors were Potawatomie and Seminole. he said, "so you grew up knowing that Indians are the same as you." Once you realize that basic kinship, he said, you can explore the differences.

For Hillerman, that exploration began at the end of World War II, when he was 20 years old. Wounded in France (and awarded the Silver Star), he was back home working as a truck driver when he mistakenly drove onto a Navajo reservation in New Mexico. He found himself witnessing an Enemy Way cer-emony — an ritual used to heal returning Navajo soldiers.

Afterward, he began reading about Navajo culture and became a regular visitor on the reservation. "I'm kind of a garrulous fellow and after a while, they recognized me as another country boy."

A reporter from The Daily Oklahoman, meanwhile, was recognizing something else. "She had read the letters I sent home to my mother for an article she wrote about my Silver Star," Hillerman said. "And she told me she thought I was a good writer."
Hillerman enrolled at the University of Oklahoma and got an undergraduate journalism degree. For the next two decades, he wrote — radio jingles for Purina Pig Chow at an Oklahoma City advertising agency ("that job lasted a few weeks"), then police-blotter pieces for The News-Herald in Borger, Texas. ("You learn about the seven deadly sins"). By 1950, he was covering politics for United Press in Oklahoma City. In 1952 he was transferred to Santa Fe, New Mexico, where two years later he got a job as a political reporter at The New Mexican. By 1963, he was the paper's top editor.

But he was eager to write stories that allowed him to teil a few lies. "I wanted to work ment to Navajo myths and traditions. The old Hillerman: A twisting path through journalism and academia to mystery writing.

with the plastic of fiction, instead of the hard rock of truth," he said. "As writing becomes more important to you, you want to try that."
Influenced by Eric Ambler, Graham Greene and Raymond Chandler (and by an Australian author, Arthur Upfield, who wrote detective fiction featuring an Aborigi-ne policeman), Hillerman tried to create his own mystery novels, using as a backdrop the Navajo reservation he remembered so well. He needed more time and more training, he decided. So at age 38, with the support of his wife, Marie, and with five children to feed, Hillerman left the newspaper and enrolled in a graduate program in creative writing at the University of New Mexico. (The Hillermans, married for 40 years, brought up six children

Hillerman freelanced and took a job as a jack-of-all-trades for the university president. He got his master's degree in 1965. For his thesis, he wrote "The Great Taos Bank Robbery," a collection of essays about life in New

At the university's request, he stayed on to teach journalism. Academic life left him time to write, and in 1970, Hillerman published his first Navajo detective novel, "The Blessing Way," featuring Lieutenant Joe Leaphorn. Leaphorn showed up again, in "Dance Hall of the Dead" and "Listening Woman."
Later, in "People of Darkness," The Dark Wind" and "The Ghostway," Officer Jim Chee, a younger Navajo policeman, started

Joe Leaphorn is a married, middle-aged law officer who moves wearily but comfortably in the white world as he outwits bureaucrats and criminals. Jim Chee, his sometime sidekick, is more energetic than Leaphorn and despite his youth has a deeper commitspells and spirits are still very much alive for Chee, while Leaphorn tends to be scornful of such matters as ghosts and witchcraft but knows they come with the territory.

The books, with their Southwest landscapes and Indian lore, began to be used on reservations to teach Navajo and Zuni schoolchildren about their traditions. Hillerman won an Edgar award from the Mystery Writers of America, a Navajo Tribe's Special Friend Award and France's Grand Prix de Littérature Policière (his books have been translated into eight languages, including

But despite a loyal following among mys-tery fans, book sales in the United States did not surge until "The Skinwalkers," written after Hillerman quit the university in 1985 and began to write full time. "Skinwalkers" brought the two Navajo law officers together, and Harper & Row decided it was a formula for success. The publisher announced a marketing budget of $40,000 for the book, instead of the usual $10,000. It printed 35,000 copies instead of 10,000. It arranged a national tour that for the first time extended east of the Mississippi. About 33,000 copies were sold.

With "A Thief of Time," the breakout has been even more ambitious. The marketing budget was $150,000. About 130,000 copies have been printed in hard cover.

Hillerman, meanwhile, is working on his next Navajo novel — one, he says, that may bring Jim Chee to the Smithsonian Institu-tion in Washington.

No matter how he is marketed, he says, he doesn't think of writing in categories - mysteries versus novels, fiction versus journalism. He thinks in terms of improvement. "If I can't continue to get better," he said, "I'm

PEOPLE

Longevity Expert's Tips

Soviet Georgia, renowned for the had made money for the trusts. longevity of its inhabitants. His elder son, Osman, 98, told the Soviet news agency: "When we mow a meadow together, I have trouble keeping up with him." The older man says he has become a little tor last year for the first time in his life "because I caught a chill." Davidaze has 167 children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Pauline Trigère is taking on John B. Fairchild, a man few in the fashion industry dare offend, in a fullpage advertisement in several mag-azines. Trigère, a New York designer best known for princess dresses and flowing capes, chides the chairman of Fairchild Publications for excluding her name from Women's Wear Daily. Fairchild of-ten bans from the influential industry trade paper any mention of designers whose words or work have offended him. Trigère said her name had not appeared in Women's Wear Daily for three years. "I wanted to prove to the world that I'm still alive and kicking," she said. The columnist James Brady, a former publisher of WWD, said shunned designers, who include Hubert de Givenchy, Giorgio Ar-mani and Bill Blass, have usually "kept their mouths shut and taken it on the chin." In her "Dear John letter to John Fauchild," Trigère asks: "After all these years and so many terrific collections - is it really over between us?"

Joel Strote, a Hollywood entertainment lawyer, has defeated a court challenge to his control of two multimillion-dollar trusts in the estate of Liberace. Michael Wendell, a District Court judge in Las Vegas, Nevada, heard nearly four hours of final arguments and then immediately ruled from the bench that Strote had done a good staff from more than 300 to less job as trustee and that his fees of $250 an hour were not unreasonable, given his legal background and the size of the estate, estimated at $15 million to $20 million. The entertainer died of AIDS in Februannounced that it expects to post a ary 1987, two weeks after signing a $69 million loss:

some tips for those who want to live tor and trustee. Liberace's sister, a long time: "Don't get mad over silly little things," "make each new day a joy," get "plenty of physical work" and "don't smoke," Tass reports. Davidaze is the oldest man in the lawyer in the lawye

San Francisco has offered a $17,312 settlement to a blind woman who sued the city after being forced by a policeman to clean in hard of hearing, and he saw a doc- after her guide dog in 1985. Ray: gena Harper, 25, a stockbroker, said she would accept the offer it it is approved by the city's Board of Supervisors. Aaron Barnes, a 22year police veteran who has been on unpaid sick leave since 1986, said, "I was just doing my job." He said he hadn't known that owners. of guide dogs were exempt from city's "pooper-scooper" law.

> The actress-singer Madonia and her husband, the film star Sean Penn, celebrated her 30th birthday Tuesday in New York, then kep partying Wednesday for his 28th birthday and their third anniversa-"Despite all the predictions, ry. "Despite all the predictions, they're still together," said their publicist, Liz Rosenberg. Annual Marie Street other acting couple. Bruce Willis and his wife, Demi Moore, have become parents. Their daughter was born in Paducah, Kentucky, where Willis is working on a film.

Ballets by "a choreographer un-known until now to the Soviet public" — the Russian-born dance. George Balanchine — will be performed for the first time in the Soviet Union by the Bolshoi Ballet, the Bolshoi's choreographer, Andrei Petrov, announced Wednes-day. He did not say which ballets would be done, or when.

The De Laurentiis Entertainment Group has filed in Los Anzeles for protection from its creditors under U.S. bankruptcy laws. Its founder, the film producer Dino De than 100, sold foreign rights to its film library, closed some domestic operations and sold other assets. The company has not yet reported

A WORLD

OF JOB

Sension Dan Quayle of Indiana. Man 'Upbeat' Br

INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED PERSONAL MESSAGES ANNOUNCEMENTS POLLY PURERRED, Please call home as soon as possible. Jodie is fine. Box number ELEWYAKW. number ELEWYAKW. MOST SACRED HEART of Jesus, St. Jude, you powerful helpers even in the most desperate situations. You help those who seek your help in belief & trust. May the most socred heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world now and forever. TO AMS WORLD MEM CLARKE S. EMPLOYMENT EMPLOYMENT REAL ESTATE REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE GENERAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

THE IHT IS NOW AVAILABLE IN KEY U.S. CITIES ON DATE OF ISSUE

in the U.S.A., coll

(212) 752-3890

JAPAN FRANKFURT 0039-111 NETHERLANDS 06*-022-9111

ALLED VAN LINES 0101) 312-681-8100

SWEDEN FOUR WINDS INTERNATIONAL MOVING BY THE LARGEST WORLDWIDE MOVER 020-795-611 PARIS OFFICE (1) 34.64.91.91 UNITED KINGDOM

0800-89-0011 Await second dial tone
1. Available on a mal bass only.
2. Not available from all locations.
There may be a stent delay of up to 30 seconds between dialing and CONTINEX. Small & medium soves baggage, cors worldwide. Call Char Se: Paris 42 87 18 81 (near Opera).

stor response. While in the USA diel 1-800-874-4000 Ect. 344

AT&T The right choice.

UP TO 52 FREE ISSUES

1-800-882-2884 In New York, call or write ternational Herald Tribune 850 Third Avenue New York, N.Y. 10022 Teles: 427 175 Faz: (212) 755-8785

AMERICAN HOSPITAL OF PARIS, occredited US hospital, 24-hour emergency service, English spoken, Blue Cross, 45 specialities under one rost sur Serier (10 mm. Boile), Tel: 47 47 53 00. Serie (10 mm. Epole). Let. 47 43 00.
COMING TO LONDON. All sold out events: Les Mis, Picarlom, Cots, off heatres, sports, pop + Wimbledon tennis UK 19 22 71847. Gredit cords MILA SCHON. The most refined of oil fies, in ZURCH exclusively of MISHEROS = leading men's store—
13, Bohnoistr. 01-211 27 50

Geneva, Tet France 50 41 44 65, TELING low? — having problems? SOS HELP crisis-line in English. 3 p.m.-11 p.m. Tel: Porn 47 23 80 80.

MOVING

ALLIED VAN LINES INTERNATIONAL worldwide moving

DESBORDES LONDON BOLLIGER TRANSPORT

[IZ2] 846 5741

NICE COMPAGNE GENERALE 93.21.35.72

CALL US FOR AN ESTIMATE YOU WILL BE GLAD YOU DED I

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE FRENCH PROVINCES

MOUGINS. Mot 19th century, 370 sa.m., lovely reception, 5 bedrooms, 7000 sa.m. of land, swimming pool, F8,000,000. Promotion Mozari, Protestande des Anglais (RJAL), Nos, Tel. Mrs. Von Pilsoch, 93,88,37,37. Telles; 461235. TOTAL Priorie France 1947 - East 460 sq.m., villa data to beach, marvellous set views, impressive pool, fascinating gorden 4200 sq.m. Begant entertaining. Staff bungalow. $3M. Tel. France 9497 2221

FOR SALE FRENCH PROVINCES 12 MBN. MONACO, first turn offer, magnificent, 6000 sq. ft. 1920's house + unique 30 ocres & servejonal view Cap Ferral, US $2 million. McCrea, tel: 93 99 44 14, Fax: 9338 2455. GREAT BRITAIN WEST HAMPSTEAD, Large gracion

MONACO

Principality of Monaco NCE 3-ROOM APARTMENT

underground. 15 minutes West End. 4 bedruchts, 2 bethrooms, superb receptions, kitchen/direr with foundry consess. Resident porter. $208,500. London 631 316f doylane, 328 8880 mentions. A weekends. TOLL FREE

ATTRACTIVE PRICE

A.G.E.D.1, 26 bis, 8d Princesse Charlotte MC 98000 MCNACO Tel: 93.50.66.00. Teles: 479417 MC MONTE CARLO

Principality of Monaco Exceptoral Apartment.
Lucinous fiftings. Near center and beaches. Private headed swimming pool with jet stream. Verando, terraus.
Double living. 2 bedrooms, 2 beauthful bethrooms, inliess. I tome equipoed

INTERMEDIA

PARIS & SUBURBS

AVE DE LA BOUEDONNAIS.
odern deluce building, living + 3 drooms, 2 batts, equipped litchen, cing south, F4,100,000. Tel:
47,05.0676. REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

ATIENTIAN EXECUTIVES Publish your justness messages in the international Herald Inbure, where more than a third of a million readers wardwide, most of whom are in bestness and industry, will read it. Just talex us (Paris 613595) before 10 a.m., ensuring that we can talex you back, indicate which major credit card you wish to charge it to, the number and expiration date, and your message can appear within 48 hours.
Hease also include your address and telephone number for our files. GREAT BRITAIN

CONDON Lucary furnished apartments, fully serviced, choice of Mayfoir or edicamt to Kentington Polace. 6350 to 2450 per week. Secretarial floor/felex facilities. Mirinaum 3 floor/fis. Tel UT 497 4266 fax 0T 497 8994.

HALF YOUR LONDON HOTEL COSTS Rooms in beautiful townhouses from £15 per person per night, bed and breakfast 0T 203 3393.

HUNTINGDON HOUSE, lucarious serviced appartments in Central London Tel 0T 373 4525. The 22273. HOLLAND

DUTCH HOUSING CENTRE B.V. Deluxe rentels Voleniustr. 174, 1075 CH Amsterdon Tek 31.20.664.4444 Fac: 664.5354

ITALY When it Rome: PALAZZO AT VELABRO pary opertment house with furnish flats, available for Iweek and more Phone: 6794325, 6793450. Write: Via del Valabro 16, 00186 Roms.

PARIS AREA FURNISHED Summer Rental, Left Bank Short term. No agents. 43 25 08 91

TO RENT/SHARE PARIS AREA FURNISHED PARIS AREA FURNISHED 50 AVE FOCH. In horurious building, large 2-room, latchen, both. F17,500 charges included. Visit 3,30-dpm.
CHAMPS INSEES, studio, high class, TV, visie, liners, large or short term. Tet. 45 62 93 32. Embassy Service
8 Ava. do Massino 75008 Paris 50 AVE FOCH, high class building, nos studio, equipped krichen, shower room, F4,700 net, From 3.30-6pm YOUR REAL ESTATE AGENT IN PARIS

NEURLY BOIS NEW WAY OF STAYING IN PARE The Claridge Residence

FOR 1 WEEK OR MORE high class studio, 2 or 3 room oparhaeshs. FULLY EQUIPPED IMMEDIATE RESERVATIONS
Tel: 43 59 67 97 ON GRANDS BOULEVARDS opposite Rex cinema, 5th Roar, no lift, flot with great charm, about 65 sam, fully and well furnished, entrence hall, 3 rooms etc. All comfarts + roof storage. South balcopy with great Parts views, F4,000 inclusive, minimum 1 year, 1 or 2 persoas only. Tel. English Owner, 0770,2970. No Agents. 7th 51 PERE on garden, recent, pre-singious building, reception, 3 bed-rooms, 2 bethrooms, parking, F21,000. Tel: 45 27 12 19. SEVRES, HOUSE, F12,000/month. 5 min. mf1 school, bus Amencon school. Tel; 45 34 37 22 or 46 26 17 39. 19 RUE ST LOUIS EN L'ILE in beau

17 MAR 31 MUNIS EN L'AE in beoutful old bulding 2-room duplex, 50 sq.m., inchen, both F6250. Vist 3-6pm MARLY UE ROI, house, character, 5 rooms, 2 bothrooms, F11,000. Tel 42,89-20,03. FURNISHED & UNIFURNISHED PIRST-CLASS APARTMENTS Minimum rentol 2 months. Also flats & houses for sole, INTER URBIS, 31 rue de Monteox Paris (8th). Tek (1) 4563 1777 EMPLOYMENT

RUE DE LA PAIX ephon + 1 bedroom, F12,000 EMBASSY 45 62 30 00 47 33 80 38.

ODBON COUIR DU COMMERCE Sudio, F4500 charges included per month. Tel: 45,3325.45.

90 AVE DU MAINE high class studio, equipped listchen, both. F4050 charges included. Visit 10:30cm-2pm.

ATTENTION EXECUTIVES

BUSINESS

OPPORTUNITIES

OFFSHORE COMPANIES

Free professional consultate
Worldwide incorporations Immediate availability
Full confidential services

INTERNATIONAL OFFSHORE COMPANY INCORPORATIONS
FROM US$150
Imprehensive professional services fairle professional

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

CLEAN WATER
Polluted water is a worklavide problem.
We offer on u-clusive water filter for the home which requires no plumbing to install and no filter change for 5 yrs.
Opportunities still available. Distributions will be fully trained in set-up and ope-ration, leterated principals apply: Box $200, LH.T., 850 Third Ave, 10th R, NY, NY 10022 USA.

COMPUTER PORTRAITS

Color fatos con be transferred in seconds to T-shirts, badges, battons, manig you US$800 - 1000 per day + most of it profit. New & used systems US$600 - 20,000. Keema Color Computers, Beatherwester, 9, 6000 Frankfurt. Tel: 74 78 68. Teles: 412713.

GOLD

We seek to purchase unlimited quantities in any sue bars from any source of 2-5% below second London for Discretion essured, immediate decisions made. Contact London Fase 01 203

AGENTS/COMMISSION AGENTS invelvy mountaining company requires agents and/or commission of its today, Control lesson You. The Its 38788 ISSGE or Fee 657 7388146, Singapore 9029, other Joseph

SWISS FRANC COLLATERAL worsed. PBN's and DLC1. Also in US Dolors. D. McLarset, AEG, Ming Arcode, 06-12, 21 Cuscoden Rod, Segapore 1024, Fop. (60) 3449043.

Imprimic par Offprint. 73 rue de l'Evangile, 75018 Paris.

Geschaftsfuhrer Wanted Geveral Manager for small packagin machinery manufacturing company is cated near Dusseldorf, Must be fluent Germany English, preferably with goo technical, electro-machanical back ground Alfatty to communicate dental ground. Ability to communicate clearly with USA parent company ne budgets, forecasts and all commercial and technical readless. Send resume and all details to Box 5019. LHT. BSO Third Ave, 10th ft, NY, NY 10022

BUSINESS

OPPORTUNITIES

LLK. INIT: SALES MANAGER seels situation home or abroad. 20 years experience (14 as an ex-part) selling wide range of captal equipment. Specofist knowledge of for East & Meddle East mortes. Tally conversiont with commercial & financial post-cellums. Long contract neositation pro-

840-8 martering in Europe, see's position with stock options or opency. Contact in confidence: Created Ars, Poppel Alle 28-18, DIC-3801 Holte, Denmark. Fos. 45-15-4669, Tis. 3129.

ATTORNEY (ILM. in Int'l Low), multi-ingual with both low firm and government experience, seeks challenging position in Europe, currently in Pars and analysible immediately. Write Box 0094, Herald Tribune, 92521 Neutly Cedex, France.

IS PHYSICIAN. Board Certified. broad

US PHYSICIAN, Board Certified, bro

GENERAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

AMERICAN BROKERAGE HOUSE in Parts seeks Operations Clerk, The candidate should be bilingsol French/ English. Wortung papers obligatory. House training "or long term position. Coll P. Balen, or 42.61.84.50.

International Business Message Center FINANCIAL SERVICES BUSINESSMAN with £120,000 wonted for unique opportunity. Tel. (202)

> BUSINESS SERVICES BULK SCOTCH WHISKY
> Best prices point for under band stock in bulk. Please reply to Box 3028, LH.T., 63 Long Acre, London, WCEF 9H or Fax data to UK FAX 041 221 2762. ONDON ADDRESS BOND STREET

Mail, Phone, Fax, Telex, Conference room, Call 01-499-9192. Tx 262690. COMMERCIAL PREMISES KNIGHTSBRIDGE PRETIGIOUS SHOP/BASEMENT ASE FOR SALE, RENT $25,000 P.A PREMEUM ON APPLICATION Tallik 235 8100 office hours.

FINANCIAL SERVICES

USA (212) 755-9400

Hard to Borrow? Guaranties Provided We do not make loans Minimum: $100,000 TERMS: 5 - 20 YEARS THE FUNDING ASSISTANCE CORP

RNEST INVESTMENT LETTER Award winning Itarry Schulz Leiter its 24th year. World's highest poid in associal advisor. Geopoliscul/ resolutionless, $375/year. $50/tod. FBC, Box 622, CH-1001 Lousones, Switzerland, The ULTIMATE NEWSLETTER-

DIAMONDS DIAMONDS

TRANSCAR 17 ov de Friedland, 7500 Paris. Tel 4725 6444, Nice 9321 3551 Antwerp 233 9785, Cannes 9339 4344

TRANSCO ---OVERSEAS POSITIONS. Handreds of top poying positions available. Tox free sides - shipping - issurance that proving positions available. Tox free incomes, Attractive benefits. Opportunities for all occupations, for free information about an additional provincial pr

AUTOS TAX FREE

and more destinations Discount on 1st & business does Rates subject to madifications

Aldwych House, 71-91 Aldwych, London WCZ Tet: [1] 404 44 66 ook now by phone with credit o

NORLOWIDE FLIGHTI USA amytime, $160, west coost; $269. APP, 103 rue La Baetie, Paris 8th (a few yards from Cr. Bysney). Tel. [1) 42.89.10.81.

SERVICES

person. I race de L'Ocean. ECHNICAL TRANSLATORS, into Eng-lish, French, Sporrieh and German. Please send samples to: AIDEA, 24 Rue de la Reina Blanche, 75013 Paris.

GENERAL POSITIONS WANTED GIRL FRIDAY

ATTRACTIVE YOUNG WOMAN

SECRETARIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

MINERVE SEES for AMERICAN FIRMS in PARIS.
English, Belgion, Dutch or Germon secretories, Incomedge of Fresch required, English shorthand. Bilinguol televists. Write or phone: 138 Avenue Victor Hogo, 75116 Paris, France. Tel. [1] 47 27 61 69. EDUCATIONAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

NATIVE ENGLISH SPEAKERS needed to teach a maximum of 14 hours per week. Must be EEC or howe volid work papers. Guaranteed monthly solary. Send C.V. and phone number to Fermacom, 57 rue St Anne, Paris 2. DOMESTIC POSITIONS AVAILABLE PIGLISH MOTHER TONIGUE ou point to take care of 2 girls 10 & 13. Weekdays 4:30 - 7:30pm in Paris 15th. Independent ladging + evening meals Independent ladging + evening med + packet money [1] 45 49 33 [3] AUTOMOBILES tOLLS-ROYCE SILVER SHADOW 1978 F3H chestrut on bage 78,00 miles $14,000 can week 01 968 4866. AUTO SHIPPING

AUTOS TAX FREE TRASCO GERMANY. Mercades Benz critical core & stretched lancusines from stock. Saintscann 38, D-2820 Bramon, The 24624 Fee 421630205. Tel: (8) 421 633044.

UCENSE PLATES expired fost solution. Pursbon, PC 247, 6911 Lugano Switzerland, Fox (91) 227247 The 344024. Do you seed or incurrent? Act up. OPPORTUNITIES AWAITS YOU INSIDE TODAY'S PAGE 7

READ OUR

INTERNATIONAL POSITIONS

U.S. DIVORCE IN 21 DAYS, No need to trovel, with or without caused of spouse. Dreimer Legal Associates, p/a 18 Weteringdwarssings 54/54A, N., 1007 TP Amsterdam, Holland, Tel-U 3120-840226 or 823058. For: 822058 18 GIJAM USA DIVORCE Fost. Birth sign to troval. Free Book. Alterney Dain Parkisson, Bax BK Agona, Guess, Ph. (671) 477-563 or (671) 477-594. Diverses quick U.S.A. One signature-O.K., no trovel, low cast. DIVORCE 13861 Beach Blvd. 29, Westminster, CA 72653. Tel; 774 891-5409. DOMENICAN DIVORCES in 24 hours, since 1972. Details: PO Box 11052, Wosfrington, DC, 20008 USA. Restrictions may captly
Tel: (1) 40.13.02.02 & 42.21.46.94
6 me Fierre Lescot, 7500) Parks
Matro - EER Chataire Les Holles
(Rr. 175.11) Lond now
ACCESS IN LONDON
New York HOTELS GREAT BRITAIN

HALF YOUR LONDON HOTEL COSTS.
Rooms in beautiful townflowes from £15 per person per night, bed and breakfast. 01 203 3393. SWITZERLAND ILICENTE, GRAND HOTEL BURDPE THE FRIENDLY PLACE, Free Porting. Tel: (041) 30 11 11. The 865 657 CR.

> Page 17 CLASSIFIEDS

TO OUR READERS IN HOLLAND

Tribune is now on newsstands throughout Holland every morning six days a week Monday-Saturday. If you have problems getting your copy, please contact: Edipress International B.V. Wilhelminastraat 13rd 2011 VH Haarlem P.O. Box 363 2000 AJ Haarlem Tel.: (023) 32 23 41/Tx: 41833

LEGAL SERVICES ACCESS VOYAGES F1000 F1500 F1500 F1895 F1850 F1400 F1200 F1200 F1395 F4500 F1450 F1450 斯 Ossia file die nicht The Second Secon

Kiosk U.S. Attacked On Its UN Debt

INTERVATIONS VOLUMENT General and Section of the U.S. also and the U.S. also and the U.S. also are the U.S TUDOR HOTE. New York 500 nobms. Fastionable East Side of Markatten near United Nations. Reasonable rates. Tel. 212-98-8800 or 803-221-1253. Tile: 422951 Estate State Bac In-21.

≈|_{©03}

FOR MORE

The International Herald

and said Thursday that aller of the Tuty tribe being massacred in Agral News by bile House ordered 1.5 Dog 101 10 Constitute of dis singuling with its :--" Finance a dappliance from with

lam X BURUNDI Page 2. The Dollar Pound 1 6925

FINANCIAL SALES PEOPLE TO MARKET FIXED RATE ESTABLISHED AMERICAN CORPORATE BONDS
Excellent Commission Advance Draw Against Commission Available ndormation about our publications, write: Overseas Employment Services, Dept. HT, P.O.Bax 460, Town of Mount Royal, Quebec, Canada H3P ASSISTANT TO PUBLICATION MODILION COST FLIGHTS ager for prominent newslatter, lancel edge of computer or destage publishing, most speeck English & Germon well, Most resums the Mrs Smyder, PO Box 58, 7500 St Monitz, Switzerland

U.S. CORP. NEEDS Tachrical Soles Person-france, Microbiological exp. Must be fluent Englishmenth, Send C.V. to: Box 20365, Rochester, N.Y. 14602 U.S.A. Ath. C. Soghioddes Div. Intl.

ADVERTISHING REPRESENTATIVE needed for Interview Magazine in Parks, Please drop off resumes to Ms. Powell of the Lenox Hotel August 27th 30th.

COUNCE ON INT'L Educational E. FINANCIAL CORPORATION

EMPLOYMENT

GENERAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

417 Fifth Avenue New York, NY USA Contact: Mr. Mitchell Broter 212-696-0505 PRODUCTION MANAGER

FOR OVERSEAS-HAITI ust know all aspects for utacturing last and waven laps. I. Must know all aspects to manufacturing but and weven tops.

I. 15 years working experience it accords.

I. Mole age 40 and up.

I. Specking French is a plus.

I. Please write or phone:

M.S. MART-NEW YORK

Empre State Building, Suite 1234

350 Fifth Ave, New York, NY 1971

Tel. No. (272) 594-8523

Talex No. 27381 MART UR

Frow, No. (272) 714-9149

Ask for Ms. Linne

TOWERS

PERSONAL ASSISTANT, European/American investment border seeks young lody 25/32 as P.A. to be based in Mante-Carlo with extensive European & rensationist revel. Since the posten class snot/vts frequent paricipation of social functions, attractive appearance & poise will be more important than prevous professional experience. Excellent compensation, inducting professional social letter + recent pholo to Box 0048, IHT 92521
Neutly Cadex, France

SWISS HANDLING OF INTERNATIONAL TRANSACTIONS
The key company for:
Bock to book operations
Trusteeship for commercial and financial operations Assets management
Offshore companies formation, denticidation and advantational relationships contact us to full confidence on the confidence of our discognition.

of our discretion of our discretion de Berig S.A., 13 ave Krieg 1208 Geneva/Switzerland me 022/47 59 80, Fax 46 1 Tales: 421808 DES CH

OFFSHORE COMPANY formation transgement and financial services in Bernydo. T.S.T. Management Limited PO Box HM 225', Hamilton, Bernydo HM 1X. Tel. (807) 275-1569. Telon. 3758 CHAR BA. Fox (807) 272-1373.

Fine Signands in any price range of lowest wholesale prices direct from Antwirp center of the diamond world. Fill guesters of the diamond world. Fill guesters of the diamond world. Fill guesters, Fire List write. JOANAMITCHPORT BYBA Established 1978. Pelisanestrant 62, 6-2016 Antwerp Belgum - Tel. (22-3) 23-60 7. Tax: 71779 pt b. Telefor 32.3/231.38.67 At the Diamond Cub. Heart of Antwerp Diamond inclusity.

The Global Newspaper Falsalani Publisher

in Par-

hilling and the same of the sa

Profession of the State of the

Quarle: To

He's in Cha MEM CROSSING — CONSTRUCTION

for present to the Arms of the Bosh, francisco

material and some new parties and As the contraction of the second MODELLA TALL DE LA COMPANIA low the state of the state of

And the state of t

Many Control The latter of the angle of the Santa Javes Person de Conaparies per on the later.

TOTAL STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE 100